SECOND MONDAY SHOPPING EXPOSITION

Our City Comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Ministerial Association Takes Issue with the Exposition Side Shows

IN another section of today's paper appears an open letter from the president of the Glendale Ministerial Association, addressed to the management of the Glendale Industrial Exposition.

This letter makes the statement that several penal codes of the state of California are being violated through the operation of gaming devices, raffles and lotteries.

* * *

THE letter makes an appeal to the exposition officials to clean up and stay clean!

We understand at the time the exposition was promoted by two of our business men's organizations it was the understanding that it was to be an exhibition given for the purpose of displaying the goods handled by the Glendale stores or wares manufactured by Glendale manufacturers.

* * *

AN exposition such as this would without doubt prove of benefit to our community, but an exposition of side shows and gaming devices can be of little benefit to our merchants and will probably prove to be detrimental to the moral life of our community.

* * *

PEOPLE when they attend industrial expositions are in a different frame of mind than when they attend a carnival and while play is a necessary part of our life it does not mix with business. The old saying, "Work while you work and play while you play," will fit in very well in an industrial exposition, but mistakes are bound to happen in life but we do live to learn.

* * *

AS regards the breaking of laws. If this is being done the authorities should stop it at once. There is no good reason why we should allow strangers to come to our city unless they are willing to be as law-abiding as we expect our own citizens to be.

Ornamental Light Standard Petitions on Glendale Avenue

Petitions asking that ornamental electric lights established on Glendale avenue and East Broadway are now being circulated, and although they have been out but a few hours they have already been numerously signed, it is understood.

These petitions have been prepared by C. F. Stuart, chairman of the lighting committee of the Glendale Advancement Association, and call for a two-light cast iron standard of the lantern type.

WEBB'S NEW DEPARTMENT STORE TO OPEN WITH A BLAZE OF MERCHANDISE

Beauty of Building and Decorations to Be Matched by Display of Goods Brought Together by Experts From Many Fields

PUBLIC RECEPTION ON MONDAY NIGHT

Modern Department Store to Show Forth Lines Complete and Varied in the Departments Headed by Experienced Big Buyers

Standing as a monument to the future of Glendale, and dedicated to the people of Glendale, who have made possible the erection of the great commercial institution, Webb's new department store, at Wilson avenue and Brand boulevard, will be formally opened Monday evening, June 4, at 7 o'clock, when a musical program will be offered and souvenirs given to those visiting the premises of the new store.

The structure is beautifully designed, with a terra cotta front, in Italian Renaissance style, plate glass windows, and offering an interior that is beautifully furnished in southern gum wood. It is the modern department store, that is the fulfillment of a merchant's dream, something to show for the work he has put forth, typifying not only time and money, but the carrying out of treasured ideals expressed in the utmost service to the public.

H. S. WEBB

Head of Glendale's Latest Modern Department Store

The new home of Webb's Department store offers a 50-foot front. It contains two stories and a spacious basement for the showing of merchandise.

For many months this concern has been gathering the merchandise from all markets of the world for this new establishment, and the new store, in its completeness, represents the cooperation of scores of workers, uniting their efforts toward its success, and when the doors are thrown open Saturday night at 6 o'clock, the people will behold a store that has no superior in this vicinity.

Many new departments will be added, which have not been carried in the old establishment. Keeping abreast of the times, in an age of specialization, each department will have a specialist in charge, with many years of experience thrown into the balance for the betterment of this institution. These heads of departments will specialize on the individual wants of customers visiting their departments.

The departments located on the first floor will include silks, woolens, wash goods, domestics, laces, trimmings, ribbon, neckwear, toilet goods, jewelry, leather goods, hosiery, underwear, gloves, notions, umbrellas, draperies, bedding, stationery and women's and children's shoes.

The mezzanine floor will be most attractive. Here is located a most luxurious rest room, large and attractively furnished. The floor is covered with a rich grey carpet. The beauty parlor, which is to be located on this floor also, will offer the most expert attendants. A special feature of the mezzanine floor will be the circulating library, which will offer a wonderful opportunity for those interested in reading. The government postoffice substation, is also to be located here. The mezzanine floor is easily accessible both by stairway and elevator.

On the second floor will be found the ready-to-wear department, including millinery, which will be ideally housed in very beautiful quarters. The fixtures are of the finest African mahogany. Here will be found the double advantage of daylight and complete cleanliness. The light will be furnished by means of numerous skylights. The entire floor will be carpeted in grey. Coats, suits, dresses, blouses, skirts, corsets, silk and muslin underwear, art goods, sweaters, and in fact, all garments for women and children, including a completely equipped infants' department, will be found on this floor.

The basement will house the receiving and shipping departments.

H. S. Webb, sole owner of this institution, came to Glendale six years ago from Chicago, where he formerly operated two large dry goods stores. He has always interested himself, since entering the business field here in the civic affairs of the community and his store has grown with the rapid growth of Glendale. He says that the credit of his success lies largely in the fact that he has surrounded himself at all times with competent and satisfied employes.

"That policy has been rewarded by working out the ideals of commercialism in building a modern store dedicated to the service of the town," said Mr. Webb. Throughout his business career, Mr. Webb

TONE PAGEANT TO BE PRESENTED AT TUESDAY CLUB

Novelty in Music Program Scheduled June 9

Something different in the way of a musical evening will be the "Tone Pageant" to be presented in costume by local artists and also pupils of Mrs. Pearl G. Curran and Miss Hazel Linkogel of 14 East Chestnut street. On account of the number taking part in the program it will be presented at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium at 7:45 o'clock the evening of June 9 and the money will go toward the piano fund of the club. The pageant will portray the history of music, from the early days, through the troubadour period, folk songs, classic and romantic periods up to the modern.

The entire program will be given in costume. There will be Scotch, Russian, French and other countries represented in the folk songs. Mayor Spencer Robinson will present a group of Irish melodies. Mrs. Helen Graham Cole will give several vocal numbers and Miss Hazel Linkogel will give several violin numbers. Miss Linkogel's pupils will appear in the toy sympohny, "The Haydn."

EXPOSITION ARRAIGNED BY PRESIDENT OF THE MINISTERS ASSOCIATION

In Open Letter to Management, Rev. Louis Tinning Withdraws Approval, Declaring It "a Stench to the Nostrils of Every Law-abiding Citizen"

DECLARES GAMBLING DEVICES ALLOWED

"You Have Done and Are Permitting These Things to Be Done in Spite of Protests of Many Citizens As Loyal As Yourself," He Declares

The following communication has been received by the Glendale Daily Press for publication, from Rev. Louis Tinning, president of the Glendale Ministers' association:

Editor
The Glendale Daily Press:

The following is an open letter to the management of the Glendale Industrial Exposition, as a protest against the violations of the law in the exposition. Will you have the kindness to print it in full, as sent you herewith? Believing you will afford the co-operation for which the Glendale Daily Press is noted, I am,

Very truly,
LOUIS TINNING,
President Glendale Ministers' Association.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE MANAGEMENT OF THE GLENDALE INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION:

Gentlemen:

When your exposition was announced we, who are loyal to Glendale, approved. As time passed we learned of some features of which we could not approve. When the exposition opened we were astounded at some of the features which you permitted. The industrial displays and some of the concessions we heartily endorse. May I be permitted to call your attention to some features which have worked irreparable harm to the exposition and also to Glendale.

You entered into a contract which called for the exposition to be open on the Sabbath Day. You permitted a raffle or lottery to be carried on before and during the exposition, using the young people of our high school to dispose of the tickets for the same. You are permitting gaming devices to be used on the exposition grounds. You have done and are permitting these things to be done in spite of the protests of many citizens as good and loyal as yourselves.

Permit me to call your attention to the fact that your raffle or lottery is in violation of the Penal Code of the State of California, Sections 319, 320, 321 and 322. It is also a violation of Ordinance No. 159, Section 1, of the city of Glendale. The gaming devices are in violation of the Penal Code of the State of California, Sections 330, 330a and 337. They are also a violation of Ordinance No. 159, Sections 2 and 3 of the city of Glendale.

As the exposition is carried on it is an affront and an insult to law abiding citizens. It is a disgraceful and unlawful affair and a stench in the nostrils of every moral and law abiding citizen. It is repulsive to our people, and violates the high ideals of the city of Glendale. Our appeal to you is to clean up and stay clean. In so doing you will merit and receive the support and co-operation of the entire community as you are not receiving at the present time.

Yours for a better and cleaner Glendale.

LOUIS TINNING,
President Glendale Ministers' Association.

New Garbage and Rubbish Schedule

The new garbage and rubbish collection schedule cards will go out to the citizens of Glendale about the first of the week. It is understood that these cards are being printed today and will be distributed via the school children.

A more thorough and frequent service along these lines has been arranged for all parts of the city. The plan devised by the civics committee of the chamber of commerce and the Glendale city council is that every day shall be cleanup day and that throughout the entire year the residents of the city do everything they can to keep their places looking well. These schedule cards will be distributed under the direction of George Karr, chairman of the chamber's civics committee.

DOOM OF THE WET CAUSE IS SEALED, SAYS RANDALL

Former Congressman Discusses New York's Action

"Governor Al Smith of New York has sealed the doom of the wet cause by signing the repeal of the state prohibition enforcement act," said former Congressman Charles H. Randall today, only prohibitionist who ever served in congress and joint author of the Eighteenth Amendment. "Those molly coddle politicians who have been flirting with wets and drys alike will now be driven into one camp or the other. No American state can secede from the Union now or in 1924. This will make the republican party bone dry, and the two-thirds rule in the democratic national convention makes a wet nomination of that party utterly impossible; therefore all parties will be dry next year."

More Tickets for Hope Chest Drawing To Be Ready Tonight

So popular is the "Hope Chest" of the Women's auxiliary of the American Legion, that at 9 o'clock Friday night all the tickets in stock had been disposed of and a considerable number of disappointed would-be buyers had to be turned away. More tickets have been secured today and the booth will reopen at 7 p. m. this evening for the sale of tickets until 10 p. m., when the drawing and award of the chest will take place.

The chest will go to the holder of the first ticket drawn regardless of whether that person is present or not, and the winner will be notified if not there to claim it.

GLENDALEN FLIERS MAKE NEW RECORD

C. E. Pyle and E. L. Remlin Reach San Diego in 58 Minutes

ALTITUDE MARK LOST

Average 120 Miles an Hour on Entire Flight Down the Coast

C. E. Pyle of the Glendale branches of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings bank and E. L. Remlin, pilot for L. C. Brand, who attempted a record flight from Glendale to San Diego, covered the distance in 58 minutes at an average speed of over 120 miles an hour.

It was their purpose to also establish an altitude mark, but they were defeated in this on account of heavy clouds encountered at 1400 meters, which they were unable to penetrate.

The army racing homing pigeons which they released failed to return to their home loft at Arcadia and Lieut. Kane, commanding this station, reported that there was an exceedingly high wind at Ross field which reached such velocity that it would have been impossible for the birds to fly against it. The birds have numbered bands of the army on each leg and also carry message tubes.

In a speed trial at North Island the Fokker plane registered a speed of 146 miles an hour.

The return trip from North Island to Glendale was made in an hour and fifteen minutes, the slower time being made on account of heavy adverse winds, which were reported by the navy department at North Island to have reached a velocity of 18 miles per hour.

SWIMMING POOL OPENS

The swimming pool at Patterson Avenue Park was formally opened Friday with an attendance of about sixty, most of them boys in the gymnasium classes of Coaches Butterfield and Wolfe, who accompanied their pupils to the pool. It will be open from this time forward and guards will be on duty at all times to safeguard the swimmers. Mr. Wendt is in charge.

PIONEERS OF MOVEMENT PRESENT OFFERINGS IN SPECIAL SECTION TODAY

Success of the First Event in Merchants' Stores Leads to Many More Joining the Biggest Efficiency Movement in the City

The second Monday shopping day next Monday of the store-to-store, merchants plus Glendale Daily Press trade exposition, will open with even a stronger array of goods, bargains and attractions than the initial event.

The merchants, fully satisfied with the co-operation of last week, have again prepared for a general reception.

The merchants whose advertisements will again be found, with many new associates, in the Glendale Daily Press Shopping Section today, are well pleased with the co-operation, the visiting around of the people of Glendale last week. They feel that while the buying last week may have been light in spots where special goods and prices were not presented strong enough, the people of the city and the surrounding country are uniting with an increasing body in Monday shopping.

From La Crescenta during the week came reports of acceptance of the idea of Monday shopping. Montrose also turned out to see what was to be had in the Glendale stores. Burbank was represented here and all those districts between those points supplied visitors. And their shopping continued all week.

The number of strangers who attended the store-to-store merchants plus Glendale Daily Press exposition was one of the notes of big importance of last week. And they returned during many days.

Monday's shopping shop event will be featured this week by one big occasion in the commercial life of Glendale, which should draw every housewife and her husband as the crowning episode, being the opening of the Webb new store Monday night.

It is possible that some of the merchants, in honor of the opening, will continue business until late Monday night.

The inspection of such a center of merchandising is a duty encumbent upon every resident of Glendale, who should become acquainted with every new business in the city, study its resources and advantages in the scheme of existence in Glendale.

The movement toward closing Saturday afternoons has gained fresh headway during the week, following the success of the big shopping day last Monday.

Whether that movement will grow during the coming weeks, will depend upon the patronage of the stores in the store-to-store plus Glendale Daily Press shopping pages today.

It must be remembered in the shopping next Monday, that the stores that have enlisted in the Shop-on-Monday crusade, are those who advertise in the Shopping Section of the Glendale Daily Press today.

Some of them do not carry large advertisements in this section, but their larger advertisements may be found in other parts of the paper. While these merchants are the pioneers and entitled to first consideration as such, all of the advertisers in the Glendale Daily Press today are in line with the Monday shopping movement started by the Glendale Daily Press. Some businesses do not lend themselves easily to a special bargain or shopping day.

So, in this sense, all of the advertisers today represent the movement toward consolidating shopping on Monday in Glendale, but special attention should be concentrated on the shopping section, where enticing bargains appear. Some of these may even be found outside of the shopping section, because of mechanical difficulties. So to get a complete array the whole of the advertising should be read.

ATHLETIC CLUB AND PASADENA TO CROSS BATS

The baseball team of the Glendale Athletic Club will play the fast Pasadena Reds tomorrow afternoon at the club's new ball grounds, Verdugo Park, formerly owned by the city, on Verdugo road in the woodlands.

Preparations have been made by the club to take care of a large crowd in the opening game.

Both teams have been improved lately by new batteries.

CRIQUI WINS BY K.O. IN 6TH ROUND

Johnny Kilbane World's Champion Featherweight, Loses Title

EUGENE CRIQUI
Won Won Featherweight Championship Today

[By Associated Press]

RINGSIDE, NEW YORK, June 2.—Eugene Criqui of France, hero of Verdun, won the featherweight championship of the world today, knocking out Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, Ohio, in the sixth round of a fifteen round match.

The end came with dramatic suddenness, after Kilbane apparently had the fight well in hand. As he stepped back from a clinch, Criqui shot over a right swing to the jaw and sent the veteran champion backwards to the canvas.

At first it seemed that Kilbane would rise after a short count. He rose to his knees at six but fell over on his back, unable to get to his feet. Criqui, stunned himself, by the quickness of his victory, stood still in the center of the ring for a few seconds. His manager, Robert Eudeline, and his handlers, threw their arms about him as they rushed into the ring.

Kilbane was lifted to his corner and as he was seated on the stool, Criqui rushed over and kissed the fallen titleholder on both cheeks.

Round 1—They met in a clinch from which Criqui broke with a light left to the ribs. Criqui was on the offensive but Kilbane was elu-

NEW POSTOFFICE IS OUTGROWN: ANOTHER PLANT IS SOUGHT

12,000 FEET OF FLOOR SPACE NEEDED NOW

Present Offices Occupied Less Than One Year Found to Be Lacking in Area Because of Unprecedented Development of Business

The postoffice department at Washington has discovered that the fastest growing city in the United States has the fastest growing postoffice in the Union and therefore, although less than a year has elapsed since it established the Glendale postoffice in its present location on West Broadway, it is calling for sealed proposals up to and including July 5, 1923, for furnishing new suitable quarters for postoffice purposes at Glendale at a stated price per annum including water, toilet facilities, safe or vault, and all necessary furnishing and equipment under lease for five or ten years from date of occupancy.

The notice, which is signed by H. B. Hall, postoffice inspector at San Francisco, states that the enlarged quarters which have become necessary by reason of the greatly increased postal business at Glendale, cannot be secured at the present location and a site sufficiently large to permit further expansion, is advisable.

The notice indicates that a frontage of 30 to 50 feet with an "L" in the rear to give the needed floor space, would be considered, and that the necessary furniture and equipment to be provided by the lessor will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000.

A floor space of not less than 12,000 square feet is desired. Good daylight and a reasonable central location are important considerations.

The postoffice department, of course, reserves the right to reject any and all proposals, and details in regard to postoffice requirements, sample form of lease, may be secured from Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson.

The postmaster has had reason to realize as the public could not, the inadequacy of the present quarters to the expanding of his office which promises to register an increase of at least 50 per cent over last year, and has been working on the problem for some time. This response from the department is very pleasing to him.

As stated in a recent issue, postoffice statistics show that at the time Captain Jackson was installed as postmaster, Glendale had a population in the neighborhood of 17,000. Today, office statistics indicate a population of 42,000, conservatively estimated.

During the year it has been necessary to add to the force nine auxiliary carriers on full time and six auxiliary clerks. This is not enough to take care of the work and Postmaster Jackson has made requisitions for additional regular carriers and clerks sufficient to bring the service up to the highest efficiency, to become effective July 1. These regular carriers and clerks will probably be drawn from the present auxiliary employes, and an additional auxiliary corps will be employed as necessity demands.

It should not be forgotten that the Glendale postoffice, although smaller, is now in the same class with Los Angeles and the other large cities of California.

Two civil service examinations for carriers and clerks have been held in Glendale during the year and the office has quite a list of qualified applicants.

As to the possible location of a postoffice. Postmaster Jackson is dumb. The competition to secure Uncle Sam as a tenant is open to the owners of all public buildings and he is playing no favorites, though he, of course, hopes a reasonably central as well as an adequate location can be had.

GLENDALE HIGH LOSES TO SOUTH PASADENA

Makes Creditable Representation With Pan-Americanism

Fred Peck, the representative of Glendale high in the contest to determine the debating champion of the Southern California league at South Pasadena Friday night, made a very creditable presentation of his theme, "Pan-Americanism," but was not placed, the cup going to Miss Euphrates Pashgian of Pasadena, on an oration entitled "Marking Time." The second award was captured by a Hollywood girl, Miss Gwendolen Walters, whose theme was "Lincoln, the American."

Students of Los Angeles high and Santa Ana also competed with Pasadena, Glendale and Hollywood.

The judges were Dr. M. Knight of Pasadena university, Mrs. E. C. Miller of Franklin high, Miss H. Knudson of Inglewood high.

James McCormick, president of the league, presided over the debate.

The present members of the board will serve actively until the night of the annual banquet on June 29, when the new officers will be installed. The campaign work will begin on Monday. Each member of the group is to report to the chairman of that group, who in turn will report each Monday to Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the club. A silver trophy will be awarded to the member securing the largest number of new members, over five, by the time of the annual banquet. Members of the executive board will not be eligible to enter this contest for the trophy. Any member of the club, whether serving on any of the above mentioned groups or not may compete for the prize.

CHILDREN TO BE ENTERTAINED DURING JUNE

The Children Activities Department of the Southwest Museum will continue its programs during the month of June and for Saturday morning, June 2, at 1:30 o'clock, the stories of the morning will be told by Miss Eureka Barnum, of the University of California, Southern Branch, and Miss Cartney Carawford, of the Los Angeles Public Library. Both of these young ladies are exceptionally good story tellers and will present a group of interesting stories.

An educational film laid in Northern New Mexico depicting the life and custom of a vanishing race and entitled "Red Trails End," will conclude the program.

A trip to the tower led by Dr. Comstock, director of the Museum, will furnish the usual excitement.

All children are cordially invited.

Bennett Mills Allen, Ph. D., Associate Professor of Biology, University of California, Southern Branch, will speak at the Southwest Museum, Los Angeles, next Sunday afternoon, June 3 at 3:15 o'clock, Dr. Allen has chosen the subject of "Eugenics—Race Betterment."

Preceding the lecture by Dr. Allen, Catalina Maria Ortiz, a full blood Navajo Indian girl, will present a charming musical program, including "Waltz in E," by Moskowski; and a "Reverie," by Scutt.

The public is cordially invited to enjoy an unusually good lecture and musical program and likewise enjoy the Junior Art Exhibit.

CANADIAN CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The Glendale Canadian club recently organized, held a meeting last evening for the election of officers.

The officers for the ensuing year are Mr. Geo. P. Porter, president; Mrs. Wm. J. Farbar, vice-president, and Mrs. M. E. Brode, secretary and treasurer. Meetings will be held first and third Fridays of each month at 406 S. Brand Blvd., until permanent quarters can be obtained.

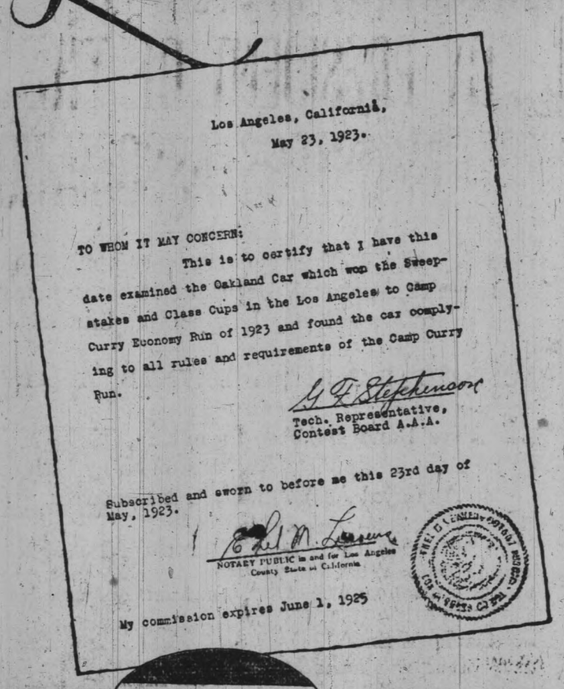
3 Successive Clean Sweep Victories for Oakland

World's Most Economical Stock Car



Los Angeles, California,
May 23, 1923.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This is to certify that I have this date examined the Oakland Car which won the Sweepstakes and Class Cups in the Los Angeles to Camp Curry Economy Run of 1923 and found the car complying to all rules and requirements of the Camp Curry Run.

Emil M. Lamm
NOTARY PUBLIC in and for Los Angeles County, State of California

My commission expires June 1, 1925

The real winner in an Economy Run is the SWEEPSTAKES WINNER. In three successive events the Oakland Six has captured the SWEEPSTAKES CUPS as well as taking first in its class. It is the ECONOMY CHAMPION.

Not one, but three different Oaklands won these laurels. It was not a freak "super" car. It was identical, part for part, with the thousands of Oaklands now in daily use. What these three did every other Oakland can duplicate. That is genuine consistency. And in all the hundreds of miles traveled in these strenuous events, not one mechanical adjustment has ever been made on an Oakland entry. That's reliability.

Combine this performance with the fact that only $8.60 is the national average annual repair costs on each Oakland and you have conclusive proof of the sturdiness of construction of the Oakland and its freedom from mechanical repairs. Little wonder that Oakland owners are satisfied users.

The sultans in Straits Settlements and the Federated Malay states are among the recent purchasers of American passenger automobiles. The buyers were the Sultan of Jahore, the Sultan of Kelantan and the Sultan of Trengganu.

WORN BEARINGS

When bearings begin to wear they are soon knocked lopsided, depending upon the thrust of the engaging member. Even the slightest amount of wear will develop a knock which greatly hastens the end of the bearing.

Webb's New Department Store to Open With a Blaze of Merchandise

has sought to follow the axiom, "Service above self."

Harry Kent, office manager, who is in charge of the credit department has had years of experience in such a capacity. D. L. Ludwig, who heads the advertising and display departments, has had 15 years of experience in this work, and holds faith with the public in conducting his advertising with this slogan, "Truthful advertising which is absolutely backed up by Mr. Webb in every particular."

Fred Gilleland, who has catered to the wants of the people of Glendale for two years as buyer of the dress goods, silks, ginghams and damask, needs no introduction, as he has developed these departments to larger volumes each year, and endeavors at all times to keep the leading style creations.

Mrs. Baxter, whom everyone knows as she has been associated with Mr. Webb's business since he first started, here. She has been buyer and supervisor of many departments, and has a host of friends who will welcome the opportunity to call on her in the new store where she will merchandise and manage many departments.

Charles Hatz, manager of the ready-to-wear department, will have one of the finest departments, as the Webb store has a New York office and expects to receive many express shipments from New York almost daily. Mr. Hatz has built a reputation for himself, as one who is ever ready to serve and please the store's patrons.

Mr. Pitcher, manager of the millinery department, was formerly buyers for Marshall Field of Chicago, and Hamburger's, Los Angeles. His experience speaks for itself, and the line of goods found in his department will always include the latest modes.

Mr. Holland, formerly buyer of leather goods and jewelry at the Broadway Department store, Los Angeles, for years, will have one of the most complete leather goods and jewelry departments in Southern California.

Mr. Brotherton, manager of the shoe department, has had wide experience in this line and comes highly recommended from Los Angeles and Hollywood positions. He will in every way endeavor to please and states that the wonderful showing of footwear for women and children will be at very reasonable prices.

Miss Cherry, who heads the infants' department, for 12 years with Meyer and Frank of Portland, the largest department store on the coast, is an absolute authority on infants' wear, having studied this department completely. This being her life work, Miss Cherry will assure the customers of the proper advice in the department.

Miss Florence L. Irish, with 17 manager of J. W. Robinson & company, of Los Angeles, considered one of the highest class establishments on the coast, will take up the work of teaching needlework, crocheting, knitting, lampshade making and embroidering.

Mrs. A. B. Hoffstadt, who comes to Weeb's from Culbertson, Grove, Rankin Co., of Spokane, Washington, one of the leading stores on the coast, possesses a thorough knowledge of ribbons and laces. Mrs. Stewart, who heads the notions department has a complete knowledge along this line, and will endeavor to look after the various demands to be made upon her department. Mrs. Valerious, in charge of the hosiery department, has been associated with the Webb department store for over two years, and needs no introduction to Glendale shoppers.

Mrs. Williams taking charge of the neckwear and handkerchief departments, is a very able and competent manager, and has been associated with the firm for some time. Miss Bennett, head of the underwear department, has built this department up to one of the largest in the south for a place the size of Glendale. Miss Buffkin, head of the corset department, has also built this department up to a very large volume and has been with the firm a number of years.

Mr. Hutchinson, manager of the drapery department, has 11 years of experience back of him, as buyer in the Broadway Department store of Los Angeles. Mr. Hutchinson knows this business as few people do and can take care of any amount of orders of any description.

Julius Peterson, who will be floor manager of the first floor, has been with Webb's store for four years, and his winning personality has become known to multitudes of shoppers. Mr. Fiske, manager of the toilet goods and kodak department, has had wide experience in this line, and is in a position to plan the finest perfumes and articles of Milady's toilet.

A lavish and artistic display of goods from several of the above named departments, now showing in the windows, gives the shopper an idea of the lines to be offered within. The show windows themselves are of the latest design, with a beautiful background, which is something extraordinary and new in this section of the country. The decorative motif is a grey and blue frieze on a block sandstone, with light grey carpeting in the windows.

Many are the congratulations which Mr. Webb and the management of the store have received upon the completion of the new store building. E. U. Emery and H. S. Webb are the owners of the building. Many building firms have their services represented in the structure, and much interest has been manifested in the opening of the store, which is considered a triumph in department store management.

PRIZES TO BE DRAWN TONIGHT AT EXPOSITION

Dixon Sash and Door Co. Good Housekeeping and Hope Chest Awards

The drawing for the mirror door to be given by the Dixon Sash and Door company at their booth at the Exposition will be held at 8:30 tonight.

In appreciation of the interest taken in the exhibit a special prize will be drawn for.

You must be there when the number is drawn to participate in the special prize drawing.

A beautiful hand engraved silver cup and ten blue ribbons are to be awarded the exhibitors who merited the highest popular approval at the Glendale Merchants' Exposition, the decision to be rendered tonight by the three judges who were appointed by the exposition management.

D. Ripley Jackson, heading the judges' committee, will present the cup, which is being donated by the Standard Oil Company. The cup is to be engraved with the name of the firm receiving the highest approval. The 10 blue ribbons have been provided by H. L. Leavit, director general of the exposition.

Mrs. Fred Deal, head of the arts and crafts section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, and Charles Lyons, interior decorator, compose the other two members of the committee.

Betwen 8 and 9 o'clock the number will be drawn entitling the holder to the gas range, which is to be given away by the Good Housekeeping Shop, at the firm's booth at the exposition. Many hundreds of numbers have been drawn, and the choosing of the lucky number is looked upon with much interest. The owner of the Maxwell, upon which chances have been sold throughout the exposition, will be announced tonight.

At 10 o'clock the three numbers entitling the holders to the hope chest, with its dainty contents of hand embroidered linens, and two dainty linen sets as the second and third awards, made by members of the American Legion Auxiliary, will be drawn. Although the Auxiliary sold all of the tickets in its possession last night an additional supply has been secured and offered for sale tonight, prior to the drawing.

PEANUTS, FIVE A BAG, MAY RESULT FROM HUGE CROP

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, June 2.—The bleacherite and circus fan will get a bigger bag of peanuts for his money when this year's record crop is harvested, Guy H. Hall, director of the National Institute of Progressive Farming, said in a statement in which he predicted also a return to the five-cent bag in a short time.

"The old familiar call of 'Hot peanuts, five a bag,' will return within a short time," he said.

More than 986,000 acres were planted in peanuts last year, according to the department of agriculture figures, while this year's acreage is forecast by the Institute's survey to exceed the million mark. The total yield last year was 623,507,000 pounds, valued at about $29,222,000.

W. C. T. U. HEARS OF CONVENTION

Members of the Glendale W. C. T. U. met yesterday at the home of Mrs. S. A. Davis on North Louise street, at which time reports were given on the recent W. C. T. U. convention held at Ventura. After the usual routine of business Mrs. Sipple, chairman of the committee on memorial day, reported that the W. C. T. U. had five automobiles filled in the parade. Mrs. Marie Yeoman and Mrs. Richardson rendered a beautiful vocal solo, "He Lifted Me."

Mrs. Marie Yeoman of Glendale, delegate at large, told of some of the interesting features of the convention of the Southern California district, held at Ventura and attended by 237 voting delegates, at which all of the officers were re-elected. Mrs. Yeoman was appointed organizer and lecturer for the district, which is composed of eleven counties and with the 4,000 new members added makes up a membership of approximately 10,000. Other delegates from Glendale who also told of the convention were Mesdames Thomas Richardson, Sipple, Palmer and Ruby J. Smart, local president.

There were a number of distinguished speakers from all of the women's clubs of Ventura city and county. The Hon. Mr. Hobson gave a very enlightening address on the "Dope Evil." Congressman Randall spoke on "Shooting Holes in the 18th Amendment." Miss Allena Miller, assemblywoman from Pasadena, was a speaker at the convention and told of the women's work and its need in the legislature. The convention reports showed that there had been a great advance in the work during the past year. The next Southern California district convention will be held at Pasadena.

The next regular meeting of the Glendale W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Lemon on Belmont street.

YOUNG FOLKS MEET AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

About seventy-five young people from Burbank, Eagle Rock, Sunland, Tujunga and Glendale met last night in the Glendale Presbyterian Church for a district Christian Endeavor social. The rooms were beautifully decorated in purple and gold by Emmalaura Cooper, chairman of the Intermediate decoration committee. Tujunga carried away the honors, having the largest number of her actual membership present.

Among those present were: Harold Cross, County Intermediate Superintendent; Elizabeth Smith, District Intermediate Superintendent; and Mary Day of Long Beach, who had charge of the games and entertainment of the evening. Several others were present from Long Beach to tell of the coming state Christian Endeavor convention to be held there this month. During the evening refreshments of punch and cake were served by the senior society.

R. T. W. CLASS HAS CHURCH BANQUET

Husbands and escorts of members of the R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church were guests at a most enjoyable banquet given at the church last night. The dinner was served in the banquet room, covers being laid for seventy. The rooms and tables were all artistically decorated in the class colors of yellow and white. The evening was spent in music and games.

The main feature of entertainment was the contest between six teams selected to represent six colleges, with Park Arnold, Roy Kent, George Bentley, A. J. Maxwell, Rene Olin and J. L. Gray as captains. Much amusement was created by the various events in the contest. The team of which Park Arnold was captain was victorious, having scored the highest number of points, and was presented with a loving cup.

Those in charge of the affair were Mrs. J. Roger Bentley, Mrs. George Bentley, Mrs. Roy Kent, Mrs. Fred Abbey, Mrs. E. O. Ostrander, Mrs. Park Arnold, Mrs. Robert Ford and Mrs. H. W. Carver. Special guests were Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Ford, Mrs. Jennie B. Doxsee, teacher of the class, and Miss Beatrice Doxsee. Plans were made for an entertainment to be given June 15 at the church by the Sunshine Trio of Long Beach.

CHAPTER B. A. IS DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED

Chapter B. A. of the P. E. O. was delightfully entertained Friday at the home of Mrs. Nellie Case, who was assisted by Mrs. Bess Jones and Mrs. Elizabeth Brown.

A business session in the forenoon was followed by a luncheon and in the afternoon an excellent program was given to which Mrs. Ella Cleveland of Los Angeles contributed a fine talk on Japan, giving her personal experiences as the wife of a missionary.

Miss Joy Kingan of Hollywood, a pupil of John Smallman, sang very beautifully a group of songs.

The next and last meeting of the chapter for the season will be a garden party at the home of Mrs. Edith Arnold, 215 East Lomita, which will be entirely social.

HIGH GIRLS TO FINISH GAMES

During the next two weeks the girls of Glendale High will endeavor to finish their inter-class baseball games of which only three out of the schedule of six have been played.

Next week Tuesday the school team of girls will play Hollywood's team at Hollywood.

Venice girls have asked for a game next Thursday to be played on Moyse field.

MRS. MELZER MARKS BIRTHDAY OF DAUGHTER

Mrs. Stephen Melzer of 209 East Maple was hostess Friday at a pretty children's party to celebrate the sixth birthday of her little daughter, Winifred. A red and white color scheme was carried out in the floral decoration of the table and in favors—red baskets filled with bon bons, also in the refreshment menu which included strawberry ice cream and cake frosted in scarlet, the birthday cake proper having a white frosting and carrying six red candles.

The hostess was assisted by Mesdames George Howard, George H. King, William Masak, George Pierce, and the list of small guests included: June Roberts, Gloria Curren, Aileen Linkogel, George Howard, Eleanor Kimball, Audrey, James and Mabel King, Dorothy, Edward Jr., and Winifred Melzer.

The children had a happy afternoon of games and the little honoree was the recipient of many pretty gifts.

CRIQUI WINS BY KNOCKOUT IN THE SIXTH ROUND

sive. Kilbane pecked Criqui's nose with straight lefts. Criqui fought coolly and worked for an opening in the champion's defense. Kilbane hooked a light left to the jaw.

Round 2—Criqui was cautioned against hitting low. Criqui sent a straight left to ribs and hooked lightly to jaw. Criqui worked hard but had trouble getting inside Kilbane's defense. They exchanged light lefts to the jaw at the bell.

Round 3—They started swinging heavily and each landed a right to jaw. Kilbane smilingly held off the Frenchman and countered his swings with light left taps. Kilbane was fighting a purely defensive battle. Criqui swung heavy rights and lefts to head.

Round 4—Criqui forced the fighting and they engaged in a lively exchange to the heda. Kilbane sent a straight left to the chin and Criqui returned with a right to head. They traded swinging rights to the jaw. They sparred for a bit. Kilbane was defending himself with open gloves.

Round 5—Criqui crossed a right to the chin as they fell into a clinch. Criqui hooked right and left to body. Kilbane stopped smiling after straight lefts to stomach and left hook to jaw. Criqui was boring through the champion's defense. Criqui's blows snapped like a flash and Kilbane, aware of the danger, grew serious in his fighting. Kilbane spat blood.

Round 6—Criqui dashed from his seat and shot a straight left to the ribs. They sparred for a minute and the Frenchman's reconstructed jaw set determinedly as he stood flatfooted and swung both right and left to the head. Kilbane's eyes began to blink but the old champion fought back and attempted to get away. As he swung his body to the left to escape a left hook Criqui's right snapped against his jaw. Kilbane fell over the ropes. He shook his head and managed to get to his knees at the count of six. Then he sank back clutching the ropes and heard the count of ten. One minute and 54 seconds of the round had been passed when the Poelu was proclaimed champion of the world.

'THE LAST MOMENT' OPENS SUNDAY AT THE GLENDALE

The stars of three Broadway successes appear for the first time in one motion picture in "The Last Moment," a J. Parker Read, Jr., production, to be presented by Goldwyn at the Glendale Theatre on Sunday Monday and Tuesday.

Doris Kenyon, leading woman in "Up the Ladder," by Owen Davis, and who has appeared in "The Lady in the Limousine," "The White Villa" and other plays, as well as a number of photoplays, is the leading woman.

Louis Wolheim, that primitive looking gentleman who made "The Hairy Ape," Eugene O'Neill's drama, such a pronounced hit on Broadway, and who since has appeared in several pictures, including Goldwyn's "Sherlock Holmes," with John Barrymore, is to be seen as the brutal sea captain.

Henry Hull, the handsome young leading man of "The Cat and the Canary," is the hero.

"The Last Moment" is declared in advance notices to be one of the most thrilling pictures ever screened. Certainly, there is plenty of genuine thrill in the theme—that of the cultured and wealthy youth who suddenly is snatched from his surroundings and wakes up to find himself at sea on a schooner with a murderous captain.

Besides "The Finn," as portrayed by Wolheim the young hero and heroine have an even more formidable foe. It is best to describe him as "The Thing," and he certainly is enough to inspire terror in the stoutest heart. "The Last Moment," according to press reports, is a thriller with an excellent cast.

PLUMBING SUPPLY SHOP LOCATES HERE

Hecht and Schwartz to Give Wholesale and Retail Service to Builders

Forming the only wholesale plumbing establishment in Glendale, the California Plumbing Supply has located at 714 South Brand Boulevard, and is carrying on a brisk business in plumbing supplies.

Maurice Hecht, ex-plumbing inspector of Los Angeles, has charge of the general work of the business, having become thoroughly acquainted with the proper methods of plumbing. John N. Schwartz is the general business manager.

"We located in Glendale because we believed that the need for a wholesale and retail plumbing supply quarters has been felt by the many builders," said Mr. Schwartz. "Our belief has been rewarded through the hearty response accorded us."

NOTICE TO GENERAL, ELECTRIC FIXTURES, ELECTRIC WIRING, HEATING, PLUMBING AND PAINTING CONTRACTORS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Education of the Glendale City School District of the County of Los Angeles, California, will receive sealed bids on or before Tuesday, June 12th, 1923, 7:30 P. M., at Board of Education Rooms, 107½ South Brand Boulevard, Glendale, California, at which time and place said bids will be opened and read in public; for furnishing all required labor and material for the construction, erection and completion of a one-story school building at the Central Avenue School, located at 1016 North Central Avenue, Glendale, California. In accordance with plans and specifications prepared therefor by George M. Lindsey, Architect. Bids will be received separately for each kind of work as follows:

1. General.
2. Plumbing.
3. Painting.
4. Electric Wiring.
5. Heating.
6. Electric Fixtures.

Cashier's or certified check, or bidder's bond issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education, for an amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the amount of bid, shall accompany each proposal, drawn payable to the order of Board of Education of the Glendale City School District, as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested so to do by the Board of Education.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish two bonds of a surety company satisfactory to said Board of Education covering an amount equal to 75% of the contract price.

All bids must be made out on forms furnished by said Architect.

Plans and specifications for all the above work may be seen at the office of the Architect, 231 Homer Laughlin Building, Los Angeles, California, and the office of the Board of Education, 107½ South Brand Boulevard, Glendale, California.

A deposit of $10.00 will be required from all contractors receiving plans and specifications, said deposit to be refunded to bidders when plans and specifications are returned in good condition.

Said Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all said bids and to waive any informality on any bid received.

The successful contractor shall be required to file with the Secretary of the Board of Education a letter from a general agent of some approved insurance company stating that he had obtained unlimited compensation insurance to fully cover all men under his employ during the erection of this building.

The order of the Board of Education of the Glendale City School District.

D. T. HIBBEN,
President of said Board.
NETTIE C. BROWN,
Secretary of said Board.

The Once Over

BY H. I. PHILLIPS

DUMM DECIDES TO BECOME A FIGHTER

Thinks Jess Willard's Success Points Way for Aged Citizens to Carry Out Financial Career—Is Anxious to Get His Grandfather in a Star Bout, Too—Issues Challenge to Everybody But Luis Firpo

Dear Dummer:

I have decided to enter the most profitable business in the United States. I have just bought a pair of six-ounce gloves, a pair of silk trunks, and some soft shoes, which I figure is all a man needs in America today to launch himself on a financial career. I am now mailing letters to the papers challenging Jess Willard, Luis Firpo, Jack McAuliffe, Dempsey, and other business men.

* * *

Up to a few days ago I thought I was too old for this kind of a financial career, but I saw the venerable Jess Willard get $25,000 easy money last week, after which he was promptly signed up to get $100,000 or so for a fight with Senor Louis Firpo, and I have decided not only to go into the fight game myself, but to take my grandfather with me. He is seventy-two, and has been out of work for some time.

* * *

You may argue that neither my grandfather nor I can fight. I admit it. You don't have to fight in these modern bouts; in fact, it is the last consideration. The main thing is that you have a good business head, the right kind of publicity, and a paid-up membership in the G. A. R.

* * *

Willard knocked out a young person called Floyd Johnson, it is true, but it proved nothing to me except that a ton of coal will hurt any 190-pound man it falls on. Willard is said to be forty-three years old, and this is the first time on record that any man was ever paid $25,000 for proving himself old to everybody's satisfaction. He stood on both feet, breathing through his mouth in such a manner I was tempted to call the fight the Battle of the Adenoids, and now and then stuck his club-like arms into the face of this Johnson party, who delivered punches like an old lady shaking nutmeg onto a custard pie. Johnson couldn't knock the snow off a derby hat, but he showed rare skill rushing in and pinning his chin against Willard's mitts. Naturally, Willard won by a knockout.

* * *

Now, I see, he is to fight Senor Firpo, who on the same card defeated Jack McAuliffe. A million-dollar gate is expected. About the same time Messrs. Dempsey and Gibbons will battle in Shelby for a purse aggregating between $300,000 and $400,000, so you can get an idea what line of business is paying best these days. What I am anxious to do is to get a bout the same week. I would like to fight somebody like Chauncey Depew, or Admiral Sims, or William Jennings Bryan, as the fight fans will no longer stand for any young men on a card.

* * *

I would be willing to fight most anybody, though, except this Firpo person, the Bull of the Pampas. Beside him the other fighters on the Milk Fund programme were contented cows. Firpo used to be a soda clerk, but he got cured of it early in life and is now in business for himself as a wholesale dealer in galloping aphasia.

* * *

The experts say Firpo is a throw-back. I have seen a lot of fighters who were throw-backs, and I have seen most of them thrown back early and often, but I don't think Firpo is that kind. My dope is that within a very few minutes after Willard has entered the ring with Senor Luis he will be carried out on a board under the impression he is in the Bird House at the Zoo.

However, look around and see if you can get any bouts for men ing a punch called the Sandy Hook. And, as the saying goes, a man is as old as he hooks.

Love and all.

O. HOWE DUMM.

Rev. Edmonds to Begin New Series of Sunday Sermons

FROCKS AND FRILLS IN 'ROSE O' THE SEA' AT T. D. L.

All the fashionable frocks and frills of a stately house party in New York's wealthy and aristocratic clique are embodied in "Rose o' the Sea," the current First National attraction starring Anita Stewart, which will be the feature at the T., D. & L. Theatre for Sunday and Monday.

The estate belongs to Peter Schuyler, the oldest living descendant of an austere Dutch family that had its New World beginnings with the Knickerbockers and Astors. Adulated by the incroppings of twentieth century, the house party guests include debonnair men of affairs, a chance adventurer and spoiled offsprings of too much wealth. Among the feminine members is Rose Eton, a poor girl of unknown parents. Rescued in a sea disaster she has had to fight her own way in life and has attracted the attention of Peter Schuyler by her charm and naiveness.

Anita Stewart in "Rose O the Sea"

The simple settings of the house party come to an abrupt termination with a threatened suicide after the discovery of a forged check bearing Peter Schuyler's signature. Rose tries to conceal the forgery by placing herself in a position of questionable propriety; and the elder man, his faith in the girl shaken, concedes to her request that she be allowed to leave by an early train.

SEES AMERICA AS WINNER OF 1924 PARIS OLYMPIAD

[By Associated Press]

ROME, June 2.—With an army of 300,000 athletes from which to choose the 1924 American Olympic team, the United States is in the most formidable position of all the competing countries and looks like the sure winner of the Paris Olympiad next year, according to General Sherrill, the old Yale star and originator of the "crouch start," who is spending a few days in Rome after the meeting of the International Olympic Committee.

"We hate to boost," said General Sherrill, "but we seem to have the best collection of athletes in the whole world, and there is no reason why we should not walk away with the honors. Just taking the colleges and universities alone, they present a formidable array of athletic possibilities.

About Retailers---

The Growing Mass and the Dwindling Class

—Goods which are well advertised nationally by the manufacturer are largely sold to the public before they ever reach the retailer.

—Goods which are not advertised by the producer must be sold by the retailer.

—In the one case, the manufacturer has done a great part of the job; in the other he has left it all for the dealer to do.

—For many articles, national advertising creates an actual demand, so that all the dealer need do is to say, "You can buy it here." In other lines, the advertising identifies the product in the possible buyer's mind, arouses his interest in it and establishes his confidence in the maker, upon which the dealer can cash in by his own selling efforts.

—But with the unadvertised goods, the retailer must start from scratch.

—Retailers who favor nationally advertised lines believe in selling what the public wants. They are a growing mass.

—Retailers who favor unadvertised lines believe in selling what they want the public to buy. They are a dwindling class.

—The ranks of these latter retailers are rapidly growing smaller because most of them are learning that public confidence is the basis of successful selling; that quick turnover is a shorter and surer road to profit than long discounts on slow-moving, dust-gathering goods—that even those customers who appear to swallow their selling talk on unadvertised merchandise have a discouraging way of not coming back for more.

—Just the other day a paint and varnish dealer in California wrote to a manufacturer in the Middle West whose name is known through national advertising wherever varnish is used, "We are discontinuing our other lines and hereafter will center our efforts upon (mentioning the name of the maker's product) because the demand is for it."

—About the same time a printer in a northern Ohio city was telling his paper jobber that thereafter he intended to standardize on a certain nationally advertised make of bond paper because "everybody knows it, and it is so easy to sell."

—And a druggist who carries packaged chocolates stated that he stocked only the nationally known makes, with the exception of one make well known locally, because all he had to do was hand out what the customer asked for and take the money.

—Ten years ago—yes, even five—the manufacturer's salesman who went around to the trade and talked about his firm's national advertising was likely to be met with the statement that it would be a lot better if his concern took the money it was putting into advertising and used it to enlarge discounts to the trade.

—Today, the fact that he is a real national advertiser is a tremendous asset with the trade to any manufacturer, and his salesman's portfolio of advertising is as important as—very frequently more important than—his sample case.

FLYING BY NIGHT MAY SOON BECOME GENERAL

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, June 2.—Night flying by aviators has been brought squarely before the public by the great non-stop flight across the continent by Lieutenants MacReady and Kelley and, through this demonstration of its feasibility, general night flying and the delivery of mail during the night may become an accomplished fact before the end of the summer, according to I. J. O'Malley, of Chicago, in a recent address before the Chicago Aviation club.

MANY LONDON SWINDLERS THRIVE ON TIMID VICTIMS

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, June 2.—Swindling has taken the place of violence as the most prevalent type of crime, says Sir Leonard Dunning, Inspector of Constabulary for England.

"Crimes of violence have steadily decreased for years," says Sir Leonard in a report. "Modern crime is civilized and educated because the criminal of today knows that it is far safer and more profitable to swindle hundreds than to rob one by knocking him in the head."

More men are willing to lend an ear than a hand.

ROADS TO SUMMER RESORTS ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

Generally speaking the roads to the summer resorts of Southern California are good. There are a few mountain roads which were washed out during the winter rains that are still a little rough and hard to negotiate, but they will be found to be far apart. Careful driving, however, will take the motorist to practically any resort in Southern California.

Following is the latest road report issued by the touring department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. The information contained therein may be relied upon absolutely.

San Gabriel Canyon

Berry Flat's Camp Grounds; 32 miles; located at end of auto road seven miles from Azusa. This is a favorite week-end camping place for trout fishermen. Many walk up the stream from here to the east and west forks of the San Gabriel. This camp ground is under the supervision of the Forest Service. Tables, benches, wood, water and conveniences are furnished free of charge.

Follow's Camp; 39 miles; located on east fork of the San Gabriel, reached by stage from Berry Flats. Furnished tents and hotel accommodations may be had. Trout fishing and saddle horses available.

Camp Bonita; 4 miles; located on east fork of the San Gabriel; reached by stage from Berry Flats. Cottages, furnished tents, meals, saddle horses, store and trout fishing.

Camp Rincon; 37 miles; on west fork of the San Gabriel. Accommodations about the same as Camp Bonita Fishing.

Glenn Ranch; 65 miles; located on Lytle Creek. Camping, cotttages and store; no meals served; swimming and some trout fishing.

Lake Arrowhead; 84 miles from Los Angeles in the San Bernardino mountains. Hotel, cottages, camp grounds, store, amusements, fishing and boating. Camp grounds, $1 per day.

San Jacinto Mountains

Idyllwild; 112 miles; located 20 miles from Hemet. Offers good camp grounds; store, hotel, cottages, saddle horses and trout fishing, also deer hunting.

Pine Flats Camp Grounds; 118 miles; located 6.1 miles northwest of Idyllwild. Elevation 5,800 feet; maintained by U. S. Forest Service. Pine trees, tables, benches, wood, water, conveniences and trout fishing in nearby streams. Nearest supplies, Idyllwild, 6.1 miles.

Fuller Mill Creek! 117.4 miles; located 5.4 miles from Idyllwild. Excellent water and fine timber, conveniences. Nearest supplies, Idyllwild.

Ventura River

Foster Park; 78 miles; located 7 miles up the Ventura River at junction Coyote Creek; camp grounds; store, conveniences, trout fishing.

Camp Comfort; 81 miles; located on San Antonio Creek, a branch of the Ventura River; beautiful oak trees, some trout fishing, nearest supplies, Nordhoff, 3 miles.

Matilija; 91 miles; located four miles northwest of Ojai on Matilija Creek; camp grounds; hotel, cottages, furnished tents, trout fishing, plunge, store and saddle horses.

Lyons Springs; 93.5 miles; located 2½ miles above Matilija. Camp grounds; wood, water, shade, trout fishing and rooms; nearest supplies, Matilija.

Wheeler's Hot Springs; 95 miles; located 4 miles of Matilija; hotel, cottages, camp grounds, store, trout fishing, horses and amusements.

Sulphur Mountain Springs; 72 miles; located 7 miles up the Santa Paula Creek from Santa Paula at the junction of the Sesar and Santa Paula Creeks; hotels, restaurant, cottages, fishing, saddle horses, amusements and store.

Lower Sespe

Henely's Camp; 63 miles; located 5 miles up Sespe River from highway; camp grounds, trout fishing. Nearest store, Fillmore.

Big Rock Creek; 83.5 miles; located 12 miles east of Palmdale; camp grounds and trout fishing; nearest supplies, Little Rock.

Deep Creek; 104 miles; best reached by new Arrowhead Toll Road out of Hesperia to West Fork bridge. Good fishing up Deer Creek to West Fork; nearest supplies, Hesperia.

Rainbow Angling Club; 73.5 miles; located seven miles out of Redlands on Mill Creek road. Fine fishing; fine picnic grounds; members only. Membership, $10 year.

Big Bear Lake; 105 miles; hotel, cottages, camp grounds, fishing, hunting, boating, horses and amusements.

Bouquet Canyon Camp Grounds; 39 miles. Forest Service camp grounds; wood, water and conveniences.

Camp Baldy; 51 miles up Mountain Avenue and San Antonio Canyon, out of Claremont; hotel, cottages, store, camping and horses.

EVIDENCES OF BRITISH DEMOCRACY

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, June 2.—Two members of Britain's royal family already have appeared in the movies, the Prince of Wales and Viscount Lascelles; Princess Alice, aunt of King George, recently used radio to broadcast an address to British women on the adoption of babies and even the King and Queen are not immune to the modern trend, for they will soon make patriotic speeches into a phonograph and the records in large numbers will be distributed to the children of the country.

King George has a radio receiving set in his private apartments, and some enthusiasts predict it will not be long before he establishes a royal sending station to gain intimate and cordial contact with his people.

CENTRAL AVENUE
The Future Shopping District of Glendale

Shopping centers of cities in the near future will be on wide, well-lighted and paved thoroughfares that are not obstructed with obsolete street car tracks.

Central Avenue is to be such a thoroughfare.

We have some exceptional buys on this street that will yield you a handsome profit on your investment.

Just a Little Inside Information

We sold the corner Harvard and Central; also lot on Central, facing Broadway, and one between Broadway and Wilson, this last week.

Also one more reminder—Folks owning Central frontage south of Broadway, be sure to be at Magnolia school Wednesday evening, June 6, 1923, at 7:30.

SECRET LONGING FOR CUTE LITTLE RED SHOES

BY HEDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor, United Press
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 2.—(United Press).

Dear Miss Hoyt:

I should like to know whether colored shoes in vivid shades such as red, blue, green and yellow are really considered in good taste by fashionable women. My two daughters insist upon having some for summer and I am inclined to think that young girls should be more discreet as to footgear.

Very Sincerely,
MRS. J. S. L.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

I am very glad to answer Mrs. J. S. L's letter as I think that the question of "whether or not colored shoes are in good taste" is one that is troubling many of us.

Secretly we all have longings for the little red shoe. It's just as natural for us to like the cunning little cut-out slipper of colored leather as it was for us to hanker for red-topped boots when we were kids. That reminds me of the late Frank Bacon in "Lightnin', Lightnin'" is a poor old man who inherits a fortune after years of poverty. The first thing that he buys after receiving the fortune is a pair of red-topped gumboots. Ridiculous as he appeared in them he wore them with as much joy as if he were a boy.

Now a very conservative person would tell us that colored shoes are decidedly not in good taste. They might even go so far as to call them "vulgar." But—thank Heavens! it isn't the conservative persons who set the styles. If it were we would be a sorry looking lot in conventional, drab clothing, which changed little from year to year.

Colored shoes are undoubtedly pretty on some feet. And this is a peculiar fact—they tend to make the foot appear smaller than dark shoes. But one can't wear them indiscriminately. That is where the danger of the colored shoe lies.

A woman who can't afford the colored shoe as a luxury to be worn only at appropriate times, should beware of them. They certainly do not look well with a tailored suit or gown nor should they be worn for morning wear about town. They are not a business shoe and the girl who utilizes them for this purpose is showing little judgment.

With certain afternoon costumes they are not only permissible, but lovely. The costume, however, must be one whose beauty is augmented by the touch of color in the shoe. It must also be a dressy costume, as the colored shoe is not for the severely-cut gown.

At ball games, the race track and for all open air sports, the colored shoe of the sport variety worn with sport clothes is certainly permissible.

The young society girls and matrons have offered us proof of this fact. Green shoes are particularly popular with the sport frock this season.

Many women are not tiring of the white shoe for summer wear, but find them so costly to keep clean that they are growing away from them. White kid is unsightly after a few cleanings, as it turns yellowish. Canvas shoes, on the other hand, are not considered dressy.

So many people are wearing colored shoes this season that they are no longer considered conspicuous.

SCENE OF DEMPSEY-GIBBONS GO NAMED FOR RAILROAD BUILDER

[By Associated Press]

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 2.—The town of Shelby, Montana, where the heavyweight championship battle between Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons is to be staged July 4, is named after one of the pioneer transcontinental railroad builders of America, Peter Paul Shelby, father of Mrs. F. J. Schmoldt, Cleveland Heights.

Mr. Shelby was one of those actively engaged in the pioneer construction of the Union Pacific railroad. Upon the competion of that road he was made general traffic manager and remained with the Union Pacific for about twenty-five years. During that time he made a trip of 700 miles northward by sleigh to ascertain if it were worth while to build a branch line into Montana. As a result of his report, the branch was built.

Mr. Shelby afterwards became vice-president of the Great Northern railroad under the late James J. Hill and aided in building that trunk line. It was while serving in that capacity that the town of Shelby, through which the Great Northern passes, was named for him.

JUMPED TOO OFTEN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—(United Press)—Thinking it great fun to jump before automobiles, Walter Terry, 13, jumped once too often. He is now in the hospital, suffering from a badly fractured skull. His boy companions said he was in the habit of "scaring" motorists by leaping in front of their moving cars.

BARLEY CROP ORGANIZED

SALINAS, June 2.—(United Press)—Many farmers of the Salinas valley have signed an agreement to market their barley crops for the coming season through a large pool, convinced this is the best way to get a fair price. The signers of the pool agreement joined the movement at meetings here, in King City and Gonzales.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

PRAYER

Oh, not the creed or word or art,
These but the husk and shell;
But what of love is in the heart,
That be the truth to tell.

The creeds we hold, the songs we sing
These but a cubit's span,
The love within us is the thing
That rears the upgrown man.

And not the temple or the spire
Thy God shall glorify,
'Tis love alone, the sacred fire
This, or thy soul shall die.

And we who cite our little creeds,
And blaze with little wraths,
When His were days of loving deeds
Who trod the thorny paths!

Whose side they pierced, whose limbs they brake,
Whose lips with gall they filled,
And yet the words that last he spake
Forgave the ones that killed.

Oh Gentle Spirit, loving, kind,
Ope wide our eyes to see,
And by Thy truth help us to find
At last the way to Thee.

NEAR EAST FILM TO BE SHOWN AT CHURCH

Sunday Night Service at Congregational Promises Interesting Features

EAGLE ROCK, June 2.—George Miller, field representative of the Near East relief work, will be in charge at the Congregational church on Sunday night. He will show a remarkable feature film made in the Near East which shows the splendid work which American relief funds do among the Near East children. This film also shows the contrast between modern American ways of working and those in use in the Near East, wooden plows being one of the pictured appliances which are still being utilized in that section of the world.

The film will not only be instructive but is credited by those who have seen it as being specially interesting.

150 ARE SERVED AT CHURCH RALLY DINNER

EAGLE ROCK, June 2.—One hundred and fifty persons were served at the Congregational Rally in the Woman's Clubhouse on Thursday night. A. J. Lewis led the spirited community song service preceding the speaking, and great amusement and enthusiasm was evident when he introduced the tone-poem, "Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree."

Blake Franklin, building chairman of the First Congregational Church of Glendale, made the principal address of the evening. A number of other persons prominent in the church work made short talks, among them Dr. George S. Kengett, council superintendent of the Southern California district; George D. Hale of the local Congregational Board, and Glenn E. Arbogast, of the Congregational building committee. Rev. E. Morgan Isaac made a brief speech. The talks hinged on the building question, and a definite feeling that the plans of the church will be accomplished satisfactorily was made evident during the evening. Plans for financing the start of the new building were discussed, and a general summary of the present financial status was presented.

Pledge Honesty in Advertising, and Good Values

The Only Thing That Demands Secrecy

—is that which cannot stand the light of investigation or publicity. There is nothing more to be desired than a closer realization of proper merchandizing by the people who plan their expenditures and say: "How far will what I have go toward what I want?" There, we have the first native interest of women; selective provisioning—for herself and her family. Buymanship is just as important as salesmanship. The great manufacturers of the country have told the story of their wares—have sensed the need for their commodities, and it becomes the duty of the retailers to pass this information on to the customer. It becomes, therefore, a reciprocity agreement, where the merchant is more the purchasing agent of the consumer than the middleman for the manufacturer.

The merchants of Glendale are banded together in this Co-operative Monday Shopping, to simplify the buying needs of the people. It is their aim to instruct in worth-while suggestions the customer who may not know how to buy to the best advantage.

Naturally, the great concern of the home merchant is to keep and promote the "personal touch"; he knows that the customer who visits his establishment frequently is the friend-in-the-making. He is vitally interested in keeping this friendship. He is more than anxious to justify prices, to exhibit merchandise, correct errors and adjust misunderstandings. Therefore he solicits your patronage with more zeal than is necessary were he to draw his trade from thousands and thousands of transients.

WORRIED HAIR OFF

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2. (United Press).—While he doesn't have to worry much about putting the ball over now—that is no more than any pitcher does, "Wheezer" Dell of the Vernon Tigers, told when here recently, why he was nearly bald, was caused by worry when young.

In the good old days he couldn't put a ball over the plate and he worried so, every time he missed, a hair fell out. He's pretty bald.

FIXTURES, WIRING LOSE IN BIG BALL GAME

Newton Electric Company Stages Diamond All Its Own at Long Beach

In 16 machines, 75 employes of the Newton Electric company 154 South Brand boulevard, motored to Long Beach Wednesday to enjoy a picnic at Bixby park, where the cool sea breezes were blowing.

Two tables had been reserved for the contingent of Glendalians, and a horde of goodies had been brought to the picnic grounds. Following the picnic dinner, games and races took up the entire afternoon.

Through a baseball game, when the office and store force managed to entangle the fixture and wiring crew to defeat, the score showing 11 to 3 in favor of the store and office team, the entire body of picnickers derived much enjoyment.

Then followed a series of races, known only to the electrical firm employes. Using knobs, which form part of electrical wiring apparatus, the children raced, in what was known as the "knob race." Lois Merriken and Shirley Murdock took first and second places, respectively.

Then the ladies followed with a 100-yard dash, which was really a dash. Mrs. J. T. Windren won, with Helen Kapys close behind her. Joe Nutsch won the men's knob race, with Ray Murdock coming in second.

Joining in a three-legged race, Merel and Albert Newton came out winners, among the children. Miss Anna Merriken won the ladies' knob race, and Mrs. W. L. Hyde took second. A. E. Hinz broke the tape in the men's 100-yard dash, and Harry McCluskey was second.

After a delightful, though strenuous day, the party returned to Glendale, and to work the next day, slightly the worse for wear, but gainers for the good time all had experienced.

CO-EDS PICK IDEAL MEN FOR MARRIAGE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 2 (United Press).—A man tall, with either blue, gray, or brown eyes; ambitious, a home lover, good talker, mixer and dancer and must have a college education; having good looks and wealth no essential but must be of moderate means, and a man of his word with the ability to concentrate his love and the methods of a cave man—this is what Marquette University co-eds think an ideal man should be and possess.

In a questionnaire sent to twenty-five Marquette University co-eds here, the above requirements are a general idea of what they expect of their future husband.

In the questionnaire sent to the co-eds was asked the question "What sort of a man do you wish for your husband?"

The following qualities were thought necessary by the number of girls mentioned—Dark complexion, 14; light, 7; tall, 20; blue eyes, 12; brown eyes, 8; gray eyes, 3; wealthy, 2; moderate means of good salary, 20; college education, 17; sense of humor, 20; home lover, 15; good talker and dancer, 15; athletically inclined, 5; experienced lover, 8; honest and truthful, 14; ambitious and energetic, 20; striking personality, 7; cave man, 10; jealous of wife, 14; kind and thoughtful, 7; lover of children, 6; chivalrous, 15; neat, 6; good natured, 8; high ideals, 4; must love wife, 25; serious minded, 2; musician, 5; real man, 20; lover of art, 1; not goody-goody nor the other extreme, 1.

Of all the qualities expected of their future husbands, these 25 girls were unanimously on only one point—that their husband must love his wife.

LONDON WANTS THE ADVERTISING CLUBS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 2. (United Press.)—The opening session of the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of The World will be held here Sunday and the convention's activities will extend over the coming week.

Among the guests are 100 members of the Thirty Club of London, who are here to invite the convention to meet in London next year.

The advertising exhibit is declared to be one of the finest examples of work done both here and abroad that ever has been collected for any one showing.

Fred B. Smith of New York, who recently made a world tour for a business house with which he is connected, will have the opening address and will talk upon "Advertising and the World Outlook" on Sunday afternoon. United States Senator Walter E. Edge will share in the addresses of Monday and the array of prominent men will be distributed thru the week.

BARCELONA SYNDICATES SHOW BITTER ANIMOSITY

BARCELONA, June 10. — Terrorism has broken out afresh in Barcelona after a period of comparative calm. Both the Unified and Free Syndicates are participating in frequent assassinations, the victims being generally prominent members of the opposing societies. Hitherto the assassins have succeeded in escaping scot-free.

The beautiful new Chalmers coaches are now coming through from the factory, and are on display in the showroom of the Glendale Motor Car company, 124 West Colorado street.—Adv.

FRED B. WALTON BUYS DEWEY'S STORE

A business transaction of some importance took place this week when Fred B. Walton purchased the Dewey men's furnishings store at 148 South Brand boulevard.

Mr. Walton, who was formerly with the H. S. Webb Department store in the men's furnishings department, has had previous business experience in the east also, when he owned a store of this kind in New York state.

After conducting a clearance sale throughout the remainder of this week and all of next, when specials will be offered in hose, underwear and shirt, Mr. Walton plans to offer a number of standard lines in men's wearing apparel.

Improvements throughout the store are also to be made. Mr. Walton will have a glass background installed in the window, and will install new hat cases, with glass doors. These will be made of walnut and will offer housing to a complete line of summer hats of high quality.

Captain Rhoads Meets Accident After Meeting

EAGLE ROCK, June 2.—Whether the dish of ice cream was more than usually stimulating, or whether the enthusiasm of the evening went to his head is the question undecided. But, the fact remains, that Captain Ernest Rhoads of the bureau of fire prevention and public safety, who spoke at the community meeting of the fire prevention bureau in the Central school Thursday night, has been the center of considerable joking from his friends in the local fire department.

Captain Rhoads, with members of this department, parked his car at the corner of Central and Colorado and stopped at the soda fountain for refreshments before returning to Los Angeles.

Returning to his machine he backed away from the parking place with such boisterous enthusiasm that he all but uprooted one of the trolley poles in the middle of Central avenue. The rear of the machine, which is ordinarily protected from serious disability by the tire rack, was well smashed in and a separation of several inches showed in the construction of the machine, below the dent. So today, "Lizzie" is, no doubt, listed in some garage as one of the casualities, and Captain Rhoads is still wondering "how it happened."

TRIPS TO BEACHES ARE PROVING POPULAR

This is the time of the year when the Young Idea turns its thoughts beachward. Almost any Saturday and Sunday now, according to officials of the Auto club of Southern California, the highways leading from the cities of this part of the state to the beaches are lined with children seeking free rides in motor cars.

The old swimmin' hole of the west is the Pacific, and its lure for the young people is tremendous as the month of May passes into June.

If motorists wish to promote the well being of a community, they must steel their hearts against the importunities of the boys and girls who, bathing suit in hand, hail them from the road for a free ride, say local authorities.

Serious consequences attend the granting of these requests, reports the Auto club safety bureau, as well. Not only does it encourage children to run away from home, but it also paves the way for potential auto stealing.

Auto thieves take up their "profession" at an early age and an official investigation into the reasons for this has disclosed the fact that free rides encourage children to a free and easy manner with motor cars.

In line with the general warning just issued by the Auto club in regard to free rides for children, is the additional warning that it is hard to distinguish between a young man legitimately desiring a rde and one who desires to crack the auto owner over the head and steal his car from him. So many instances have been reported lately of youthful bandits carrying a lead-pipe in their pocket for just this purpose that the club feels that motorists should make it an iron-clad rule not to pick up strangers on the highways.

LONGER VACATIONS ARE BEING TAKEN

Longer and longer vacation trips are getting more and more "stylish" for the motorists of this part of the state, according to touring bureau officials of the Auto club of Southern California.

It used to be, not very long ago, that a vacation trip of 200 miles was quite a journey. But not any more! Nowadays the handy autoist of these parts thinks nothing of skipping off to Canada or down into Mexico for his summer outing.

In order to gratify the inclinations of some of the long-distance travelers, the club touring bureau has secured a lot of up-to-the-minute information on the national parks with which the western part of America is particularly favored.

If you only want to go a little ways from your own firesides, the country offers the Seguoia and General Grant parks, and of course there is Yosemite. The national park of the Grand Canyon is going to have a lot of auto visitors this summer. Also in the club's list is included Crater Lake national park, Yellowstone national park, Zion national park, Mesa Verde national park, Lassen Volcano national park and the Rocky Mountain national park over by Denver.

Roads leading from Southern California to the big national playgrounds this summer are in much better condition than they were last year and for that reason a larger number of motorists will take advantage of the season to increase their knowledge of America's wonders.

In addition to the great out-flux of national playground visitors, there are hordes of motorists planning to invade the nearby forest preserves of Southern California, and some special road information is now available on these at all of the Auto club offices.

TAX FOR TUNNEL AND DAMAGE IS LEGAL

[By Associated Press]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Tax payers may be taxed not only for municipal tunnel construction but also for the damage caused by such construction, the state supreme court held in denying D. C. Barber of Los Angeles relief against such damage taxation.

Barber was assessed $19.26 on damages arising out of the construction of the Second street tunnel and refused to pay on the ground that such payment was not provided for in the statute. The city sued and won in the lower court. The decision was affirmed by the supreme court today.

The suit was a test action and involved $103,702 in damage assessments on this tunnel alone.

STANFORD HOLDS VARSITY DAY

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Palo Alto, June 2.—(United Press)—More than a thousand graduates of Stanford and former students are here today for Stanford's third annual homecoming day—University day, it is called.

An interesting day's program has been planned for the alumni. A polo game is scheduled at 10 a. m., a luncheon for the alumni will be given by President and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur at noon; at 2 p. m. short addresses will be heard; a water polo tourney is planned at 3 p. m.; open house by all fraternities and sororities at 6:30 p. m. and dinner later; dancing will be enjoyed from 10 p. m. until 12 midnight.

SCRAP OF VALUABLE PAPER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2. (United Press).—Just a "scrap of paper," but worth $80,000, is a torn piece of writing paper Augustus Arnold wrote his will on when dying. The scrap of paper has been duly filed in the superior court at Oakland by the widow and two daughters who were left the estate.

PORK MOST POPULAR OF MEATS IN AMERICA

[By Associated Press]

Washington, June 2.—Pork and lard are two of the largest items in the food supply of the American people. The average annual per capita consumption for the last five years was 67.3 pounds of pork and 12.5 pounds of lard, as compared with 60.9 pounds of beef. In several recent years the consumption of pork alone has exceeded that of all other meats combined.

Curing your Golf Troubles

By Jim Barnes

"Dear Mr. Barnes:

Some of my friends tell me that I grip my clubs too tightly, and that I would get better results if I used a lighter grip, but in trying to keep this in mind, I get into other kinds of trouble. Do you think that if I started in to make a practice of loosening my grip somewhat at the top of the swing this would help me to cure this trouble? Is there any danger likely to come from loosening the grip at the top of the swing?

H. M."

Answer:

I would advise you not to try any experiments with loosening the grip, at the top of the backswing. There is no logical reason why you can't train yourself to a lighter grip, if you try, especially if you will put in such time as you can in practicing this. That is like anything else that you try to learn in golf. You must keep at it until you get where you don't have to think about it every time, but do it from force of habit.

You are more than likely to get into trouble, if you start experimenting with loosening your grip at the top of the swing. When you do that especially when you slack up on the grip with the left hand, you are more than likely to lose control of the club. That is you allow it to turn a bit, so that when you bring it down, the face is not in the position that it was when you started it back. You can see what this might mean, either a slice or a hook or what not I don't believe you will find it profitable to try to cure one simple trouble by a trick that is liable to create quite as much trouble in another way.

WEBER SHOWCASES ARE FAMILIAR TO ALL GLENDALIANS

Represented in Almost Every Store in Glendale

Conducting the largest business on the Pacific coast in show cases and fixtures, the Weber Showcase and Fixture company, of 316-330 South Los Angeles street, is represented in almost every store of any size in the city of Glendale.

According to figures furnished by A. C. Boesmiller, vice-president and treasurer of the company, during the 35 years of business activity enjoyed by the Weber company, the volume of business has grown from $10,000 a year to $250,000. This immense growth is due to the character of the products of the company, for the Weber showcases and fixtures are classed among the best to be procured.

The latest achievement in Glendale, attributed to this firm, is pointed out in the new building of Webb's department store. All fixtures and showcases in the entire establishment have been furnished by the Weber company. These are of the finest and latest models, and add materially to the appearance, as well as to the value of the new business house.

"At the present time our business far exceeds that of any other company dealing in this line on the Pacific coast," said Mr. Boesmiller. "Our company has enjoyed a most wonderful success in its business career, and continues to grow as the field becomes larger in Southern California. Out of our tremendous yearly business, I would like to mention the fact that most of it is transacted in the vicinity of Los Angeles."

An office of the Weber Showcase and Fixture company is located at Portland, Oregon, and the company also has a display room in San Francisco, from which a large volume of trade is acquired in addition to that in the southern part of the state.

Among the stores in Glendale now carrying work representing the Weber company, aside from Webb's department store, are Pendroy's, Ralph's grocery, the Seelig markets, Mathews' cafe, the Security, Trust and Savings bank, Jensen's drug store, said to have the finest equipped soda fountain in Southern California, and others.

CONTRACTOR OF WEBB'S IS OLD PIONEER HERE

Elmer Elliott Has Been Busily Re-building City for a Dozen Years

One of the busiest contractors in Glendale held the chief reins of power during the construction of Webb's new department store at Wilson and Brand boulevard. Elmer Elliott, who has been a resident of Glendale for 12 years, and who has watched Glendale creep from the stages of the infant city to the leaping, bounding, young metropolis which is the Glendale of today, held the contract for this building, which is the largest department store to be erected here.

Mr. Elliott, of 612 E. Elk street, has also contracted for other notable structures here recently. Among these are the apartments at Chester and Brand boulevard, the Seelig market at California and Adams, and a large garage building at Monrose.

STINE & SON ARE ART PLASTERERS OF WEBB'S STORE

Exquisite Finish is Work of Local Firm Well Known Here

Plastering is one of the most important considerations in the finishing of any building or home, and so the J. S. Stine & Son, plasterers, have found it to their advantage to perfect themselves in this work, and have completed the work on Webb's new store.

J. S. Stine & Son are located at 615 West Broadway. Their work has included scores of homes and buildings in Glendale and vicinity, and special care has been exercised in the finishing of the interior of Webb's store, making it one of the most durable and artistic pieces of work to be signed to their credit.

MEDICAL ASSN. MEETING

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—(United Press)—The American Medical association, which holds its 74th national convention here the last week in June, has attracted a large number of other international, national and sectional organizations of medicos to this city, just prior to the main convention.

Among the most important associations convening here are the American Society for the Control of Cancer, meeting June 24; the National Association for the Prevention of Heart Disease meets June 25, 26; the Medical Women's association June 25, 26; the Medical Veterans of the World War June 26; three associations of anaesthetists June 22 to June 26.

MODERN COMFORT KEYNOTE IN NEW COTTON EXCHANGE

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, June 2.—The latest thing in arenas will be thrown open about July 5 when the New York Cotton Exchange dedicates its new $5,000,000 skyscraper home down on Hanover Square amid the financial warrens of lower Manhattan.

Away up on top of the exchange, beneath vaulted domes and delicately tinted mosaics, will be a place for the bulls and bears to romp and roar in private pandemonium—the cotton trading pit. Just under the sky it will be, with broad, high windows overlooking the four quarters of the globe whence come the cotton and the gold in which they deal.

WINNERS OF FAME

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.

(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

The desire to win fame, to be widely and favorably known by contemporaries and honorably remembered by later generations, is a desire that cannot fairly be criticized. In fact, it is a natural desire, being roted in the self-assertive instinct common to all men.

But it is well to point out, as a hint really helpful in fame-winning, that commonly those do not become famous who make fame-winning the chief objective of their lives. So true is this that, in the incisive phrase of Oliver Wendell Holmes:

"Fame usually comes to those who are thinking of something else."

And this, after all, is only what should be expected. For fame depends on a measuring of one's worth by other people, and the criterion of worth is the rendering of service in one way or another valuable to mankind.

As a matter of course, those are the more likely to render valuable services who think more of rendering service than of compelling an acknowledgment of their great merits. But this latter is what occupies the minds of the fame-obsessed.

Still worse, they tend to identify notoriety with fame. And, like a certain novelist of my acquaintance, they hold that the one thing necessary to obtain their heart's desire is publicity.

Hence they are tireless in thinking up ways and means of keeping themselves conspicuously before the public. Energy which might be employed far more usefully is devoted to publicity planning. Great is the joy experienced when such planning sets people agog about the one who so passionately craves fame.

Alas! If his claim to fame rests on no more substantial a basis than organized publicity, the moment that publicity is abated or abandoned, that moment people cease talking or even thinking of him. This holds true even if he keeps publicity active in his behalf to the day of his death.

Very different is it in the case of the man who persistently endeavors, not to get himself talked about, but to do things worth being talked about.

Because fame-winning si secondary to his craving to be useful, because he has subordinated the self-assertive instinct to the race-preservative, he is sure to make—as scientist, artist, philosopher, statesman, man of business, or whatever he may be—contributions in some degree beneficial to his fellows. In proportion as they are beneficial he is assured of fame.

Their benefit may not be immediately appreciated. It may not be appreciated until long after the death of the one to whom it is due. But if the benefit is there, appreciation will some day be there, too—and with appreciation, fame.

Or, to recall Longfellow's splendid line:

"Fame comes only when deserved, and then it is inevitable as destiny, for it is destiny."

SAN PEDRO, June 2.—(United ress)—The San Pedro police force s been "on the hair trigger" nce the alleged I. W. W. strike ovement began and that accounts r a good joke on the force.

San Pedro high school students rced a long serpentine parade to vertise a baseball game. At night traveled down the street. Some- e called the police, who respond- with twelve automobile loads of icers.

Several high school banners were rn down by the nervous cops be- re they discovered the reason for e parade.

BENTLEY COMPANY SUPPLIES WOOD FOR WEBB'S

Lumber Company Has Come to Be Glendale Institution in its Line

The Bentley Lumber company, located at 460 West Los Feliz road, dealers in high grade building materials, furnished the lumber within the new Webb department store building.

The Bentley Lumber company is an institution with an expert in every department. Up-to-date mill and office equipment aid in the work of aspiring to perfection under the direction of these experts.

Realizing in advance the growing demand for a plan of service, which is now a part of the service this company renders. They offer a complete line of building materials, and guarantee to give the kind of service that makes a business deal one of pleasure.

The Bentley Lumber company has on exhibition at their booth, 27 new, up-to-date floor plans and models made by the high school students of Glendale Union high school. There are styles and seasons in building, just as there are in wearing apparel, and while the ready-to-wear merchants are showing their fashion revues, the Bentley Lumber company is offering a fashion show in home styles.

The new ideas with floor plans and models may be seen at the Bentley booth during the exposition, together with the prize winners, as selected by well-known local architects. Prizes totaling $100 were given to the one adjudged the best, by this company.

RODEO AT SAN RAFAEL

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., June 2. (United Press).—The first annual rodeo and horse show of Marin county will be held tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon at the Kentfield Stadium. Crowds from Petaluma, Santa Ross and across the bay are expected. Thirty riders, both men and women, have been secured for the rodeo.

HARDWOOD WORK LAID BY GLENDALE FLOORING CO.

Store Is an Exhibition of Kind of Expert Workmen Obtainable

To the average person, aside from saying that a hardwood floor is a hardwood floor, there seems nothing of particular interest to be said, but to the one who has experienced the satisfaction of having the hardwood floor properly laid, or to the one who has experienced the extreme annovance of having the hardwood floor improperly laid, the mere mention of hardwood floors bring a host of questions and considerations to mind.

The fitting of the lumber, the choosing of the kind of lumber and the proper care of the lumber in the process of being laid, all take their places in the consideration of the class of workmanship.

In examining the hardwood floor in the windows of Webb's new store it will be found that much care has been exerted in completing this work. The Glendale Hardwood Flooring company held the contract for this work. Their main office is located at 304 East Broadway.

This company also held the contract for laying the hardwood floors at the Tuesday Afternoon club. The hundreds who have danced across these floors will testify as to the quality of the workmanship.

PULLMAN, Wash., June 2. (United Press).—The University of California track and field team is expected to capture the annual Pacific coast track and field title in the meet at Rogers Field tomorrow. The University of Oregon and University of Washington are considering the most likely runners-up.

The University of Oregon, Idaho, Washington and California, Oregon Aggies and Washington State, are among those that will compete tomorrow.

SIMONS BRICK CO. SUPPLIES WEBB'S THROUGH BETZ

Representative Who Has Been Supplying Glendale Has Contract

Coming from the Simons Brick company, through Harry E. Betz, load after load of bricks have been hauled to the scene of building activity, where the new Webb department store has been under the process of construction for many months past, being brought to completion within the last week.

Harry E. Betz, who resides at 424 North Kenwood, has been carrying on a business in brick contracting in Glendale for the past 12 years, and has left many a building in Glendale as testimony of his work.

At the present time, the brick masonry under way at the new building of the Glendale Daily Press, on North Brand boulevard, is under Mr. Betz' contract. Although other building materials have held up the construction of this building, it is thought that the new quarters of the Press will be completed before many more weeks have elapsed.

TRUCKS AND TRACTORS REDUCE USE OF OATS

WASHINGTON, June 2. — Production of oats in the United States probably has reached its highest point, in the opinion of experts of the Department of Agriculture.

The yearbook of the department for 1922 declares the advent of motorized trucking, both in city and country, and of the tractor on the farm, are reducing markedly the commercial demand for feeding oats. The result, it is predicted, will be to reduce acreage and production, which have increased rapidly and consistently since annual estimates first became available in 1866. The oat crop now ranks third in importance, the cereals being next to corn and wheat.

BROMBACHER IRON AND STEEL USED IN THE BUILDING

Structural Men Who Are Experts, Build Well Here

From the Brombacher Iron Works, 1622 Long Beach avenue, Los Angeles, came the iron and steel used in the construction of Webb's new department store at California and Brand boulevard.

This company carries on an extensive business in building and construction work of various kinds, and extreme care has been used to build "strongly and wisely" in the case of the Webb department store.

A large plant is operated at 1662 Long Beach avenue, and another in Humboldt.

THOMAS S. BROWN SHOWS SKILL IN DECORATIONS

Well Known Local Artist Is Master of Effects Shown in Store

Beautifully decorated, the tones exquisitely blended with the color of fixtures and furnishings, the H. S. Webb store is a concrete example of the work and ability of Thomas S. Brown, well known interior decorator and painter of this city.

An excellency of workmanship is betrayed in every stroke of the brush, and marks another achievement in the art of interior decorating. The style of the interior finishing combines effectively with that of the exterior of the building.

Article No. 34

Play of a No Trump Hand

The play of a No Trump hand differs in many essentials from the play of a trump hand. As soon as the lead is made by opponents, the declarer should not only size up both the strength of the combined hands as represented by dummy and his own hand, but also the danger spots revealed by the bidding or by the opening or by both. He should determine first, whether he can make his contract, and, if so, whether he is strong enough to make a fair try for game. If the latter is possible, he must at once lay out his plan of campaign.

As a rule the best results in a No Trump bid are obtained by setting up a long suit. To do this, it usually will be necessary to lose the lead at least once, possibly twice. If the hand contains enough re-entry cards such procedure is sound; otherwise, not. Whatever plan is adopted, it should be decided upon before the declarer plays his first card. Practically every No Trump hand is won or lost by the play of the first trick and the subsequent plan of procedure. There is no rule as sound as the plan to retain control of the short suits and to establish the long suit. When you have two suits of equal length and strength try to establish that one which, in the combined hands, has the greater number of re-entry cards. Also prefer that suit which is established after play of the Ace of the suit. The Ace must always make, so make opponents play it at once.

Probably the most important point for the declarer to follow in the play of a No Trump hand is to keep command of his opponents' suit as long as possible. Hang on to this commanding card until the partner of the initial leader has no more of that suit. This may not always be possible but always try it out and don't play the commanding card until necessary or expedient.

One of the prettiest plays that the declarer can make is "ducking." When the hand containing the long suit contains no re-entry card, the suit must be made, if at all, by reason of its own cards. For that reason it may be wise and expedient to refuse to win the first trick; that is, to "duck" the first trick. For example, suppose dummy to hold five Clubs to the A, K, with no re-entry card, and the declarer only two small Clubs. It is evident that if the declarer takes the first two Club tricks, he will win two in that suit and no more. On the other hand, if he deliberately loses the first trick, and the remaining Clubs are divided evenly between opponents, it is possible to win four tricks in that suit.

Very frequently the declarer has a hand in which he has length in a suit in one hand and high cards in the suit in the other. Under such conditions it is obligatory for him to play the high cards in the one hand at once so that they will not "block" or prevent the low cards making in the other hand. Such play is the so-called "unblocking."

Occasionally a card is led at No Trump which the declarer can win in either hand. He must then decide where he wants the lead, either for that trick or later. It may be possible that the original trick should be first won in dummy and then over-taken by the declarer. Such play is the so-called "over-taking."

In short, play to take care of tricks that are lost by the average players. The winning tricks will, as a rule, take care of themselves.

Frocks that Bloom in the Spring; Late Blossoming Variety

This frock might be entitled The Lady or the Daffodil. An inverted daffodil, we will admit in case we are forced to by the carping mandates of art, but still a daffodil in the virginal line and the golden yellow of the MirroKrepe which makes the frock.

An evening dress like this is more than a style note from Paris. It is a prediction, if not a prophecy. It is the result of information so carefully sifted that as a style it will be in vogue for many months to come and its wearers may be assured of its freshness for a year at least.

MirroKrepe has the quality of adapting itself to simple designs. Reading from top to bottom, the neckline on the pictured lady is a straight slash across the front and back, with the merest thread of fastening at the shoulders. The arm holes are but openings in the side seams, the waistline a suggestion of draped folds, which scarcely ripple the line of the gown.

But the bottom. It is rolled up and hemmed with three flounces of the same lustrous material which start from the unfathomable interior and wind in a spiral until they finish on the right hip in a slight drape under a bouquet of formal, flattened scarlet silk apples. The back is quite sheath-like except for the flounces which touch it flatly on their upward course.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF BURBANK

MAJORITY OF BURBANK GIRLS BORN IN MAY BEAR NAMES BELOVED FOR CENTURIES

Mrs. Ida Hathorn, of the vital statistics department of the city clerk's office, in preparing the birth certificates announced that there were 27 births and 17 deaths during the month of May.

Girls outnumbered the boys by one in the birth list, which means that there were 14 girls and 13 boys. The certificates show that more girls were given names than the boys for there were several unnamed baby boys but only one little daughter is waiting for her first name.

In the roll were many quaint, old-fashioned names—names that have been loved for centuries. There were three Barbaras: Barbara Ann Pfisterer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pfisterer; Barbara A. Penland, daughter of D. W. Penland; and Barbara Louise Rice, daughter of W. J. Rice.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Ball of Owensmouth, bears a name that is heard from one generation to another, but for many years has not been common. It is "Deborah."

Eddys Beasley is one of the most uncommon names written among the girls' roll. Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Martin have given their little girl the name of Isabel. Another one that is one of the dignified titles in English history belongs to Harriet Elizabeth Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas.

One of the names of later years is that of Madelina Reyes, a modification of the old Bible name. Another fancy name is that of Michaelo Ponce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francise Ponce.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lewis combined one of the later popular names with one of more than 20 centuries' life, "Helen Ruth." Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Petty have chosen one of the later year models, "Mildred Alice" for their May queen, as did the parents of Dorothy Marie Scholtz.

FIRE DEPARTMENT DRAWS A FULL HOUSE

Owing to the disfavor which plans of the local fire department met with, when it was generally understood by residents that the local city hall meeting room was to be partitioned off and turned over to the fire department as sleeping quarters for the new men which the Los Angeles department planned to station here at the first of the month, considerable anxiety is in evidence at the city hall as to where these men are to sleep. The small office occupied at present by Lieutenant Welty will be turned over to the men on duty for sleeping quarters. Two new men were stationed here today, one for each shift. There are three men on each shift at present, but as soon as matters are regulated so that all the men can be accomodated, six or seven will be allowed this district for one night and also the day shift. The men on duty now spend much time speculating as to just where all the new men will "roost." There is only one possible solution, they say, and that is to swing hammocks from the roof somewhere, a la sailor.

SUNDAY NIGHT SERVICES TO BE EVANGELISTIC

Rev. Main Will Preach Special Series of Sermons

Rev. E. A. Main, pastor of the Baptist church, has announced a special series of evangelistic meetings for Sunday evenings. On Wednesday evenings he has chosen the subject of Baptist fundamentals for discussion.

This coming Wednesday evening his study topic will be "Christ in Creation," considering the relation of Christ to the old testament days.

The new church, at Third and Magnolia, has been crowded to capacity every Sunday morning and evening since the building has been finished. One of the features of the Sunday service is the interest in the Bible school.

Individual class rooms about the building make it convenient for specialized classes to meet the need of every age.

ENTERTAIN FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Mesdames Clark, Swaim and Nickerson Give Party

In compliment to the bride-elect, Miss Mary Ostergard of Glendale, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. B. Nickerson and Mrs. Clara Swaim, entertained at the home of the later, 318 North Verdugo avenue, this afternoon. Miss Ostergard has lived in Burbank for many years and a large number of her old friends were invited to the affair which was in the nature of a miscellaneous shower.

The color scheme was pink, green and white. The shower gifts were presented in a large white basket, with Mrs. Swaim making the presentation speech.

A short program followed the shower. Mrs. Grace Lovejoy played a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Gladys Schnoor at the piano. Mrs. Louise Kirkpatrick, accompanied by Mrs. Lovejoy at the piano sang a group of songs.

The honoree is a teacher at Eagle Rock. She will be married June 26 at the Methodist church, Burbank.

ROTARY CLUB ENJOYS JINKS STUNT PARTY

Original Entertainment Given in Honor of Delegates

The Burbank Rotarians and their ladies had a grand and glorious time at the farewell dinner at the Sunset Canyon country club Thursday evening. Since they cannot all go to St. Louis to the convention, they had a make-believe trip to Missouri.

After all had assembled, Messrs. Cross, Butterfield and Miller, entered the room, attired in the uniform of a brakeman, conductor and engineer. At each place the guest found a ticket to St. Louis. Engineer Miller tooted the whistle and clanged the bell and Brakeman Cross and Conductor Butterfield hurried the train off. Sidney King as a newsie peddled magazines and fruits.

Dr. Zeiss was fined for kissing his "lady friend" before coming to Newhall tunnel. He was fined again when the conductor found he was trying to ride on 1-2 fare tickct. The names on the tickets were called out to be checked up and the conductor used the maiden names of the Rotarianettes and many of them did not recognize their own names.

The baggage man fumed about excess baggage, but the passengers denied they had carried too much, so to prove his point the brakeman brought in the first trunk he saw. Everybody did admit it was pretty heavy so it was opened and a little San Fernando toe dancer stepped out. Then she was called upon to perform.

The Burbank police siren warned the excursionists that the train had stopped at Burbank so everyone that had stepped out to exercise immediately hastened back into the train so they would not be arrested.

Finally the load reached St. Louis and everybody disembarked and went into the living room of the club house where cards and dancing were enjoyed.

WILL PLAY AT NEW PARK

Drengsten and Quinto to Furnish Dance Music

Mr. Drengsten of the Burbank Music shop has signed a contract with the Santa Susana park managers, Dewitt and Emery to furnish, with Mr. Guinto, orchestra music for Saturdays and Sunday beginning today and playing every week until October 1.

The park management has said that there would be free parking and there were good camping sites in the 1200 acres of land, with plenty of water. The beauty of the forest of oak trees and the climate and the scenery is unsurpassed. The place is located near the foot of the Santa Susana grade in Ventura county.

FUNERAL RITES FOR MRS. MORRIS

Funeral services for Mrs. Vernon B. Morris were held this afternoon at the Fillbach mortician parlors. Rev. Thomas Stovenson, pastor of the Presbyterian church conducted the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris, who were married not quite a year ago, June 10, 1922, recently moved to Burbank from Los Angeles. Mrs. Morris is survived by her husband and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eads of Los Angeles and a brother, also of Los Angeles.

FLYING BOAT WEIGHS 9 TONS

[By Associated Press]

SOUTHAMPTON, England, June 2. — The new flying boat, "Valentia," has a span of 112 feet, is fitted with two 650 horsepower engine weighs 9 tons in flying trim, and has an estimated speed of 110 miles an hour.

ROSKAMS LEAVE ON AUTO TRIP TO THE NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roskam and children, Dorothy and William, left this morning for a cross-country trip through the north. They plan to make their first stop at Wasco, near Bakersfield, where they will visit relatives for one day. From there they will go up to the land of the big redwood trees and visit the Yosemite park.

They will return to Burbank the last of the month.

WIGWAG SIGNAL IS PLACED AT S. P. CROSSING

The Southern Pacific railroad has installed a wigwag signal at Magnolia avenue. More than two-thirds of the serious accidents in Burbank have happened at the intersection of Magnolia and the S. P. tracks, according to City Engineer F. C. Miller, and this signal is expected to help in eliminating any future accidents at this place.

JUNE BUILDING PERMITS START WITH $5900

Burbank Building Inspector Elmer Dale signed building permits for the first day of June for $5900. They were taken out by: W. D. Russell, store, $2200; C. R. McMiller & Son, $1000; J. H. Ritchey, San Jose, $2700.

BRING BODY TO BURBANK

Man Killed in Liquor Raid Near Town

The body of Nicola Peterantiano, an Italian whose home in the hills, two miles east of Burbank, was raided by officers, was brought to the undertaking parlors of A. C. Fillbach late last night under the coroner's orders.

Outside officers found large quantities of wine in the place. Peterantiano, it is alleged, through a ruse got the police into another room where he had a revolver, but before he could fire the U. S. deputy marshal shot and killed him.

WOMEN ATTACK BANDITS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—(United Press)—When thugs, mashers or thieves start in attacking women it is advisable to tackle one they can handle, it was found here, when in two days' time two women badly beat assailants.

Mrs. Henry C. Isaacson knocked a man cold when he attempted to knife her woman companion. They left him lying unconscious on the street, exhibit A of Mrs. Isaacson's powerful left.

Muriel Stryker, Follies beauty, badly beat a masher who accosted her on O'Farrell street. She chased him down the street with a club.

The weaker sex is coming back strong.

ENGLAND'S LARGEST BOMBING PLANE READY

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, June 2.—England's largest airplane, a huge bomber built in secret for the Air Ministry, will soon be given its trial flight.

According to the Daily Express, the big plane is built entirely of steel, with the engines installed in a cabin completely armored against machine guns.

The engine room will be in charge of a mechanic, thus leaving the pilot free to operate the lifting and steering levers without regard to the engine details.

TO GIVE FINE SACRED CONCERT

The Presbyterian church is planning to present one of the finest sacred concerts ever given in Burbank, Sunday evening. "The Stabat Mater," by Rossini, will be given.

The music is under the direction of W. F. Lake, organist of the church. The regular quarter, Mrs. W. F. Lake, soprano; Julius Philips, tenor; Mrs. Theo. Sinclair, contralto; and Charles Russell, basso; assisted by Mrs. Lawrence, lyric soprano; Mrs. Nan McKellar, mezzo soprano; Dr. David Thompson, tenor; and A. E. Russell, baritone, will present numbers on the program. Mrs. Walter Fisher will be the pianist and Vern Isom, violinist.

Mrs. Lawrence only recently made her appearance in Southern California, coming from Chicago and New York.

The program will begin at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening. It is one that will attract not only the trained musicians but those fond of hearing good music.

COUNTS CHICKS BEFORE HATCHED

E. R. Mendenhall, two and one-half miles out on South Olive avenue, is counting his chickens before they hatch. He has 300 white leghorns. Next Tuesday he is counting on having 1500 more and the Tuesday after that 1000 more. He says he is just starting out in the chicken business.

He has a place of six and one-half acres, but the acres are for his employes to run about in, he says, as he buys all of his chicken feed.

KING GEORGE IS 58

LONDON, June 2 (United Press)—King George is officially celebrating his 58th birthday today—actually he is not 58 until tomorrow, but Sunday not being a recognized day for state functions, the anniversary was advanced a day, so that anybody who wanted to say "Happy Returns" could do it in working hours.

At all naval and military stations throughout the British Empire the "King's Birthday" was celebrated with customary official festivities. Official congratulations from all the rules of the world were received at Buckingham Palace.

London witnessed the annual stately parade known as "Trooping the Color," King George personally reviewed his guards on the horse guards parade, St. James's Park, and hundreds of thousands of citizens witnessed one of the most picturesque military parades to be seen in Europe.

FIND PLENTY TROUT

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Phelps have returned to the city after a four-day fishing trip. Mrs. Phelps reports that she caught the limit of 25 trout for two days and eight the third day. City hall employees expected a large banquet, but they were disappointed. Mrs. Phelps gave her fish away before returning to Burbank.

RACING AT RENO

RENO, Calif., June 2. (United Press).—With only a week to go before the opening of the racing season of the Silver State Jockey Club, June 9 to July 7, preparations are nearly completed for the opening, and interest in the events is growing daily.

Davy and Paul Hurn, Billy Gargan and Jocky Weiner have been practicing for some time. They are listed as among the cleverest jockeys in America.

CAPTAIN RHOADS STARTS CLEAN UP WEEK

Approval Evidenced by Citizens at Mass Meeting

The fire prevention clean-up began in the west end district below Central this morning and continued throughout the day. Many lots are being cleared of the unsightly growth of dry grass and weeds. With the assistance of Boy Scout leaders and older boys drawn from the schools, the firemen have carried on the burning. This campaign will save everyone whose lot is cleared the expense which would be incurred if the owner could not clear his own property when he is requested to do so by the police department within a few weeks.

Many persons have taken a co-operative interest in this campaign with the new firemen who are giving their spare time to assisting in the clean-up work, supervising and providing the necessary protection in case of emergency.

H. M. Bruce, president of the Eagle Rock Improvement association officiated as chairman at the meeting on Thursday night. About 70 persons volunteered their co-operation and signified their appreciation of the work which the firemen are doing in putting over this campaign.

Two representatives of prominent organizations were present to announce their willingness to stand behind the work of the fire prevention bureau in putting over this clean-up week each year. W. E. Hind, representing the Clean Government league, read the platform upon which that association is founded, and stated that the league stands behind any community interest or movement which is advanced for the betterment of Eagle Rock. He gave due credit to the fire department in promoting the work, stating that that section of the city protection stands primarily for "action."

W. R. Johnson, president of the Realty Board, requested the fire department to call upon that body for any work which will assist in accomplishing the aims of the movement in question. He explained the three chief reasons why the vacant properties should be cleared of as follows: first, that the grass is a menace, combustible and dangerous; second, that it is unsightly, and the vacant lots on some streets are a discredit to Eagle Rock as a choice "homeland"; and third, that civic organizations are willing to support the fire prevention bureau in abating this nuisance.

Mr. Johnston pledged the Realty board's assitance, and thanked Captain Ernest Rhoads for the interest he has taken in the local work.

Captain Rhoads made an entertaining speech relative to his work. He gave various interesting statistics on the fire losses in Los Angeles. The details of the fire department equipment of Los Angeles 28 years ago were amusing. He stated that at that time one of the councilmen was recalled for suggesting the purchase of horses for the engines which at that time were rushed about by man power. Later, the horses were not only secured, but replaced by automobiles, until today the splendid system evident in all emergencies is in use. The horses used by the department have been pensioned and are now leading placid lives in one of the big parks. Captain Rhoads said that removing the grass will not remove the fire hazard, of course, for if it would he would not be needed in his present capacity and in his own word could "go up in the park and eat grass with the horses."

Captain Rhoads explained that through pooling the efforts of the community the clean-up work can be accomplished with equal benefit to all. He stressed the question of lower fire insurance by reducing the fire hazards. He announced that he will be here as a representative frequently to see that this district is kept up, that there will be no necessity for clean-up weeks, clean-up days, or clean-up years, as all the residents will pool their efforts in keeping down the grass.

Preceeding the speaking, Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, community sing leader of Glendale, led the audience in some of the old, well-known songs.

H. M. Bruce, representing the Improvement association, summarized the aims of the fire prevention bureau and expressed the appreciation of the organization which he heads for the work which is being done by the local fire department and the fire prevention bureau.

Lieutenant Welty, on duty with the new men here, was called upon to read the instructions compiled by the department as precautionary measures for residents to carry out during the actual burning of the waste.

CAMPAIGN ON TO PUT MARTSOLF IN COUNCIL

Plans Laid to Elect Benjamin B. Martsolf to L. A. Council

A movement is under way in Eagle Rock to urge residents to put Benjamin B. Martsolf who has served Eagle Rock in official capacities for many years, capable executing all the duties of his various offices, on the ballot for the city council in the Los Angeles election, June 5.

Of all the candidates listed, there is not one who represents this district—Eagle Rock, Garvanza and Highland park. None have a home interest in this section. And as Benjamin Martsolf has so successfully carried out his work as city clerk and as a city trustee, there is a decided campaign being carried on in favor of his appointment on the city council.

Those promoting the campaign are not only lining up Eagle Rock residents for Mr. Martsolf, but they are spreading the word of his work and his energy to their friends in Los Angeles who can swing some more vote to the "Eagle Rock candidate." Those who know Mr. Martsolf or those who weel this district should have a representative are asked by the promoters of the campaign to write in on their ballots the name of Benjamin B. Martsolf, in the city council group, second column.

Webb's, Glendale's Home Store, Welcomes and Invites Your Inspection

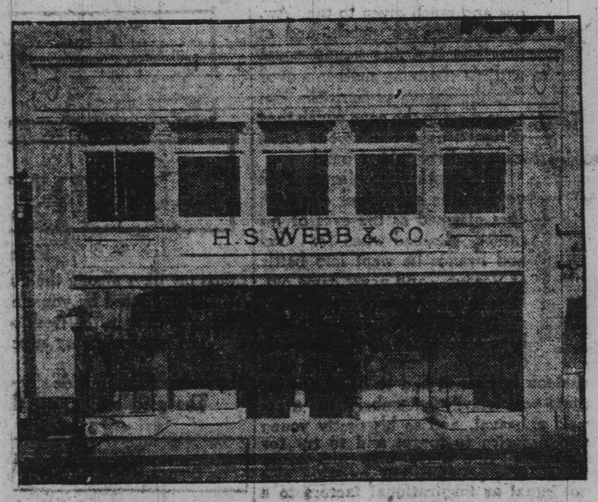
If Progress has been the slogan of Glendale, it also has been the dominating spirit of the mercantile interests. And in the upbuilding of this modern department store it is the good people of Glendale who are responsible and made possible this institution. In it we have exemplification of our great progress and to you we dedicate it.

The New Building

Now we open on Monday night, June 4th, the new store for your inspection and profit, feeling confident that we have done all that could be done by the ingenuity of man to give you a trading center that will do credit to Glendale's progress.

In putting up this building we have simply considered ourselvse as your agent, thinking always of what you would like and endeavoring to carry out that thought to the fullest extent, and in buying merchandise for the new store we have bought for you.

Your individual wants have had our consideration and we have tried to act in the great markets of the world as your shopping commissioners.



The Modern Store

This modern department store is more than the fulfillment of a merchant's dream. It's the fruition of many years of effort. It has taken time, pains and money. Everyone who has had anything to do with the enterprise has given the best in either him or her, and when the store doors spring open Monday you will behold a store which in point of luxurious appointments has few equals but no superiors in this community.

The H. S. Webb & Co. takes pride in serving you as of old and will always endeavor to deserve success by constantly increasing the store's power to do good.

Main Floor Departments

On entering the store you will be impressed with the appearance of solidarity. Decorations are simple and yet in good taste—entirely for service. Fixtures are all in Southern Gumwood, rich in appearance but quite in keeping with the merchandise displayed in each department. Aisles are wide and give plenty of room for promenading and shopping. Daylight permeates to every corner of the floor, and for night lighting we have installed the newest type of overhead illumination that could be found in America.

On this floor are located these departments: Silks, Woolens, Wash Goods, Domestics, Laces, Trimmings, Ribbons, Women's Neckwear, Toilet Goods, Jewelry, Leather Goods, Hosiery, Underwear, Gloves, Notions, Umbrellas, Draperies, Bedding, Stationery and Women's and Children's Shoes.

Elevator for your convenience to Mezzanine and Second Floors.

The Mezzanine Floor

The Mezzanine Floor will be one of the most attractive sections of the entire store. Here we have provided Rest and Lounging Room accommodations larger in extent than found in most places. Ample lavatory and toilet accommodations, richly finished, and with a floor covering of rich grey carpet.

Complete Beauty Parlor on the Mezzanine Floor, in charge of the most expert operators. Easily reached by elevator or stairway.

Circulating Library—a wonderful opportunity for those interested in reading— wide selection of books.

Government Postoffice Sub-station.

Second Floor, Ready-to-Wear and Millinery

These departments are ideally housed in magnificent quarters on the Second Floor and possess the double advantage of plenty of daylight and complete cleanliness. In the decorations of this floor, simplicity and harmony of color produce that artistic effect that is most pleasing and possess quiet dignity. The carpets are grey plush and the fixtures African Mahogany in classic designs of tone and snap.

On this floor we will handle Coats, Suits, Dresses, Waists, Skirts, Corsets, Silk and Muslin Underwear, Art Goods, Sweaters, Millinery—in fact, all outer garments for women. Also Infants' wear that will appeal to every woman's heart.

FOR THE COMMON GOOD

When the people of a city contemplate some civic improvement, it would be well were the common good, rather than the interests of the individual, to be considered. Perhaps this is the case in instances, but not invariably. Pasadena desires a civic center. The location seems to be taken for granted. The only question at issue is the authorization of the necessary bonds. As to the outcome there hardly can be a doubt. Residents are in favor of the civic center. It is designed to benefit the whole community. Nobody appears to be asking just how much the success of the plan would enhance his personal holdings.

In Los Angeles a similar move is under consideration. To the observer it does not seem that a similar spirit prevails. The north end of the city wants to supply the site. The south end is equally anxious to get the prize. The outsider, looking at the contest disinterestedly, is conscious of the thought that the projection of selfish interests into the situation is bad policy. The idea to be kept in mind is that circumstances demand a civic center, and that whether its location be one place, or be another, is a matter of minor consequence.

However, the general opinion, apart from the opinion based on personal desires for property's sake, probably would favor the north. The various communities that have intimate daily contact with the city, touch it first at the north. Through that part of the town flow the tides of travel. There is no occasion for a civic center to be at the heart of business. The activity that gathers at such a center has little to do with commerce. In San Francisco, where is maintained a civic center of great beauty, in every way satisfactory to the residents, the buildings are far from the region of merchandising.

THE RUM BUSINESS

Information that President Harding favors firm and immediate measures for suppressing the illicit liquor traffic has in it no element of surprise. The executive but echoes public opinion. The manner in which bootlegging has been carried on is a shameful defiance of the law. Whether the good citizen is on principle a prohibitionist or not, the good citizen favors respect for the law. He freely accords this himself, and he does not desire that transgressors be immune.

Much has been said as to the deadly manner in which the ignoring of one amendment to the constitution breaks down respect for all statutory restraints. It is the direct encouragement of crime. The evil effects may be observed in more than one phase of human activity. For example, traffic in liquor now involves the commission of many other offenses. Often it includes theft, smuggling, forgery, counterfeiting and false pretense. It is not free from the taint of murder. Bootleggers have no hesitancy in robbing and killing each other. This in itself might not be regarded as meaning a great social loss, but the wares they loose on the secret market often are so poisonous as to bring about fatalities. If they do not do this, they blind consumers, deprive them of reason, and cause them to become a burden and a menace to the community.

The extent to which the traffic has grown is indicated by the fact that a bootlegger recently set out on a business expedition with $100,000 on his person to purchase liquors. This was much less than he and his associates had invested. Pirates, supposed to be other bootleggers, boarded his boat, killed him and took the money. Such was one incident of many. That it is time for the unholy commerce to be stopped is a proposition that gives no opportunity for debate.

FOLLOWERS OF FADS

Discovery has been made of an institution aptly described as a starvation farm. It is near Chicago. It is supposed to be for the treatment of invalids. The treatment seems to consist of depriving them of food and charging them $30 per week for the privilege of not eating. A more thoughtful set of invalids might have grasped the idea that the starvation farm could not have a monopoly of this system. They might as well have saved their money, and had all the joys and benefits of famishing, free of cost. The patients at the institution were found to be racks of bones, no prospect ahead of them but release by death.

At first glance it may seem strange that dupes could be found willing to fatten the purse of the originator of the plan of beating disease by succumbing to voluntary famine. It is not any stranger than many other things that mortals do. Of the seekers after fads there seems to be no end. Let any man or woman proclaim a foolish doctrine, whether it pertain to body or soul, and he may be assured of a following. The "House of David" recently exposed as a den of greed and iniquity, illustrates the point. So did the career of Dowie, the bewhiskered zealot who has been succeeded by Voliva. The latter will be remembered as the crank who causes schools in his jurisdiction to teach children that the globe is flat.

Starvation of patients is not new. A woman up in Seattle tried it several years ago. The patients died, and the woman went to jail. Her misfortune doubtless was a lesson to her, but as a check on human folly generally, it seems to have been ineffective.

Most people manufacture their own luck—be it good or bad.

Few things are as expensive as those we try to get for nothing.

ENCOURAGING SUPERSTITION

A writer sets forth regularly under the caption "What This Day Means to You" something like the following:

"Today is one of extremely good omen for all business of a productive nature, but one on which no changes should be made in private life. Be cautious of travel. A child born today will be generous and trustworthy, and will lead a life of adventure and travel," etc., etc.

Of course this will be recognized by the normal mind as piffle and slush. It is what the lamented Ambrose Bierce would have termed "clotted nonsense." It does not rise one whit above belief in Friday as a day of misfortune, or the numeral 13 as the token of ill luck.

So far as shaping human destiny is concerned one day is as good as another for the purpose of being born. To cater to ignorance and superstition is a curious vocation for a newspaper writer. A better purpose would be to instruct the reader if possible; at least to amuse him. The assumption that the reader is of such mental grade as to accept in good faith the drool of the voluntary prophet is an insult to him.

The evil of this idle chatter is that somebody might believe it, and be influenced by it. If an individual accepts the theory that he was born under some sinister sign of the zodiac he is at the starting point of the road that leads to insanity. Encouraging the weakling to become weaker is far from being a laudable activity.

A young bandit at the beach, observing that pursuers were about to overtake him, committed suicide. This was a more than usually thoughtful act, and probably represented as good a way as available to escape from his dilemma. The young man who chooses banditry as a calling wastes his life utterly. It is unfortunate for him if he fails to recognize this before his conduct has rendered the life a danger and a nuisance to society.

THE COUNT AND THE CAVE

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

The count is six and French.

The cave is—oh well, it's a cave and it looks huge to the boys who dug it. They are American, strenuous and much given to the "Aw, g'won" type of speech, and at the time that the young count and his charming mother moved into the bungalow court the kids were digging the cave which they designed as a rendezvous for a make believe robber band.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

The youthful nobleman took note of the gang and his dark eyes gleamed as the eyes of his father gleamed when for God and France he went into battle at Verdun—and never came out. Here was something to do that savored of adventure. He has been a bit lonely in Los Angeles, this little French boy. After the war the chateau in France had to be closed for his father's estate was heavily encumbered as a result of the world upheaval, and so his pretty young mother came to America to forget and to try for work in the movies. She plays with him every day, she and the little poodles, but mothers and poodles are not equal as inspirational factors to a gang with a real cave on hand.

So the day after the little count discovered the cave he took up with his mother the question of being allowed to help dig it. But the little boy is all she has and a great fear is on her heart when she remembers this. The cave is damp and at times the little lad coughs—and so the pretty young mother demurred. The young count begged and every day he watched the boys at their tunneling. He thought not at all about the title which the tragedy in France had dropped on his slight shoulders. He was just a boy and he craved association with the gang.

At the cave he learned the intricacies of the American vocabulary so fast that at times in the evenings he had to unlearn it, that is he had to learn that some words must not be brought into the house even if they are useful outside. Dutifully he learned, and daily he begged, and then one day, joyously, he dashed into the yard and announced that he had permission to help dig the cave.

The gang sat on their collective heels and surveyed his flushed and happy face. The gang is American and the newcomer was a count, an unwitting and unofficious count who had got his title through his greatest loss.

But he was a foreign nobleman. He had wonderful dark eyes and had been taught to kiss the hands of the ladies who call on his mother.

The gang disapproved and they smeared their freckled American faces with grimy American hands and announced a momentous decision.

"Aw, g'won, you're a count and we won't have a count in our cave."

Tragedy? It was. The heart of the six-year-old count is broken. His mother laughs when she tells it, but she does not laugh before the child, for to him the decision of the gang is cataclasm.

Constantly he watches the digging that he may not aid and his little heart aches mightily. In democratic America he is denied fellowship because fate wished on him a title when it took his father. Poor little tyke. He would give anything, even the two poodles, to be admitted as a member of the gang, but the gang is preserving 100 per cent Americanism as they conceive it. It's a bad conception, to be sure, and it's cruel.

Of such things are made the tragedies of childhood.

Democracy is supposed to be inclusive; and so why cast a count aside when his soul longs to foregather with a gang and its picks and shovels?

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W FOLEY

Liberty!

That is an inspiring word.

Many men have fought and died for it.

Men have sacrificed themselves and their possessions for it.

It was the watchword of the Revolutionary war.

It was the watchword of the Civil war.

* * *

Indeed, Liberty has been the watchword of many wars.

The Declaration of Independence speaks of life, Liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

It does not define liberty.

We do not know that it has ever been adequately defined.

* * *

Sometimes we feel it is synonymous with freedom.

But again we come to the question of Freedom.

What is Freedom?

Hastily, we might say it is the privilege of doing what we please.

But nobody of sound mind does what he pleases.

* * *

So that definition of Freedom will not suffice.

The workman does not do what he pleases.

For he has work to do.

And the work must be done.

So he does not what he pleases.

But he does what the employer pleases.

And he does not do that in the way he pleases.

He does it in the way his employer pleases.

* * *

The doctor does not do what he pleases.

Unless he pleases to do what the patient pleases.

For he is the servant of the public.

Of the sick and the halt and the lame and the blind.

And yet the doctor is a very important and dignified member of the community.

But by no means does he do as he pleases.

* * *

None of us do perhaps what we please.

We have liberty to accept or reject jobs.

But having accepted them we have to do what the job requires.

And having rejected them, we have to look for other jobs.

* * *

In the animal creation we find none of them exercising freedom.

For one devours another.

One follows and one runs away.

There is no liberty there.

Only the liberty to seek an existence and be eaten sometime by some stronger animal.

* * *

So Liberty is not an easily defined word.

It has not only to do with ourselves.

It has to do with those around us.

For if we offend and attack those about us, they no longer have liberty.

If we considered only ourselves, there would be little of liberty.

* * *

So Liberty after all means that we shall control ourselves.

That we shall be considerate of others.

That we shall not encroach upon the rights of others.

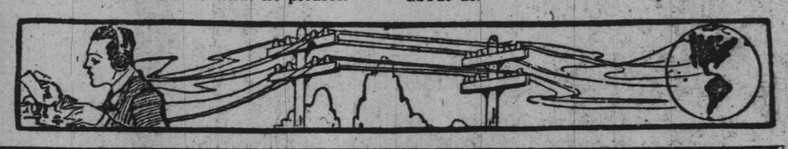
Liberty, in the end, means really self-control in the interest of all people.

* * *

So let us remember that Liberty is not to be defined in terms of self alone.

It is to be defined in terms of our neighbors.

We can have no liberty that does not consider our friends and neighbors and those all about us.



Songs of the Poets

Hallowed Places—By Alice Freeman Palmer

I pass my days among the quiet places
Made sacred by your feet.
The air is cool in the fresh woodland spaces,
The meadows very sweet.

The sunset fills the wide sky with its splendor,
The glad bird greets the night;
I stop and listen for a voice strong, tender,
I wait those dear eyes' light.

You are the heart of every gleam of glory,
Your presence fills the air,
About you gathers all the fiar year's story;
I read you everywhere.

WOMEN AND ALCOHOL

By DR. FRANK CRANE

GOVERNOR SMITH of New York is considering whether he shall sign or veto the Mullan-Gage repeal of the New York state prohibition act. This is the act that asks the state of New York to co-operate with the federal government in the enforcement of the last constitutional amendment.

If the governor signs this repeal the state will have made no arrangement so to co-operate. In other words, the state of New York will have declined to assist the national government in carrying out its will. This does not mean that New York secedes from the Union, nor otherwise rebels, but simply that it won't play.

The governor should have the assistance of all the citizens in the making up of his mind, and he is to be commended for taking time and giving the various shades of opinion opportunity to express themselves.

This writing is to call the attention of the governor to one point. And that is that the most important class of citizens he should bear in mind is composed of the women.

The prohibition constitutional amendment was unquestionably carried by the women, and for the women.

The wounds and fevers and tragedy of the alcohol business bear mainly upon the women. It is they who have to pick up after the devil usually.

The governor's attention is called particularly to the resolution recently adopted by the Brooklyn Woman's Constitutional committee, claiming to represent 50,000 voters. It declares:

"Approval by the governor of the Mullan-Gage repeal bill can only be regarded, when ripped of all camouflage, as an act of bad faith to the women of the state and to the government of the United States, the constitution of which he has sworn to uphold.

"It is, therefore, resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent the governor and to the newspapers of this city, with the urgent request that all churches pass similar resolutions on Sunday, May 20, and that all groups of patriotic citizens take like action immediately, in order that the record of the state be kept clean, and in order that, should the governor sign this repeal bill, it will become a matter of everlasting record that the people of this state recognize the fact that he has acted in repudiation of his assurances to the women of the state, as well as in repudiation of his solemn oath as governor, to aid in the enforcement of the laws of the United States."

President Harding is quoted as having said that governors must uphold the dry law, and that the New York state repeal of the enforcement law means "inevitable and disastrous conflict between state and nation."

The governor, in the resolution, was reminded that he promised the League of Women Voters that he would favor state co-operation in law enforcement.

In view of the childish, petulant, and ill-considered efforts to nullify the constitution in this matter, it would be well for the governor to keep his eye on the future, and to heed well what the President of the United States recently said:

"We have factions which seek to promote this or that interest without regard for the common weal. We have the fatal factionalism which contemplates obstruction to the execution of the laws."

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

DANGEROUS PRECEDENT

[Chicago Post]

One of the results of the bandit activities near Suchow, China, which resulted in the kidnaping of foreign passengers on a train on the Tienstin-Pukow railway, is a demand by certain of the foreign diplomats that the road be brought under foreign control.

China, it is argued, is unable to maintain order. Therefore the foreign powers must do it.

It is hoped that the American representatives take no part in such demand. From afar, it looks like another convenient pretext for establishing a "sphere of influence" of the type which has made Chinese sovereignty more or less of a jest since civilization reached that country's boundaries.

There is another reason.

A Mexican, if our memory serves us rightly, was killed in the Herrin massacre. Applying the same brand of logic, the Mexican government might ask that it be allowed to take over control of the road system in the southern Illinois coal fields. The state of Illinois, it could easily be argued, had proved itself unable to maintain order there.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

HENRY JAMES

The necessity for saying anything more about Clara Phillips is regretted. This time ends it, anyhow. It is to be hoped that by now she is nearing the penitentiary for a long stay. The sentence is for from ten years to life. It should be carried to the maximum.

A biographical account of the Phillips woman, so phrased as to be in large measure autobiographical, is now appearing. What element of truth there may be in it, as to earlier years, the public has no way of knowing. That the part of it touching the crime, the events leading to the crime, and those following, is devoid of truth, there is every reason to believe. The woman is credited with assertions that she had every opportunity to make in court. Her guilt of a most hideous murder was demonstrated. Most of the jury held the opinion that she should have been hanged. The verdict was a compromise. There has been no reason for changing the view based on her record as made plain at the trial.

Perhaps there always will be a mystery as to why this woman, a characterless, and it may be said, useless, member of society; not a producer, not even a toiler in her own home, was able to command so much money and so much help. Nothing could be explained by what she may say about it. To quote her at length now is no kindness to her, or to the public. Her time for silence has arrived. Continued exploitation must be regarded as a sordid indecency.

Judge Cox of Santa Ana, terror to speeders, has been arrested for the offense of going too fast. He was caught moving more than forty miles an hour in a zone where a milder pace is stipulated.

This puts the judge in a dilemma. He must do something to himself. Another in his place would be preparing for a sojourn in jail, or trying to dig up the wherewithal necessitated by a stiff fine.

Capt. Richard P. Hobson always goes to an extreme in his enthusiasms. Perhaps this is a good thing. It arouses the interest of people who have the discretion to see the good of a cause, and to refrain from going the limit.

Just now the captain feels assured that narcotics are to wipe out the race. Well, if it's that sort of a race it ought to be wiped out. Doubtless, however, it possesses qualities for which the reformer does not give it credit. Also it has an aversion to being wiped out.

A brother who had been missing fifty years has just turned up at the home of his sister in a Pennsylvania town. She was polite enough to receive him more than civilly.

There are only two good reasons for being among the missing for such a period. One is that of being dead, and the other that of being in jail.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

The returned wanderer was chatting over at the neighbor's last night. That's what he called it. Chatting. As a matter of fact he is a chronic talker. He cannot help talking. He can barge in and get hold of the conversation and keep it more dexterously than any man I know. Or more rudely.

"In one Indian tribe," said he, "they kill the old folks when they become nuisances. Just take 'em out and beat 'em to death with clubs."

I could see my neighbor's eye brighten. From that moment on he suffered the returned wanderer almost with kindness. I'm not a mind-reader, but I know precisely what he was thinking. In the dark recesses of his heart he was saying to himself—not consciously, of course——

"If I lived in that tribe I certainly would get rid of Mother."

Sounds rough, doesn't it? But let me tell you. Mother—his mother—is an unmitigated pest if there ever were one. She is a dark, sour, shrewish old woman who is incessantly on the grouch. She nags at her son and her son's wife and their sons and daughters. She isn't even clean. She is petty, meanspirited, quarrelsome, and abusive. Yet she will not go away.

"I do not know what to do about Mother," the neighbor told me once, in a burst of hate-inspired confidence. "She has destroyed all the happiness of our home. Every hour of every day she manages to say something to hurt my poor wife's feelings. I have offered to provide for her somewhere else, and she said that I am trying to turn her into the street. Yet we cannot go on as we are."

I had no advice or comfort to give him. How could I have? If ever there was a venomous, contemptible, unpleasant old woman in this world his mother is the one.

Yet what can he do? She is his mother.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

THE PINES ARE CALLING YOU, CAN'T YOU HEAR?

ARE YOU GOING TO THE HIGH SIERRA COUNTRY, WHERE THE WARY TROUT AWAIT YOUR YEARLY VISIT?

The Very Latest Dope on That Wonderful Sportsman's Retreat Gives Needed Information as to the Roads to Follow, the Lures to Use, and Other Important Things

Where can be found the motorist-sportsman who has not at some time longed to follow the trails of the High Sierra country, or who has not looked forward to the day when he would be privileged to cast the fly upon the waters of the wonderful streams of that section or the trout-filled lakes with which that locality is dotted?

In that High Sierra country is, probably, to be found the best fishing in California. The streams and lakes are teeming with trout, from the brook to the golden, and these furnish excellent sport to the fellow who enjoys playing with the rod and reel.

There are lakes in that region that are seldom visited by man, and there are others that are well known. In all of these lakes there are trout in abundance—the question is to get them.

The motorist-angler going into that high-mountain country with the hope of catching trout should first learn where the finny creatures are to be found, then how they may be caught. There is a little trick to taking trout out of that far-away country.

The high Sierra country offers attractions not only to the angler but to the mountain climber, camper, hunter and the camera fiend as well.

From Olancha on the south to Mono lake on the north are found the highest peaks of the Sierra range and through this region it is possible to make scores of wonderful pack, auto and hiking trips.

In order that the reader of the Glendale Press who intends making a trip into this wonderful country, may not go "blind" the Automobile Section has co-operated with the Outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California in compiling a list of instructions that will answer many of the questions that the average sportsman would like to know concerning that locality. These instructions will be publised in two installments, the first today and the second next Saturday. Those expecting to visit that high-mountain country this summer should clip these articles and retain them for reference. They will prove valuable.

OLANCHA

Reached by the Southern Pacific railroad from Mojave or from Reno, or by state highway from Southern California or the Tioga pass and Lake Tahoe routes from Northern California, this region is one that offers to the recreation seeker a wide range of scenery and ideal climatic conditions in summer.

Olancha, at the south end of Owens lake, is the starting point for pack trips into the mountain meadow country west of Olancha Peak. The trip to Mount Whitney is sometimes made from here; gasoline, oil, supplies, pack stock and guides are obtainable at Olancha.

One day out from Olancha good fishing for brook trout is found in Monache creek. The best flies to use here are grey and brown hackle, coachman and royal coachman, black gnat and dusty miller. After crossing the summit, Whitney creek, home of the Golden trout, is reached. Here there are many beautiful camp grounds on the meadow-fringed stream. Golden trout require a different fly from any other trout. Any fly with red in it will do, but the fly must be kept moving two or three times as fast as for any other trout.

From here the summit of Mount Whitney, 14,501 feet, is easily reached. From this summit a wonderful view of mountains and desert is obtained. On the summit is a stone building, owned by the Smithsonian Institute of Washington, D. C., and which is used at times for scientific investigations.

From Whitney Meadows it is possible to continue over to Kern river and Jordan Hot Springs or to Sequoia National park. Instead of returning to Olancha it is possible to drop down Diaz creek into Lone Pine.

LONE PINE

Lone Pine is a point for supplies, gasoline, oil, pack stock and guides and most parties for Mt. Whitney outfit here.

The Whitney Meadows region contains good bear, deer, sage hen grouse and quail huniting in addition to the best of fishing.

Owens lake, an alkaline body of water, skirts the forest boundary for about 15 miles and is backed on the east side by the lower end of the White Mountains.

Adjacent to Lone Pine is Georges creek, reached by trail. Fishing here is good, using the same flies as for Monache creek.

INDEPENDENCE

Continuing on up the valley, the next stream of importance is Independence creek, which is reached at Independence, the county seat of Inyo county.

Fishing here is not good.

Independence is the outfitting point for trips over Kearsarge pass to the Kings river region.

Gasoline, oil, supplies, pack stock and guides are obtainable here. At Grays Meadow, 6 miles west of town and accessible by auto road is a forest service public camp, which is fenced and supplied with tables and sanitary conveniences. Here ends the road and begins the trail to Kearsarge pass.

Grays Meadow is a beautiful camping spot and is largely used by the residents of Independence, who co-operated in the improvement of the camp.

From Independence the big state fish hatchery on Oak creek is easily accessible by automobile.

BIG PINE

The next supply point is Big Pine at the mouth of Big Pine canyon. There are several beautiful lakes on Big Pine creek and a public camp has been improved by the forest service and the local people.

WESTERN AUTO STAGES ELABORATE DISPLAY AT EXHIBITION

Here's proof that an automobile can really be made attractive. Fashion Revue girls at the Western Auto Supply company's booth at the Industrial Exposition. We might well term such a picture "Beauty and the Beast," for you'll have to admit that the girls are easy to look at and according to Claude Roudebush, manager of the Western Auto Supply company, the Western Giant Cord is a "beast" for service and a "brute" for wear.

AUTO CLUB WILL TELL ABOUT PARKS

So many motorists are either taking trips or planning trips into the higher altitudes of this part of the state and even to the national parks, that the Auto Club of Southern California in conjunction with the department of the interior, has decided to issue some information of pertinent interest to all such travelers.

On roads passing through an altitude of from 2,000 to 11,000 feet, the propelling power of motor cars, points out the Auto club, is generally much reduced.

A leaner mixture of gasoline and air is consequently required in such instances and on account of reduced engine power sometimes almost 50 per cent more gasoline will be used per mile than at the many sea level altitudes of Southern California.

Motorists will often find that it will be necessary at the higher altitudes in the vicinity of 3,000 feet that a lower gear will generally have to be used on grades than would be used in other places. points out the club touring bureau.

When you are traveling in the higher altitudes, passing up a long grade, the heat of the engine may become serious unless care is used. It is a good idea to keep an eye out for springs of cold clear water with which to replenish the radiator at every opportunity, because you never can tell when you may have to travel a great distance without coming upon more available water.

If you stop on the grade and block your wheels with large rocks, be sure that you take the rocks out of the road when you go on, ask club officials, as other cars coming down the grade and hitting these rocks are in danger of being thrown over the side of the road as a result.

CONCERING THE COMMUTATOR

It is a good plan to clean the commutator when it becomes gummed. Crocus cloth can be used to advantage if the copper surfaces are thoroughly wiped with the cloth. Never use emery or sandpaper.

The proper distance to set the point of a spark plug is .025 to .030 of an inch.

The conditions that most commonly cause poor lubrication are: insufficient oil in the crankcase, broken or clogged feed lines, clogged oil screens and defective pumps or drives.

ZERO MILESTONE

Just south of the White House, in Washington, D. C., on the ellipse of Potomac park stands the "zero milestone." From this point is measured the distance along the national highways of the United States. This milestone is of white marble, and on top is a bronze sundial.

SPEEDERS' DREAM OF REVENGE IS ACHIEVED

Judge Cox Is Arrested for Exceeding Speed Limit at Santa Ana

Justice of Peace John B. Cox, famous for his stiff sentences on speeders, was "tagged" by Traffic Officer Vernon "Shorty" Meyers, Tuesday night while he was returning to Santa Ana from Anaheim, where he officiated at a wedding at the California Valencia Orange show, and it is reported that the tag has the notation, "45 miles" annexed to it by the copper.

Justice Cox was riding with Charles Harbison, Orange show official, who acted as chauffeur for the anti-speed justice.

"I am not denying or admitting anything," Justice Cox declared, when questioned regarding the incident. He added, however:

"I can't tell how fast a car is going at night. I could not see the speedometer and besides, I know nothing about driving a car. Could not start one to save my life."

Officially, it was Harbison who was tagged. Many are wondering what Justice Cox will do with the case when it comes before him. Justice Cox thinks it was a practical joke on him, previously arranged, but he does not exactly see the joke of it, he says.

LOCAL AUTO FIRM OCCUPIES NEW HOME

Bartlett & French, local Hupmobile dealers, have just taken possession of their new home at 111 West Harvard street, at which place they are now exhibiting the very latest models of the cars they are handling.

In connection with this establishment is a strictly up-to-the-minute service department, where all makes of cars are taken care of. The very latest equipment for auto repairing which is assured the motorist is the very best work possible.

YUCCA THIEVES TO GET WHAT THEY DESERVE

Serious consideration, for the first time in history, is being given to motorists who persist in hacking down the great yucca blooms which dot the hills of this part of the state.

Some counties, point out officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, have passed laws making it a misdemeanor to cut the yucca blooms, and other counties are rapidly following the idea with similar protective measures.

Seventeen autoists were arrested recently near Palmdale in Los Angeles county for picking the yucca and other arrests are threatened in various southern counties.

The yucca bloom is indigenous and typical of Southern California with its gigantic wax-like blossoms. The yucca in most cases forms a part of the protection of the watershed on some of the dryer hill sections of the state, and for that reason, the destruction of the seeds contained in the blossoms is considered somewhat of a menace to the watershed protection.

But, most important of all, say officials of the Auto club, is the fact that the yucca offers a sight to eastern motorists which can be found in no other part of the United States, and for that reason it is most important that they be preserved as an attraction for tourists.

Hundreds of letters have been received by the Auto club from nature lovers throughout America asking that some action be taken to stop thoughtless motorists from taking home the big blossoms and the club points out that these blossoms wilt and die as soon as they are plucked and are of no earthly use once they are taken from their natural haunts, as they will not last over night.

DODGE AGENCY IN NEW HOME

R. E. Corrigan, agent in Glendale for the Dodge automobile, is now comfortably located in his new home at 116-20 West Colorado, where he will be glad to see all of his friends.

"R. E." says that his plant is better equipped than ever before to handle the work of selling and repairing automobiles. All makes of cars are taken care of in this establishment, and nothing but the highest class of work is permitted to leave the shop.

FOR CLEANING PARTS

Washing soda, kerosene and plain soap and water should be the cleaning agents used by car owners for cleaning parts, tools, etc., about the garage.

REDWOOD HIGHWAY IS NOW BEING PRESERVED

Due to the splendid work of the "Save the Redwoods" league, the most magnificent forest road in the world, the Redwood Highway, is being preserved as a lasting heritage to California. Not all of the great trees that line the road for many miles are yet safe from the lumberman, but logging is in active progress in only one place along the highway.

At one point a short distance south of Scotia, lumbering is in active progress but the Bolling Grove, the Mather Grove and the Kent Grove bear witness of the successful drive to protect the trees along the highway. There are still many splendid groves that will inevitably be cut down, however, unless the work of the league is continued, and more money is forthcoming to purchase other timber lands along the road. The magnificent Bull Creek Grove that contains a tree said to be sixty-seven feet in circumference and almost 400 feet tall is close to the State Highway near Dyerville, and should by all means be acquired.

With the exception of a short stretch of road between Ukiah and Willits, the Redwood highway is in excellent shape all the way from San Francisco to Eureka. It is predicted that summer travel over it this year will break all former records, and certainly there is no road in California more worth while seeing. It is 294 miles from San Francisco to Eureka, and no other portion of the entire state highway system offers more remarkable scenic attractions.

Above Eureka, if you do not mind a little rough and narrow road, it is easily possible to drive on to Crescent City, and Grants Pass, Oregon, and thence either on to the wonders of the northwest or home again down the Pacific highway.

OUTING SEASON IS STARTING WELL, SAYS CO.

The motoring season is starting well, according to the manager of the Automobile Tire company, corner Brand and Harvard. Dozens of automobile parties have called at the headquarters of this company and have equipped their machines with casings for the trip to the mountains or for tours through various parts of the state.

These motorists bring back word that the highways and the trails that lead to the mountains are fairly alive with machines loaded with pleasure seekers. The excellent brands of tires sold by this company are giving unusual results on these out-of-town jaunts.

WHAT DO YOU SAY TO A JAUNT TO THE BEACH, WHERE THE BREEZE IS BRACING AND WHITE CAPS PLAY?

When the Warm Days Come and the Hours Begin to Drag, There Is Nothing Like a Visit to the Wild Ocean Breakers

WHY NOT TRY BEING A KID AGAIN

Harness the Old Family "Lizzie," Throw in a Few Good Things to Eat and Hit Southward to Long Beach, the Home of the Oil Well

Pretty warm? Well, what do you say to a jaunt down to the beach? This is ideal beach weather. The warm spring days are here and with them come a desire to get away from the familiar haunts, the paths and scenes that we have known during the past winter months. Nothing but a trip away from home will turn the trick.

So just throw a few things in the market basket and point the nose of the old boat toward the south. What shall you take? Oh, most anything. You might plan a wienie roast on the beach—quite a way down, you know, away from prying eyes. Or you might have all the good things ready for the table, with the thermos bottles filled with the desired drinkables. Then down on the sand, where the sand is playing tag with itself, you can spread out the little canvas and enjoy the feed in solid comfort. Seabreezes go good as an accompaniment to a good-sized, well-rounded lunch.

The trip suggestion for this week is the old standby family picnic ground—Long Beach. From Glendale go to Los Angeles via the Ivanhoe road, down Glendale avenue in Edendale, along second and down Figureoa to Vernon, where turn left and proceed to and through Huntington park.

The road from Huntington park to Los Angeles is for the most part comparatively flat. It is a section which during the past few years has experienced a wonderful growth. Little sections, promoted by real estate firms, have sprung up all along the road, and the prospects are that before many years the country along this boulevard for the entire distance between Los Angeles and the sea will be built up practically solid. Not so very long ago almost all of this stretch was taken up by vegetable patches, berry fields and sugar beet plantations. From a few hundred dollars an acre some of this land has advanced to as much as two thousand dollars a lot for residence property and three or four times this amount for business sites.

It is something like 27 miles from Glendale to Long Beach, and every foot of this distance provides some new feature and a point of attraction that will make the jaunt well worth while. On down through Willowville you go on along American avenue in Long Beach. Almost before you are aware of it you are looking out over the beautiful expanse of blue. The cooling salt breezes will bring back the old pep and once more you will feel that life is worth living, after all.

You can stay at Long Beach as long as you desire, but do not remain too long, for the jaunt of the day is not half over. The aim is to continue along the road that skirts the ocean down to Alamitos Bay, Naples and Seal Beach. After taking in the sights at Seal Beach, take the road leading away from the ocean, up to Los Alamitos, and on to Artesia. Short stops in each of the towns visited may be enjoyed, thus adding somewhat to the pleasure of the trip.

Continue up to Norwalk and on to Santa Fe Springs, from which place take the Telegraph road past Rivera and back into Los Angeles. From which place wander homeward by any route desirable.

CLOSING A SPLIT RIM

This is applicable to the road side as well as the garage or repair shop, for its simplicity makes it particularly desirable to the motorist, more especially when one is in a hurry and a rim of the split type obstinately refuses to lock. The device consists of a jack and a block of wood of sufficient length to fit between the end of the jack and the rim. These are placed on the inside of the rim at right angles to the lock and the jack slowly jacked up. When the rim has been sufficiently spread to bring the lock in position the jack and block may be left there and the rim locked without further difficulty.—Automobile Digest.

Oldsmobile

Latest Creation

The Oldsmobile Brougham is a car you want to call your own the minute you see it. And when you step inside and sink into one of its comfortable seats you begin at once to feel an affection for it that grows as the exclusive features of the Brougham come before your eyes.

Mounted on the famous Model 43-A chassis, the Brougham forms a rare combination of beauty, strength and endurance.

In this car you will find an abundance of power to carry you easily over the hardest hills and safely through sudden emergencies; ample room for five people, plenty of speed and years of faithful service.

CHEV. OUTPUT IS INCREASING SLOWLY

C. L. Smith, Chevrolet dealer, at Colorado and Orange, reports that although the shortage of Chevrolet cars is still acute, the increase in production at the Oakland factory in May over last month has helped to relieve the situation somewhat.

According to figures the northern plant is turning out about 225 cars a day, an increase of 25 per day over April. Two new eastern factories, at Buffalo and ta Cincinnati, will be ready in about 60 days and will increase the production about 400 cars per day. The total production at the present time is 40,000 cars per month, an increase of 50 per cent over last year.

COLORED BANDS MARK HIGHWAYS

To prevent motorists from wandering all over the state in an effort to find their right road, all highways in New Jersey will be marked with vari-colored bands. The markings will indicate the directions of the roads. A blue band will show that the road runs north and south; red, east and west; yellow, northwest and southwest and brown, northeast and southwest.

OLDS MAKES BIG MILEAGE ON TRIP

From San Diego to the Imperial valley and return is 246 miles. In an economy run over this course last fall, an Oldsmobile "four" made the astounding average of 35½ miles per gallon of gasoline for the entire trip.

When interviewed by the press, the San Diego branch manager said: "I am sure you will be disappointed if you expect to hear of any trick resorted to or of radical alterations in the car that was used to make this record.

"Our entry was a model 43-A Oldsmobile touring. We set the intake valves at .002, put number 16 and 17 jets in the carburetor, freed up the brakes, loosened the adjustments of the front wheels and oiled the car good all over. While the fuel mileage obtained on this run is far above average, Oldsmobile 'four' owners everywhere are delighted to know that their cars excel all other 'fours' in economy as well as endurance.

"Of course all the hills were coasted, and due to our good weight and perfect balance, we coasted farther than any of them in many places. Keep in mind, though, that on the return trip the coasting hills had to be climbed."

The Oldsmobile is handled in Glendale by the C. H. Hunter company, 208 West Broadway.

CARBON TEST BEING MADE

Every popular motor is put under exhaustive tests to see just how they will stand up under any condition.

GEORGE T. SMITH TAKES ON PARTNER

The enormous increase in the business of George T. Smith, Overland and Willys-Knight dealer in Glendale, has made it imperative that a larger organization be built to take care of the demand. With this in view, Mr. Smith has selected as a partner B. W. Sloan, who has been a resident of Glendale for the past three years. Mr. Sloan is one of the old-line Willys-Knight and Overland men, having been a successful dealer of the above cars for 11 years, previous to coming to California, in Brooklyn, Ia. He has, since his arrival in Glendale, been engaged in the insurance business in Hollywood.

The greater extension of the business of Willys-Knight and Overland cars in Glendale is a fact. This extension is necessary in view of the many beautiful models being brought out by the manufacturers of these cars.

George T. Smith, who has been the local dealer for these popular makes of cars during the past two years, needs to introduction to the people of Glendale. He has been president of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association and very prominent in automobile circles. His success with the cars he handles has been marked. His "fair play" policy has proven most advantageous to the public.

In commenting on the incorporation, Mr. Smith says:

"This new firm will continue with the same policies that have brought us the confidence of the public in the Willys-Knight and Overland line. The increased demand for these automobiles has made it necessary to enlarge our business in order to care for our numerous customers in the usual meritorious manner."

H. C. Kennedy will continue as sales manager of the Smith-Sloan, Inc. Speaking of the various models put out today by the Overland and Willys-Knight factories, Mr. Kennedy said:

"The Red Bird Overland is without doubt the most popular model ever put out by the Overland people. It is a beauty and a wonder all the way through.

"The new Willys-Knight country club sport model is the very latest thing in the way of a sport car to make its appearance. This is undoubtedly the most beautiful creation ever brought to the public. Finished in cavalier maroon, the sport motif is expressed with exceptional taste and beauty. A showing of this car will soon be made at the local salesrooms at 228 South Brand boulevard.

THE "TROUBLE SHOOTER"

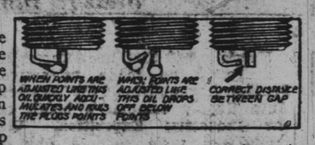
Shows How to Adjust and Tune up Motor for the Season's Running.

By E. H. SCOTT

This article gives practical, step-by-step instructions to the motorist who wants to reduce his repair bills, get more power from his motor, and eliminate trouble during the coming touring season.

The Ignition System

Probably 80% of all engine troubles are caused by defects in the Ignition System. Most of this trouble is caused by neglecting to take a few simple precautions, and can be prevented if you will go over the Ignition System as shown below, about three times a year.



WHEN POINTS ARE ADJUSTED LIGHTING OIL QUICKLY ACCUMULATES AND RIDES THE POSES POINTS
WHEN POINTS ARE ADJUSTED LIKE THIS OIL DROPS OFF BELOW POINTS CORRECT DRIPPLE BETWEEN GAP

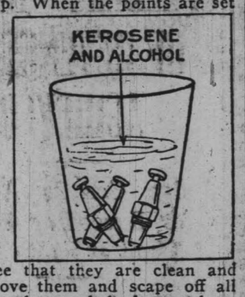
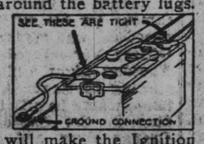
Remove all spark plugs to see that they are clean, and that the gaps are correct. The intense spark that passes between the gap at the plug at each explosion in the cylinder, gradually burns away the points, making the gap too wide. This makes the engine hard to start and may cause misfiring when the engine is pulling hard. Be careful, however, that you do not set the gap TOO CLOSE, or the engine will misfire at low speeds or when accelerating from low speeds. The average gap allowed is just a trifle LESS than the thickness of a WORN dime for all cars but Fords, when the gap should be the full thickness of a WELL WORN DIME, or 1/32-inch.

If you have trouble with the plugs continually oiling up, and requiring frequent replacing or cleaning, you can prevent the trouble to a large extent by setting the points as shown in the centre illustration. When the points are set as shown in the cut at the left, the oil drops down and forms a bridge between the gap. When the points are set at an angle as in the centre cut, the oil drops from TWO points, which are both below the firing point at which the spark occurs, and so helps to keep the firing surface clean.



One of the best ways to clean spark plugs, is to soak them in a mixture of alcohol and kerosene all night, then in the morning the carbon can be wiped off with a piece of rag. NEVER use emery cloth or sand paper to clean the porcelains. They have a highly glazed surface which is easily scratched. When the glaze becomes roughened, the plug quickly fouls and stops firing.

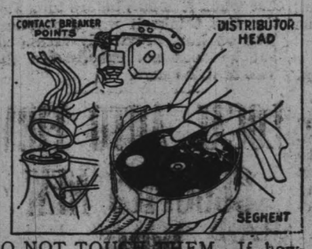
Examine the Battery terminals to see that they are clean and tight. If they are corroded badly, remove them and scape off all corrosion, especially inside the terminals and around the battery lugs. After scraping, rub with a piece of cloth soaked in ammonia, then smear with vaseline and replace and tighten firmly. Corroded terminals obstruct the free flow of the battery current in the same way that an obstruction in a water pipe obstructs the free flow of water through the pipe. See that the ground connection is tight. If it is loose, it will make the Ignition irregular and cause the lights to flicker.



Once a week during the warm weather, take out the vent plugs and test the battery with a hydrometer, then add DISTILLED WATER to each cell to ½ inch above the plates. Do not completely fill the cells, there must be room left for expansion. If your battery is not supplied with distilled water regularly, the plates soon sulphate and refuse to hold a charge very long, requiring frequent recharging and soon you have to buy a new battery. Buy a hydrometer, they only cost about 75 cents, and test your battery regularly. A fully charged cell will read between 1.280 and 1.300. If the reading is below 1.250, have battery examined and recharged at once.

The Coil requires no attention or adjustment (Ford coils excepted) other than to inspect once a month to see that all connections are tight and that the surface is free from water, dirt and grease. Trace out all ignition and Lighting cables to make sure that they are not chafed through at any point, and keep them free from water and grease. If any of the cables look as if the rubber covering is perished or if it is cracked at any part, you will find it is a good investment to replace with new cables.

Take off the Distributor head and with a piece of cloth, clean out all dirt or dust that may have collected. If the Distributor has flat metal segments, see that they are clean and bright. If they are dirty or black looking, use a piece of VERY FINE sand paper to clean the track, then a small amount of gasoline rubbed on to polish it. Now examine the Contact Breaker points. If they have a grey, frosty appearance, and come together squarely when the points are closed, DO NOT TOUCH THEM. If, however, they are pitted and black looking, they will give better service if they are trimmed up. As the points are generally made from tungsten metal, they are too hard to touch with a file, and must be trimmed up on an emery stone and finished on an oil stone. The contact faces must be EXACTLY parallel. It is a delicate operation to trim up contact points and do it right, and will be better for the average man to have this job done by an expert Ignition man.



Providing you have no trouble in keeping the battery charged, and always have enough current for the Starter and lights, do not interfere with either the Starting Motor or the Generator, other than to give them the drop or two of oil required. If you have trouble in keeping the Battery fully charged, either the Battery or the Generator may be at fault, and the Ignition man or Battery charging station has proper instruments for testing to find out which unit is at fault.

Oakland Owners praise Oakland Dependability

This car has stood up under all kinds of adverse road conditions. I consider it the best light six on the market. Justin G. Mayers, Chicago, Ill.

Up to date I have driven my car 21,000 miles. I have averaged 20 miles or better per gallon of gasoline. W. L. Kirkpatrick, Minneapolis, Minn.

My car has run 17,857 miles. The car has not cost me one cent for upkeep. Edith E. Harper, San Francisco, Cal.

This is the eighth car I have owned and am glad to state that I have been more pleased with the Oakland than any other. W. A. Lang, Racine, Wis.

I purchased my car March 1, 1922, and up to the present time have run 21,500 miles without grinding the valves or cleaning the carbon. George O. Dilling, Altoona, Pa.

We made the trip to Los Angeles (3,625 miles) in 20 days. No trouble or breakage on road, except two punctures. Harold Hunt, Lowell, Mass.

VERIFY for yourself the dependability and economy reflected by these letters.

Ask any Oakland owner what he thinks of his car.

Step into an Oakland showroom and get the new booklet "Evidence" which gives these letters, and scores of others,—typical examples of the hundreds in our files.

Do you wonder that Oakland is able to give a written 15,000 mile engine guarantee, not duplicated by any other manufacturer, and in the "Mileage Basis Plan" offers you a definite gauge by which to measure actual car value!

The Good MAXWELL

ARE YOU GOING TO THE HIGH SIERRA COUNTRY, WHERE THE WARY TROUT AWAIT YOUR YEARLY VISIT?

The road up the canyon is in good condition and the lakes and glacier are only reached by trail. In addition to the flies already mentioned some small spinners will be needed to hook the big ones that frequent Big Pine lakes.

Pack stock for this trip is obtainable at Big Pine and the forest ranger located here can give information as to the most scenic parts of the area. With a better road into this canyon it will be one of the most popular places on the Inyo forest as the fishing is good and the scenery very wonderful.

For the benefit of those who want a permanent camp in this region a number of summer home sites have been laid out in the vicinity of the camp grounds.

BISHOP

Eighteen miles north of Big Pine is Bishop, the largest town in Owens valley and the headquarters of the Inyo National forest. Here are found good hotels and all kinds of camp equipment and supplies.

Bishop is the business center and main shipping point for Inyo county. Thousands of cattle are shipped from here annually and Owens valley white sage honey commands highest market prices.

As high as 9,000 head of cattle have been driven at one time from the Rickey ranch to the summer range in Long valley.

Hunting is good in most of the country around Bishop. There are many mule deer, sage hens and quail and ducks and geese are plentiful during the hunting season.

Our first trip out of Bishop will be up Bishop creek.

Hydro-electric power from these stations is carried to Southern California by high tension lines.

After passing power plant No. 2 take left hand road to Andrews camp, a popular resort. Here housekeeping tents, supplies and pack stock are obtainable. This is a beautiful camping place and fishing is good. From here South lake can be reached by motor, and boats may be hired here for the lake fishing. There are plenty of big fellows in the lakes, so your tackle wants to be in the best of condition.

Use large and small spinners, brown and gray hackle, dusty miller, yellow jacket and silver doctor. Sometimes black gnat, blue bottle and queen of the water are taken with good results. These flies are good for any part of this country.

Trout weighing up to 15 pounds are caught from the lake. There is good brook trout fishing in the stream.

From South lake one can take in the surrounding country as far as Kings River canyon, if desired.

From South lake the trail leads through meadows and pines to Long lake, home of the Rainbow trout, the largest fish in these mountains. These "Big Fellows" may be seen lying about the shore in the shallow water where the creek comes in at south end of the lake.

It takes a good angler to land these big trout. The record fish, weighing 43 pounds, was caught by Rudolph Scholer of Bishop, using an artificial mouse hook.

Near the summit of Bishop pass is a small lake that has no fish in it. There is a strip about 6 feet wide across the center of the lake that seems to be bottomless, while the balance of the lake is comparatively shallow.

From the lake the summit of Bishop pass, over 11,000 feet, is accessible. The trail over the pass was difficult of construction and was partially blasted out of the solid rock.

From Bishop pass the high country at the head of Kings river is easily accessible. There is fine fishing all through the Kings River region and good deer and bear hunting.

It is posisble to return to South lake from Kings river by way of Brown and Green lakes.

There is a fine camp site at Green lake and good fishing for Rainbow trout as well as deer, grouse and quail hunting.

Again taking the automobile from South lake, the road up the Middle Fork of Bishop creek is taken. The first lake reached is Intake No. 2 of the Southern Sierra Power company, an artificial lake from which the water drops 800 feet to the power house.

Not far above here is the mine and mill of the Bishop Creek Mining company.

Above the mine is Cataract Falls and above the falls is very smooth water, where there is usually good fly fishing.

A short distance farther is Lake Sabrina, a beautiful sheet of water, surrounded by towering granite peaks. Fishing for Rainbow trout is good there.

From here by use of pack stock, the San Joaquin river is reached, going by way of Piute pass and Blaney Meadows. The trail passes numerous lakes, where good fishing is found.

The first one is North lake of Bishop creek. This lake is known for good fishing at all times, the best flies being dusty and white miller.

Just above North lake take the left hand trail up Lamrick creek to Lamrick lakes. There is a wonderful reflection in these lakes and fishing is fine, as they are off the beaten path and few people know of them.

Returning to the main trail, continue on up Piute creek to Piute lake.

Piute lake lies in a meadow bordered basin and is a fine place to camp and to fish for Golden trout. This lake was stocked to Golden trout several years ago and now is excellent fishing.

From here a fine one day trip can be made down the San Joaquin river and return to Blaney Meadows for the night.

The return trip to Bishop is made through French canyon and down Pine Creek canyon to Pine Creek lake where more fine camp sites are found. Golden trout fisning is good in Pine Creek lake and the surrounding scenery is wonderful.

Below the lake the Pine Creek tungsten mine is reached. This was a big producer during the war. On below here the Palisades are reached and from here to Bishop the automobile may be used.

Returning to Bishop a fine after dinner trip is the ride down to Keough's baths and a swim in the warm water pool.

At Laws, five miles from Bishop, is one of the historical spots of Owens Valley. This is the Stone Corral that was used as a fort by the settlers in 1865.

In April, 1865, during an uprising of the Piute Indians, 86 settlers were surrounded in this corral for 17 days.

Several were killed and a number wounded. On the night of the 17th day a man, named Mayfield, volunteered to go through the Indian lines for help. This was a cold, black night, with heavy rain and wind. Mayfield sneaked through the Indian lines, successfully stole an Indian pony and rode 52 miles to Fort Independence by daybreak. When the soldiers arrived, they drove the Indians into Silver canyon in the White mountains range east of Laws. In some way the Indians learned who brought the soldiers and later caught Mayfield in a brushy canyon on the Sierra side of the valley, where he was killed by being cut to pieces a little at a time. This canyon was named after Mayfield and lies half a mile north of the Wells meadow ranger station.

An enjoyable side trip by motor is to the Owens river canyon. Here, near Lemingwell grade, is where one of the convicts who got away from the posse at Convict lake was shot and captured. Rainbow and Loch Leven trout are plentiful here.

En route to the canyon the road passes within a short distance of a large rock on which there are many Indian hieroglyphics. A side road leads into this rock, which is visited by a great many people. The carvings and paintings are similar in character to those found in other localities through the valley.

Leaving the river it is only a few miles over the state highway to the Rock Creek public camp grounds, where the tables, benches and sanitary conveniences have been provided for the camper by the forest service.

From the summit of Sherwin hill, a fine view of Owens Valley and much surrounding country is obtainable. The camp ground on Rock Creek is a favorite stopping place and there is good fishing for brook trout in Rock Creek, adjacent to the camp. Some fine summer home sites have been laid out along Rock Creek above the camp ground.

At the camp ground pack and saddle stock for a trip into the Rock Creek lakes can be obtained. This region is full of beautiful lakes, most of which furnish good fishing.

From a camp on the first lake up Rock Creek one can make a different trip every day for a week to a new spot and always find lakes that had never been seen before.

The trout are mainly rainbow and weigh up to 10 pounds and more.

It is only a question of time until there will be a road up Rock Creek and another wonderful region of lakes and crags will then be open to the motorist.

Returning to Rock Creek camp ground we take the state highway for Convict lake. En route an excellent view of Crooked Creek and the Los Angeles aqueduct reservoir site is secured.

Crossing over a low divide the first view of Long Valley and Upper Owens river is secured.

Long Valley is a wonderful mountain meadow, 20 miles long. It is grazed in summer by 10,000 cattle and about 3,500 head of beef steers are turned off this range every fall.

Around to the west is Mt. McGee. McGee Creek and McGee Creek canyon. The mountains here are vari-colored: red, white and black, and present a wonderful panorama. With field glasses one can usually see a bunch of 25 or more mountain sheep high up on the crest of Mt. McGee. Since the lakes in that region have never been stocked, there is no fishing here. Rattlesnakes, however, are numerous.

CONVICT LAKE

Continuing on up the highway the left hand road one mile after crossing Convict Creek leads into Convict Lake. Here there is a small resort with supplies, gas, oil and boats to rent. Fishing here is good, Rainbow, Loch Leven and Steelhead. Several 20-pound fish have been caught and the record fish, weighing 38 pounds, was caught by Mrs. Wm. Walterson.

Below the outlet of the lake the forest service has improved a public camp ground, with tables, benches and sanitary conveniences. This is one of the most popular camps on the Inyo Forest. The lake is rimmed in by towering mountains and is a beautiful spot. The partially dead pine on the shore of the lake has quite a history attached to it.

In 1872 twenty-three convicts escaped from the Nevada penitentiary at Carson City and headed south. They were all desperate men and well armed. Near Bodie they killed and mutilated the mail riged the settlers that posses were organized at Bodie and Bishop to round them up. The Bishop posse headed them off on Convict Creek and drove them into Convict Lake. The rifle fire from the combined posses was so heavy that the convicts took to the lake. Five convicts were killed in the lake, three swam ashore and surrendered, six escaped and the other nine were drowned in the lake. One of the six convicts who escaped shot and killed Tom Morgan, the only member of the posse who was killed.

The three who surrendered were immediately hanged to the pine tree above mentioned. The black iron mountain near the lake was named Mount Morgan in memory of the posseman who was killed.

Morgan lived in a little cabin at the mouth of Elderberry canyon and the adjacent mountain was also named after Morgan, being known as Mount Tom. After the wounded members of the posse had been cared for, the balance took up the track of the six who escaped and came up with them in the Owens river canyon. Here they wounded one convict, who proved to be a 17-year-old boy. He was returned to Carson penitentiary and later pardoned for preventing another outbreak at the prison. The other five were captured in Owens Valley and hung on a cottonwood tree, which is still standing on the old Jim Shaw ranch, north and west of Bishop. From this battle Convict lake and creek were named.

Along Convict Creek below the lake are good camping spots and these spots are all occupied, as nearly everyone who goes over the highway makes the side trip into Convict Lake.

Upon the canyon above Convict Lake are several small beautiful lakes which the forest service has stocked to Golden trout. These lakes are in easy walking distance of the camp grounds at Convict Lake.

Lake Dorothy is a beautiful sheet of water, always surrounded with banks of snow.

The best lures for Convict lake and creek are Abalone spoons and large copper spoons silvered on one side. The gray and brown hackle, coachman and royal coachman, dusty and white miller, blue bottle, professor, black gnat, grasshopper, yellow jacket and red ant flies are the best for the Convict, Mammoth and Silver lake region.

The next installment of this article will appear in next Saturday's Glendale Press auto section.

TIRE PRICE SLASH AT CUT RATE

A. C. Fangman, manager of the Cut Rate Tire store, 212 West Broadway, opposite the post office, is putting on another one of his big tire sales during the week of June 2 to June 9. He says he is making big reductions on tires from his already low prices. He also says that on account of the low prices maintained by the Cut Rate Tire store, some people are under the impression that they are seconds or off-brands; he is very emphatic in his assertion that he does not carry any seconds whatsoever, and all tires handled by him are standard makes and of strictly first grade.

His racks contain practically all of the well known brands and highly advertised makes, and every tire sold is exactly as represented.

People who have in mind their vacation trip should take advantage of this sale and stock up on tires at the prices he is offering.

A glimpse of his ad appearing in this paper will give you a better idea of prices offered.

STATUES FOR CARS

The STAR

the Big Surprise of the Yosemite Economy Run

A year ago—unknown. Today—the most talked-of car in America and the one BIG SURPRISE of the Camp Curry, Yosemite Valley Economy Run by winning second place. In its first entrance into an economy event it threw a bombshell into the camp of the Economy Champions.

It was a Victory for the Star. It so closely approached the mark of the car which for four years had held the record for the run—only 48-100 of a ton mile separated them—that even though defeated, a wonderful victory had been won.

A new contender has arisen in the fold. What it has taken its competitors years to do, the Star has accomplished in its first attempt.

Not only has the economy of the Star been definitely established, but a mechanical victory has been gained. The Star went through the hard grind with never an adjustment—it made a perfect mechanical score.

Think of it! 34.29 Miles on a Gallon of Gasoline—consider that the Star was the lowest price car in the run—then you can figure ECONOMY of Transportation.

The Star which was entered in this event was a strictly stock car—and was one of the first shipment which we received from the factory at Oakland. It has been driven more than 8,000 miles since its arrival here.

OAKLAND 'CLEANS' ALL OF HER OPPONENTS

The Oakland has made a clean sweep of every economy run held in Southern California in the last two years and in every event it has increased the margins by which it has defeated its competitors.

In the 1922 Yosemite ecenomy run it captured its class cup by a comfortable average, but in the sweepstakes the percentage was very slight. That was the first attempt of the Oakland to win laurels in open economy events and it had lots to learn and time has shown that it has profited well by its experience, for in August of 1922 the Oakland entered the San Diego to El Centro and return economy run and annexed both the class cup and the sweepstakes cup for that run.

The San Diego to El Centro run was made with tops up and the sun poured out a splendid assortment of heat that finally reached the 133 degree mark in the Imperial valley, yet the Oakland in the 245 mile stingy jaunt averaged 40.39 miles to a gallon of gasoline. This was more than ten miles to the gallon better than it had done in the Yosemite economy event of that year. Its sweepstakes score was 58.96. This was a mark that failed of the Yosemite high mark made under ideal conditions by only two points. Considering that only two people were carried in the cars in the event, the ton mileage was lowered and the sweepstakes score which is based on ton mileage was consequently reduced.

Time was also a very important feature of the El Centro run and a high rate of speed was necessary in order to make the controls at each end of the hard trip. As economy cannot be reached at its maximum point at high speed the averages were appreciably less than would have otherwise been the case. No oil was consumed by the Oakland in either the first Yosemite run or in the El Centro event. This proved that Oakland's 15,000 mile guarantee against oil pumping.

The consumption of only half a pint of water in the run to Imperial valley under the terrific heat was considered almost impossible and the performance was exceeded only by one other entrant and that was an air cooled car.

"A review of the past victories of the Oakland only serves to strengthen your conviction that this car and no other should win the Yosemite Classic in such a decisive fashion," says H. Wray Fredman of the H. Wray Fredman Auto company, Glendale, Oakland dealer.

"By breaking all existing world's records for economy the Oakland demonstrated that truth in advertising could be substantiated and that claims to economy championships based upon supposition were mere false claims that would fall of their own shortcomings.

"Cars which last year were in the class of the Oakland, withdrew from that class and entered other models of their production in order to build up a claim for economy victory. The Oakland stands ready at all times to enter into any sort of an economy run under open and above board conditions.

"It was well they did, because the Oakland so cleanly swept every semblance of victory before it that it was a hollow glory for its competitors for the sweepstakes cup. To average 36.92 miles on a gallon of gasoline on the run from Los Angeles to Yosemite Valley with five people and baggage is an achievement worthy of comment. And to set up a sweepstakes mark of 65.05 so far eclipsed all previous tightwad records that all attempts to beat it seem to be futile. The Oakland used less gas on the trip than any other car in the event regardless of class, number of cylinders or any other qualifications and this in the estimation of the public entitles this car to the crown of the 'Economy Champion.'"

MAXWELL QUALITY IMPROVED BY SALT TREATING

The lengths to which the Maxwell Motor Corporation has gone to make certain that its automobiles are built in the most efficient way, are well illustrated in a recent announcement received by the Glendale Motor Car company, 124 West Colorado street, local Maxwell and Chalmers dealers, stating that a salt water well has just been drilled at the Detroit plant of the company and is now in use. The water from it assures improved heat-treating of the necessary materials entering Maxwell and Chalmers cars.

"For all intensive heat-treating purposes tests have proved that salt water is more desirable than fresh," says Lyman P. Clark. "This fact, as well as the need for cold water that would remain at a constant temperature, prompted the corporation to drill the well, after advice from geologists that salt water underlies a considerable section about Detroit.

"Natural salt water of the exact solution and temperature wanted was struck at 851 feet below the surface. Its constant temperature is 55 deg. Fahrenheit, the correct coolness for best heat-treating.

"The well enables Maxwell to eliminate the daily purchase of 4000 pounds of ice during the summer, and also that of a considerable quantity of salt to make brine. Estimated costs of getting the water to the surface was less than half of those of city water to which must be added other costs because it is fresh.

"The well will yield a far greater supply of salt water than is necessary as yet. Its yearly capacity is estimated at 31,200,000 gallons. Thirty-six thousand are now being consumed per ten hour working day."

4-PASS. PEERLESS IS DELIGHT TO OWNER

There is a buoyancy and spirit, a dash and effortless ease about the four-passenger Peerless touring Phaeton that delight those motorists who place a premium on performance.

From the natty luggage trunk at the rear, to the handsome drum-type nickeled headlamps, this car is masterful and compelling in appearance. The body is quietly and lastingly beautiful; it is refreshing to look upon and reflects the good taste of its owner.

The design and arrangement of the instrument board combines the virtues of simplicity, beauty and utility. Three symmetrical ovals, centrally located and handy to both sight and touch, contain the necessary units that indicate how the car is performing at all times. The first oval, which is glass enclosed, houses the ammeter and oil pressure gauge. The second, also enclosed in glass, contains the speedometer and eight-day clock. The third oval is made of metal and is switch terminal for the ignition and lighting systems.

Weather protection is secured from the tight-fitting storm curtains which, when not in use, are carried in a special recess built into the back of the front seat, easily reached by any occupant of the car without fuss or disturbance.

Four persons are accomodated comfortably, with appreciated extra room that always makes motoring a little bit more enjoyable. The angle at which the seats are built, together with the deep, soft cushions made of individually nesting springs, allows the passenger to relax in comfortable enjoyment of their surroundings. The driving compartment is cooled by a quick-acting ventilator.

Genuine, bright-finish black leather, long-grained and hand-buffed, is used for upholstering material. A dome lamp fitted into the new permanent top is controlled by a simple switch at the back of the front seat. Foot rest and rail robe are located at the points of greatest ease and practicability.

A handsome nickeled lamp at the rear of the car serves not alone as a tail lamp, but embodies an electric rear signal, operated through the brake pedal, and illuminates the gasoline gauge.

The Peerless is handled in Glendale by the Warren, Heyden & Anderson company, 145 South Brand.

VAST EQUIPMENT IN CADILLAC BUILDING

Few people realize the vast equipment in building and machinery incorporated in the present Cadillac factory which covers more than 49 acres of land comprising seven great building units divided into manufacturing and assembly divisions. It was constructed after several years of planning and preparation, and represents the best thought of factory engineers of the country.

To keep the air fresh and pure, ventilating fans can force 768,000 cubic feet of air into the buildings every minutes. In the buildings where it is needed the air is changed five times every hour. Side walls almost completely of glass bring the work of every man within thirty feet or less of daylight. In those parts of the plant where the most exacting accuracy is required, there is but one floor, and a roofing glass floods the working area with natural light.

Improvements and economies in manufacturing made possible by the new factory buildings resulted in greater refinements, and price reductions during 1922 of more than $1000 on the Type 61 touring car.

The company takes a pride in developing and retaining men of the highest mechanical skill.

More than 1600 of the 8000 men now building V-type, eight-cylinder motor cars have been with the company for more than five years, 500 of these for more than ten years, 89 for more than 15 years, and 7 over 20 years.

President H. H. Rice sold the first model one-cylinder Cadillac car sold at a New York auto show. Twenty years ago he was a dealer handling Cadillac cars in Providence, R. I.

The Cadillac factory has been a pioneering institution from the outset. It was first to produce a standardized car, a car in which all parts are exact duplicates of other parts of the same kind. It was first to introduce a complete electrical system of cranking, lighting and ignition. It was first to develop and incorporate thermostatic control of circulating cooling medium in motor car engines; first to develop V-type, high-speed, high efficiency automobiles in United States, and first in thermostatically controlled carburetion.

Nearly 250,000 cars have been produced by the company. Of these nearly 150,000 have been equipped with V-type, eight-cylinder engines. Parked end to end they would make a solid line stretching out for 383 miles.

INSURE THE AUTO AND BE SAFE

Automobile insurance is the motorist's best friend. It is the height of folly for the automobile driver to speed along the city and country roads without having first made sure that in case of collision or accident of any kind he is perfectly safe so far as the financial part of the deal is concerned.

Clinton L. Booth, dealer in automobile insurance of all kinds, who has just moved into his new home at 116-20 West Colorado street, has been selling automobile insurance in Glendale for years and has hundreds of satisfied customers here. He can tell you the why of auto insurance.

SHOWING OF STAR IS SURPRISE OF RUN

In its first entrance into an official and open contest for economy records, a stock Star touring car proved to be the outstanding feature of the Los Angeles to Yosemite economy run, when it gave the recognized economy demons the thrill of their lives, by making the 360-mile stingy jaunt on 10 1-2 gallons of gasoline, losing a victory to the Overland, which for years has held the record, by 48-100 of a ton mile.

The Star was watched by all other entries, as the past held no gauge by which its abilities as a gasoline miser might be weighed. What this new car could do, was only a matter of conjecture and there were any number of people who were outspoken in their beliefs that it would never approach the wonderful showing of its competitors.

It took the closest figuring by the officials to determine the victor in the Star car's class and when the final score showed such a small margin for the Overland, there was not anyone on the run but who was amazed at the wonderful economy of the Star.

The car used was a stunt car that had been abused by almost every man in the organization. It had been driven almost 10,000 miles and was one of the first cars received from the factory last November when the Star was first announced in Los Angeles. It was stock in every particular.

This is the first entrance of the Star car into any sort of a contest and Star people feel certain that its next appearance will be marked with a victory. Every car that goes into these runs always improves its marks and the Star is due for a big jump ahead next time. The fact that the car averaged 34.29 miles on a gallon of gasoline proves that the Star is really economical, and being the lowest priced, though not the lightest car in the Yosemite run, it proved itself economical all around.

The Star is handled in Glendale by Dilley & Armstrong, 115 West Harvard

OWNER OF FORD ENJOYS 'HOME FEELING'

That satisfying "at home" feeling which the Ford tourist always has felt wherever he has gone will be stronger than ever this summer. There are now nearly 6,000,000 Ford cars in use in the United States and he will come upon more members of the great Ford family in the towns and cities and along the highways of the nation than in any year heretofore.

In the last year alone 1,500,000 new Fords have gone into use throughout the country, and the Ford owner who goes touring enjoys what no other car owner enjoys, the satisfaction of knowing he has the greatest of service facilities at his command, assuring him of a pleasant journey no matter where his travels may take him.

In addition to the Ford dealer organization of more than 9000, there are over 14,000 authorized Ford service stations in the country, making a total of more than 23,000 points of contact with the motoring public.

Naturally the increased use of Ford cars has brought a corresponding increase in service responsibilities. Ford dealers, everywhere, acting under the definite service policy of the company, are fully prepared to meet the new responsibilities. Their mechanics many of them graduates of the Ford service course, are expertly trained in meeting all service requirements, and the dealers have provided themselves with special and approved equipment which enables them to meet any demand, promptly and efficiently, thus affording the Ford owner every facility which contributes toward making motoring as inexpensive and as enjoyable as possible.

The high excellence of Ford performance under all road conditions has made it the most popular of cars for general touring and also the most economical, for service is always close at hand when any minor adjustments are necessary.

RED LIGHTS FORM SIGNAL

A new crossing signal has been adopted by the American Railway Engineering association. It consists of two horizontal red lights which flash alternately to announce the approach of trains. The signal will be used by all roads represented in the association.

EXPORTS SHOW INCREASE

An indication of the revival of American automobile exports is given in reports of the Packard Motors Export corporation.

During 1922 total shipments showed an increase of 200 per cent over 1921, and based on the first quarter of the present year, 1923 will be at least 100 per cent better than 1922.

AUTOMOBILE TOURISTS WELCOMED

Automobile tourists are now able to enter nearly every country in Europe except the Balkan states and Russia. Tritpyques, obtained by motorists, are a form of bond, the posting of which in one country will allow passing all frontiers without additional bonding of cars.

TREATMENT OF FAN BELT

A leather fan belt should be cleaned with gasoline and then soaked over night in castor oil. This treatment will revive the grip of even the oldest belt.

Small pieces of tin, wedged under the door bumpers, will eliminate the rattle of doors. This is equivalent to inserting new rubber bumpers, only it requires less trouble.

$5 Deposited in any of the Banks Listed Below Will Enroll You in the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

These banks have arranged to extend their facilities to those who desire to become owners of Ford cars through the new Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Under this plan, you can begin with an initial deposit as low as $5.00. Then select the type of Ford car you want—Touring Car, Runabout, Coupe, Sedan, etc.—and arrange to make weekly deposits on which interest will be computed at our regular savings rate.

Come in and let us further explain the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan to you, or, if you wish, go to Jesse E. Smith Co., 115 West Colorado, your Ford dealer, for further details, or, when at the Glendale Industrial Exposition, stop at their booth and get full particulars from their salesmen.

Start today, and before you realize it, you will be driving your own car.

THE VALLEY OF THE RAINBOW SAYS, "COME IN"

WONDERFL SECTION JUST NORTH OF LA CRESCENTA BECKONS TO MAN WHO WOULD ESCAPE FROM RESTLESS CITY

Unusual Method of Selling Land in the Beautiful Tract Is One of the Features of the Subdivision; This and Tract Appeal to People of Refinement

By JENNIE SWENSON

Rainbow Valley, where the bow of promise ended and deposited its bucket of gold, in the form of a golden opportunity, now lures the connoisseur of beautiful homesites to its environs.

All roads lead to Rainbow Valley. From Glendale, through Montrose, along Michigan avenue to Tujunga, Sunland, and into Rainbow Valley; from Pasadena, through Flintridge, along Michigan avenue, into Rainbow Valley; just 50 minutes from Third and Broadway, Los Angeles, and 45 minutes from Hollywood, via Los Feliz Boulevard to Glendale, and into Rainbow Valley—all offer a delightful drive over paved boulevards into the very heart of this new homeland.

And what does the sojourner find upon reaching the valley where the rainbow keeps its promise?

A thing unique in sub-divisions. A trinity, first the property seen as an investment opportunity, then as the mountain cabin site, for the week-end trip, and ultimately and unmistakably, as the spot to be designated as home—this is the process through which a sale of property passes, after the deed has been signed.

Buying a site in Rainbow Valley is not a cold, dollars-and-cents proposition. It means buying health, for some, with the sunshine, clarified air, and peacefulness thrown in as assets of incalculable value, that cannot be included in the sale price, which is nominal. For others, it means the literal interpretation of the song that has been consecrated to the west, "We'll build a sweet little nest, Somewhere in the west, And let the rest of the world go by."

Some have vaguely imagined a crag on the side of a mountain, a lonely cabin set high above the stream, and civilization 1000 miles away, in order to correctly interpret that song. Rainbow Valley has proved that it is possible to fulfill the heart's desire, yet remaining within easy access of the comforts and necessities civilization offers.

In this, it is fulfilling the demand which has made the suburban home in the foothills the thing to be desired by all classes of buyers. The hustle and throb felt in the heart of the great industries of Southern California have decreed that man must have easy access to the center of activity, but this very activity has made it of primary importance that man should have some place where he can stretch out before the open grate in winter, and spend the summer evening under the intimate observance of the stars, in order to keep fit to do the big things that must be done in the southland.

Rainbow Valley is to become known as California's home playground. Over 200 acres are to be transformed into a combination home and pleasure settlement. Here will be offered all the comforts of a home, and in addition, all sorts of outdoor pleasures, swimming, in the huge swimming tank that is planned, tennis, croquet, horshoe and quoits, and dancing—in the spacious dancing pavilion in prospect.

Upon purchasing property in Rainbow Valley, each buyer is given a share in the community park. The community park is turned over, lock, stock, and barrel to the lot holders, free of all debt, and absolutely free to them, and also, each purchaser is offered a chance to win the ideal log style home, which is constructed as the model home for the suburban community of this type.

Water and electricity is to be provided with each lot. The streets, part of which are entirely completed, are graded and graveled, and ornamental trees will adorn the parkings. Adequate restrictions have been placed upon the property.

The lots offer a 40 foot frontage, and those on the boulevard, are offered at a price that has not been duplicated in the history of sub divisions. The soil is of such character, that almost any plant life will thrive.

This property is located within a mile of the huge Tujunga dam, which has been taken over by the city of Los Angeles, and will aid in the reclamation of huge sections of the valley, where the silt forms some of the richest ground for agricultural activities, to be found in Southern California.

A free bus service is to be instituted, beginning Sunday, and all those interested in the offers in this sub-division, are invited by the management to come to the office of the Rainbow Valley, at the southwest corner of Colorado and Brand Boulevard, at any time tomorrow, when all will be taken to the tract and shown over the premises.

Captain A. W. Stradling, general manager, is a graduate of West Point military academy. He has had nine years of experience in the United States army, and was with the Pershing expedition to Mexico. He is also a veteran of the World war, and has passed a most varied career, though not yet old in years.

Three other veterans of the World war are included in the sales force. These are: Randolph Clement, inter-nationally known aviator, who, on several occasions, miraculously escaped death while accomplishing daring feats on the Russian front; James LeBerthon, popularly known as Jim, among his immediate friends, was an engineer in the navy for a time, and also in the army, and Joheph Wilson, nephew to Wm. Peace, connected with the famous Courier Journal of Louisville, Kentucky, who served "over there" for many months. The sales force, which is to be built up to about 65, will include many more veterans of the World war.

DESIRE OF PUBLIC RESPONSIBLE FOR HIGH COST

A bettered public taste is one of the chief items responsible for higher cost of home building today than home building ten years ago, according to data coming to the National Association of Real Estate Boards from architects and builders. While wage increases and increases in cost of building materials have of course brought about an actual increase in building costs, the increase for identical types of construction, the data would suggest, is probably not so great as the public is inclined to feel.

ART CAMPBELL NEW BRANCH ON S. BRAND

Arthur Campbell, realtor of 110 East Broadway, today opened a branch office on the southwest corner of Cypress and Brand boulevard. Mr. Campbell has expressed himself as thoroughly confident of the future of South Brand property, and gives this as his reason for opening this office.

Chester Mittendorf, formerly with W. B. Kelly, of 108 West Colorado, has taken complete charge of this office. He will also handle the matters relative to the firms advertising.

WHOLESALE LUMBER TRADE IS SLOW

The wholesale lumber trade continues to be comparatively slow, though the volume of retail sales remains heavy and activity in most lumber-consuming industries is great, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. The reason is that retailers and factories bought very heavily during the early part of the year and, having received their lumber, are as fully stocked as they care to be at this time. The lumber market consequently is a trifle easier, but shows no signs of weakness anywhere. The easiness is shown largely in the willingness of mills to accept new orders more freely than they have done for some time. These orders are taken on a previously established scale of prices, concessions being offered only on items in surplus, and such are few. Nor are the mills exerting pressure for business, as their order files are still bulky, their stocks unimproved and prospects reassuring. Supplies in consumers' hands are being used up so rapidly that it is only a matter of a short time until they must be replenished.

Production conditions have undergone no great change. Rains have continued to restrict logging in the south. Hardwood mills especially are rapidly cutting down their log reserves and many of them of them are already operating on a hand-to-mouth basis. This reduction in log supplies, however, is no longer a great worry, as the fair weather season is at hand, when logging can be more consistently maintained and reserves rebuilt.

The west coast mills still occupy a strong position due principally to the enormous trade in home territory. Building in the Pacific northwest is very active, mills reporting that they are selling 25 per cent of their output locally, while some large producing centers say they must import lumber from other sections, their own mills being too heavily booked to be able to supply all requirements. The California market remains a large consumer, and export trade is satisfactory.

HILLSIDES ARE NOW POPULAR

In former days we used to turn to the level plot of ground and think of that as an ideal spot, but today the inherent call of nature is so strong in most of us that we are beginning to realize the full beauty of the hillside or even the hilltop land, with its great possibilities, its undulating ground with broken lines.

If we happen to have a lot with a ravine running through it we now consider ourselves most fortunate, whereas, heretofore, our first impulse was to consider the amount of money it would take to fill up this ravine to a level with the surrounding ground.

In reality, the ground surrounding the building should be just a small portion of the great outdoors, set apart for our care and enjoyment, a secluded spot laid out according to individual taste and inclination for us and others to enjoy.

R. PORTER GILES RESIGNS

R. Porter Giles, secretary and executive officer of the Oakland Real Estate board, his fellow secretaries and co-workers in the National Association of Real Estate Boards will be interested to learn, has resigned to enter the organization of S. W. Straus and company, New York bond house.

SPARR HEIGHTS TO HOUSE MANY TOURISTS

It is estimated that at least 500,000 will visit Southern California this summer in automobiles. These travelers choose this means of transportation, because it gives more opportunity to see the country enroute, and, above all, because they wish to have an independent manner of travel by means of which they may visit every part of Southern California and enjoy what it offers in way of pleasure and rest.

Of these travelers, it is further estimated that 40 per cent will either remain permanently or will make arrangements for their early return to Southern California, seeking, while here, homes where they may be located, or homesites upon which to build. It is natural that they should choose those localities which give the most promise for the future, and whose promise is not in the future alone, but is being translated into performance now.

A permanent home is one of the essentials for happiness in a new environment, for only in permanence do the home roots strike deeply. Nowhere is there a more ideally perfect location, environment, future promise and present performance more evident than in Sparr Heights. Every utility to which the city-dwellers are accustomed and which the modern home demands, is available in this new community, the country life and surroundings furnished by hillside homesites here, where there is easy access to the city, an unrivalled golf course, educational facilities in the making, a business center limited to a certain district in which alone it may expand, is offered by no other residential tract.

People are beginning to realize the spiritual value in the constant inspiration of a beautiful outlook, contact with nature and the freedom afforded to individual expansion by life untrammelled by modern city handicaps. Many of these persons will be among the motor tourists to this section, and with fully 5,000 of them daily passing through the tract, over the Verdugo road, the only outlet to and from Los Angeles of the communities to the north, Sparr Heights will demonstrate its many attractions. Already many inquiries are being received from prospective tourists, and Sparr Heights is prepared to receive the strangers and their friends, and when they have viewed the wonderful panorama of mountains, valley and rolling foothills, with glimpses of the distant ocean from the summits, they will do as so many other persons of discrimination and taste are now doing, and choose their homesite overlooking the green of the golf course and plan the home for their families.

GETTING THE PROPER ANGLE

The ancient Greek philosopher Pythagoras' theory, that everything was approachable or obtainable from some angle, was uniquely applied by an old French king. This old monarch made the habit of rising with the sun easy, by having a double wall built for the east side of his bed chamber, with windows therein at such an angle that the sun's rays would fall on his face and awaken him.

It is said that the reason this old king liked to wakened by the sun was that it put him in a pleasant frame of mind and brightened his outlook on life for that day. So instead of being peculiar, he was only doing what we are all doing, in one way or another—namely, trying to get the most enjoyment out of life. We are all doing things and developing habits that we enjoy. In other words we are all seeking the best angle of approach or method of going about our regular routine of work and play.

Modern products of the plumbing industry provide an "angle" which everyone can employ to produce the same result that the old king sought. In our homes there are bathrooms and showers—or should be. If not, a great source of pleasure and enjoyment is being missed.

Develop the bath-a-day "angle." It may not cure an ingrown "grouch" but it will certainly relieve a temporary one. Complete enjoyment of living is simply a matter of getting the right "angle" of approach to the day's activities and duties. The bath-a-day "angle" is one way of doing it. It clears away the clouds of worry, chases out gloom and gives a fresh, capable feeling to start the day. A bath-a-day help greatly to get the right slant on things that come up during the day's work. Maybe Pythagoras was right after all.

FRED EMERSON BROOKS DIES

[By Associated Press]

BERKELEY, Cal., June 2.—Frederick Emerson Brooks, California poet and writer, died suddenly at his home here yesterday. He was born in New York in 1850.

PUBLIC WORK TO STABILIZE WORK

Adoption by Wisconsin of a state policy of carrying on its public construction work chiefly in times of unemployment and business depression is being studied with interest by members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Under a law recently passed the state board of control must ascertain from the various departments and state institutions their tentative plans for such extension of public work as shall best be adapted to supply increasing opportunities for advantageous public labor during periods of temporary unemployment. The state industrial commission is directed to prepare lists of applicants for the jobs.

SECTIONS HAVE DIFFERENT STYLES

There is a distinct difference between the architecture of the east and that of California—two different ways of treatment, especially in relation to grounds surrounding the home.

California architecture is characterized more by a freedom from conventionality than freedom from restraint.

In the east the spirit prevails that "you must do this" or "you must do that"; in other words, observe all the proprieties—do not deviate on inch from the accepted line of traditional conduct.

In the west we are tempted to go to the other extreme and use too much freedom, thinking that we are carrying out the ideals of originality.

But originality is not always art and ofttimes we are led astray by displaying too much originality.

SEND RESOLUTIONS NOW

Because of the great number of questions to come before the coming national convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, directors of the association ask that all real estate boards and all realtors who desire to submit resolutions before that assembly send resolutions to the resolutions committee of the association before the opening of the convention. Address them to William H. Dyer, chairman, 211 Mercantile Library building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

FRENCH FROCKS

French frocks of sheerest voile are sleeveless and show an interesting design appliqued in flannel or a similar material over a belt of satin ribbon in a contrasting color.

HOME SETTING DEMANDS STUDY

To provide a home and its adequate setting, it is necessary that we give real study to the problem.

The house should fit into the surroundings; the surrounding grounds should be treated as a part of the house, a continuation of the ideas expressed in the home.

One should have the feeling as he steps from the house that he is but stepping into another room, which prepares him for the further step of advancing into the house of the Great Spirit—Nature.

We should feel that we are still in the same home, only with the sentiments carried out through the living forms of trees, shrubbery and flowers.

CONTRACTOR OUGHT TO BE CAREFULLY SELECTED

If plans are prepared by an architect, he probably will be able to recommend contractors who have established reputations for good work and fair dealing, in fact, the best architects will not permit irresponsible contractors to bid on plans from their offices.

It is not difficult to investigate the business rating of any contractor who has been operating long enough to have become known to the material dealers. For the protection of the public, the Material Dealers' Credit association has offered to furnish this information to owners. Just ask your lumber dealer or hardware man to get you a report on the contractor. You can supplement this business rating by obtaining locations of jobs and owners furnished by the contractor as reference. Visit these and determine for yourself if the workmanship is satisfactory and if the owners speak well of your builder. Although this takes a little time, it may save you more time than trouble spent later in trying to adjust serious difficulties as the work progresses.

The best guarantee than can be furnished is a surety bond, which provides substantial protection to the owner.

VAN UMP ROAD IS COMPLETED

The work of paving Van Owen boulevard, the new 80-foot highway which will cut down the distance from West Van Nuys to the business center of Van Nuys, is well under way, and the contractors claim they will be able to finish it before June 23 in accordance with the terms of the contract.

IT IS DIFFERENT IN THE 'INDIES'

An interesting phase of municipal life on one of the islands of the British West Indies is shown by some of the city ordinances.

The city of Port au Spain, Trinidad, (called by the natives, Iere, the Land of the Humming Bird) like all tropical cities, has beautiful, palm-lined streets, paved with white asphalt and stone. The parks and lawns alongside the streets are always kept close clipped. On either side of the street is a little open gutter which is sluiced with water every few hours.

The interesting thing in connection with these streets is that a city ordinance makes anyone who throws any kind of refuse or trash on the street, subject to a fine. You are fined for tossing a cigar or cigarette stub on them.

The stranger who runs foul of this ordinance discovered that it was not passed, primarily, to keep the streets clean and beautiful, but rather, as a native explained, to keep the city sanitary. The West Indies do not, as yet, have all the modern methods of sanitation in homes and for municipal uses that we do.

The British colonial government knows that organic matter, in such a warm climate, soon decomposes and becomes unhealthful as well as offensive. This explains the necessity of a strict ordinance preventing the careless disposal of waste matter.

In our cities and towns of the United States far more convenient and effective means are provided for sanitation. Underground and out of sight sewerage systems receive and safely dispose of waste and effete matter from the surface of streets; with daily flushing or sweeping to keep the street surfaces reasonably clean.

In the usual dwelling, also, the art and craftsmanship of the American plumber provides means of water supply and safe disposal of waste waters, which lead the world for ingenuity and health protecting certainty.

PAINT IS AID TO COMMUNITY HEALTH

Paint is a very necessary article of commerce.

The health of a community is guarded by federal and municipal legislation and the use of paint is a great help, both from the standpoint of sanitation and material preservation.

Frequently this newspaper will publish paint information, with proper kind of material to use, how to apply it, mixing and coloring of painting materials, etc.

TORCELLO TEACHES REAL REASON

During the tenth century the Island of Torcello, in the Adriatic sea, was a powerful principality.

Its beautiful boulevards, marble palaces and temples, stately monuments and sparkling canals and marts of trade, were known throughout the civilized world. Vanished now are the people and their material wealth. All that remains is the memory of the past.

Why did Torcello perish?

Because sanitation, health-protection and disease control had no place in her people's plans or experience. Pomp and show meant more to them than public health.

We are living in a different age now—an age of sanitation. If our people keep up the watch over the physical condition of those who apply for admission to this country, and otherwise continue to prevent disease at its sources, we are safe. Developments of recent years in the plumbing industry, and the work of medical knowledge, have placed these United States at the top as far as health protection goes.

A great statesman of the past generation said, "The first duty of every statesmtn is to guard the nation's health." Laws must be made (and enforced) that will best protect health. But the responsibility does not rest wholly upon the statesmen. A statesman seldom rises above the level of his constituents. The people must cooperate with and support the law makers.

America will never give up her modern plumbing conveniences, but a greater appreciation of the worth and purpose of these conveniences is necessary and just. Torcello fell because her people knew nothing of health protection through sanitation. America is more fortunate in her knowledge.

SPRING PAINTING IS ADVOCATED

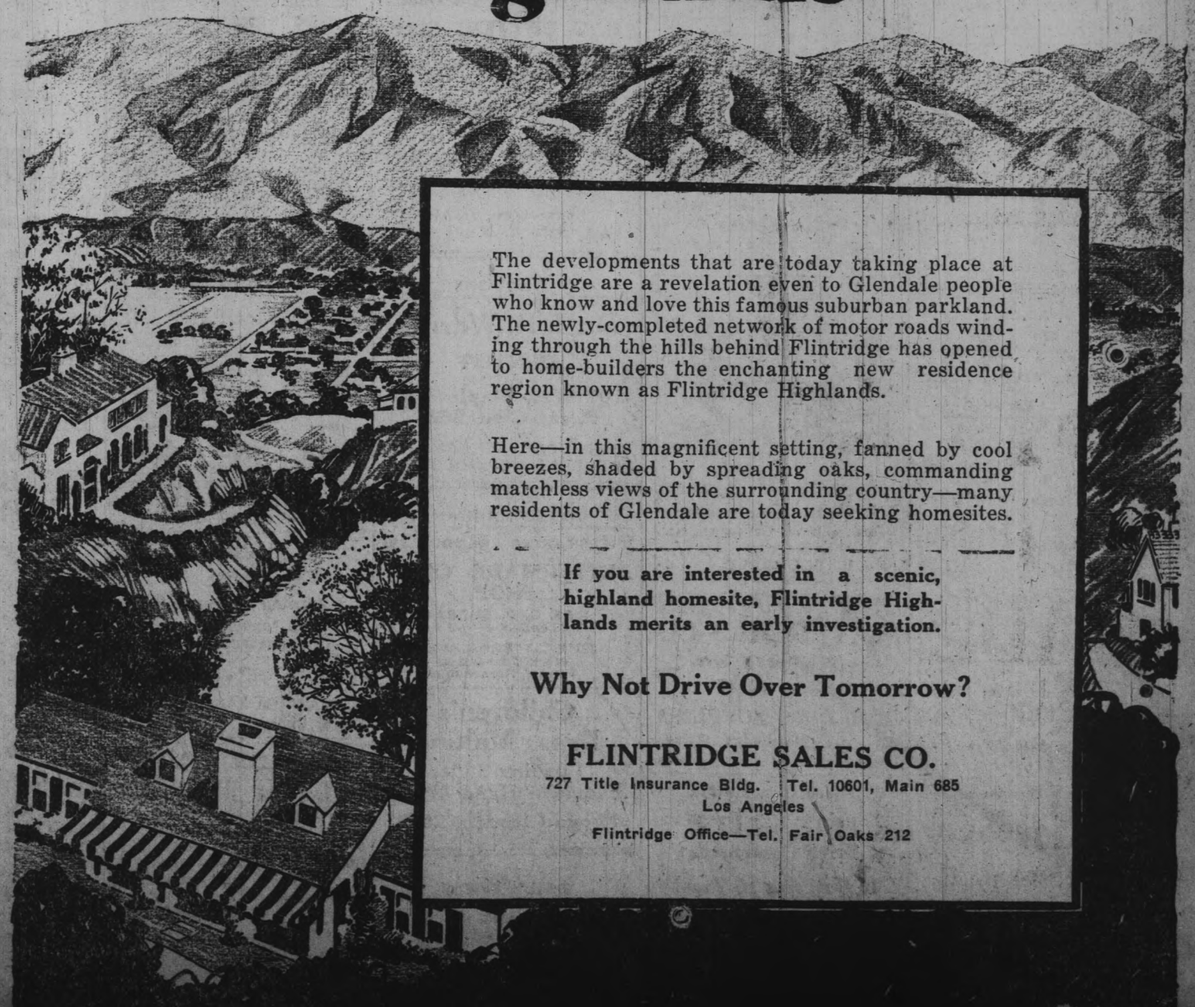
Civic and municipal societies interested in cleanliness and appearances of their respective cities and the health department of the federal government have furthered and advocated the idea of cleaning up and painting up during the spring of each year.

The health department is interested in keeping the community in a sanitary condition.

Our local board of health, among its many duties, is to see that streets and alleys are kept clear of rubbish accumulation.

If a property owner cleans up the premises thoroughly every spring and neglects to paint the building thereon, inside and out, provided paint is needed, there is something missing and the spring clean-up is only half done.

FLINTRIDGE Highlands



The developments that are today taking place at Flintridge are a revelation even to Glendale people who know and love this famous suburban parkland. The newly-completed network of motor roads winding through the hills behind Flintridge has opened to home-builders the enchanting new residence region known as Flintridge Highlands.

Here—in this magnificent setting, fanned by cool breezes, shaded by spreading oaks, commanding matchless views of the surrounding country—many residents of Glendale are today seeking homesites.

If you are interested in a scenic, highland homesite, Flintridge Highlands merits an early investigation.

WONDERFUL PROPERTY TO NORTH OF GLENDALE HAS SCENIC QUALITIES WHICH PLACE IT AT HEAD OF LIST

Opportunity for a Home, a Cabin Site, and for Profitable Investment Is Afforded by This Remarkable Subdivision; Early Buyer Gets Cream

"One of the things I like about Flintridge," declared a prominent Glendale merchant, who bought a homesite last week in Flintridge Highlands, "is the way in which the Flintridge management shows and sells its property.

"I have been so besieged during recent months by high-powered, strong-armed real estate salesmen, that, from the outset, I confess I was prejudiced in favor of Flintridge. Although I was more than a year making up my mind where in the neighborhood of Glendale to build, during all that time the Flintridge people did not exhibit any impatience at my repeated visits to the property nor did they attempt to force an earlier decision."

"The character of our selling method is in keeping with the character of our property," declared J. H. Schenck, general manager of the Flintridge company, when he learned of this comment on his methods.

"There is nothing very remarkable about our selling tactics," continued Mr. Schenck. "Flintridge property couldn't be sold in any other way. By its very nature and location, Flintridge appeals only to people of refinement and taste. Such people cannot be coerced or stampeded into a quick decision. Frequently they visit the property a dozen times before they decide to buy.

"Our salesmen have very definite instructions that there is to be no 'ballyhoo' or other objectionable selling effort. They are alert and eager to answer questions, but they are never insistent. They are representatives rather than salesmen.

"This explains why every Sunday and holiday when scores of motorists are driving through the winding Flintridge boulevards, instead of stepping on the gas when approaching one of our tract offices, they frequently stop to learn something about the interesting building activity and development that are going on just now in Flintridge on every hand."

The Outlook From Flintridge Highlands

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR REALTORS

Delegates to the sixteenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at Cleveland will leave June 21 from Oakland, and from Los Angeles on June 23. The convention will convene on the 27th and adjourn the 30th.

The train from the north carrying the delegates from San Francisco, San Jose, Fresno, Stockton and Sacramento will arrive at Denver Saturday, June 23. It will be attached to the train of western realtors gotten up in honor of the national president and known as the President Eppich special. This train will stop over Sunday in Kansas City and Monday in Chicago, arriving in Cleveland, Tuesday morning, June 26.

The Los Angeles, Long Beach, Santa Ana, San Bernardino, Riverside, Pasadena, Glendale and Pomona realtors will leave Los Angeles for Cleveland via Santa Fe on Saturday, June 23, and go direct to Cleveland.

In the southern party will be C. C. C. Tatum, O. A. Vickrey, W. Ross Campbell, Frank Ryan, Edwin G. Hart, Herman Janss, Tom Ingersoll and four or five other from Los Angeles; Everett A. White and F. C. Pope of Santa Ana; George W. Hughes and Henry P. Barbour of Long Beach; P. H. White of San Bernardino; Dr. Jessie Russell of Glendale, and others. Col. Barbour and Dr. Russell will speak in the national home-town contest.

The San Diego Realty Board is getting up a delegation to make the Cleveland trip. Chairman John Griffith is in charge of the San Diego contingent.

From the northern boards will be a number of San Francisco and Oakland realtors, including the Oakland realtor's chorus and members of the achievement committee, headed by the grand shotgun, F. R. Caldwell. Prominent northern realtors, who are planning to attend the convention include President Harry B. Allen of the San Francisco Real Estate Board; President Frank Flint Porter of Oakland, and Past State President Fred E. Reed of Oakland. Others in the party will be State Vice-President C. A. Ricks of Martinez and Mayor Benjamin F. Wright of Monterey, who is the realty director for the peninsula.

BUILDING IN U. S. IS STEADYING DOWN

April building permit reports for the United States presented a complex situation.

On the whole they tended to indicate the advent of a more conservative rate of progress for the future.

The improved outlook was welcomed by all substantial interests, who realize that many parts of the country are still underbuilt and that necessary building must proceed steadily for a long period and upon a reasonable cost basis.

Two recent developments clarified the atmosphere of threatened over-expansion.

Frame construction in the suburbs of the larger cities reached and passed its peak and an enormouse amount of federal, state, municipal and private construction was temporarily deferred.

Both of these should tend to relieve the pressure on, available building labor.

The postponement of extensive public and private projects will also give the building industry a strong reserve for future development.

Recent surveys of large cities show that in nearly every section of the country a shortage of residential and industrial structures still exists.

In few cities has housing supply caught up with demand, and nowhere is contemplated residential building reported as equal to near future requirements.

In New York City influential interests have affiliated to prevent inflation which might result in the halting of necessary construction.

In 262 cities, comparable with April, 1922 and March, 1923, permits totaled $344,520,165.

This sum compared with $220,409,628 in April, 1922, and with $409,726,572 in March, 1923, a gain of 56 per cent over April, 1922, and a decrease of 16 per cent from March, 1923.

Among the same 262 cities, 191 showed an increase over April, 1922, and 71 showed a loss; while 156 showed an increase over March, 1923, and 106 showed a decrease.

HONOLULU TO SEND DELEGATES

Palm for traveling the greatest distance to take part in the coming sixteenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at Cleveland, June 27-30, is going to be contested for by J. E. O'Connor, who will come 5,000 miles to attend the convention as a delegate of the Honolulu Real Estate board.

ROADS TO ORANGE SHOW ARE NOW COMPLETED

Rushed to completion in time for the California Valencia Orange show now running at Anaheim, two important county highways were opened to traffic this week when the Westminster-Garden Grove road and the Lincoln-avenue boulevard between Anaheim and Los Alamitos, which have been closed for repairs during the past few weeks, were declared open by J. L. McBride, county superintendent of highways. During the period of improvement detours of considerable distance have been necessary at these spots.

The Lincoln road, an important boulevard between northern Orange county points and Long Beach, was hastened to completion in spite of difficulties in time for the citrus exposition at Anaheim. The road is now the best route to Long Beach and Seal Beach.

The Garden Grove link to Westminster has been widened from 16 to 18 feet, and when the highway commission finishes the gravel shoulders it promises to be another example of splendid road construction for which this county is famed.

Resurfacing of the Seal Beach road west of Westminster, which has been in extremely bad condition is now under full headway but the job at the best cannot be completed before 60 days, according to Mr. McBride, who promised that the boulevard would be opened to traffic at the earliest possible moment.

BILLION DOLLAR BID IS PURE "SUMMER DREAM"

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, June 2.—A thorough investigation has convinced the shipping board, Chairman Lasker announced yesterday, that there is no prospect the bid of more than a billion dollars made by John W. Slack of Silver Creek, N. Y., for the board's merchant fleet, would ever be executed if it were accepted.

An inquiry was conducted by the shipping board in conjunction with other government departments with which Mr. Slack has had business transactions with the result, Mr. Lasker said, that the offer had been definitely classed as a "summer dream."

This conclusion will be communicated to the special committee of the shipping board now sitting in New York and before which Mr. Slack had been invited. The Silver Creek bidder will be free, the chairman said, to appear and give any further details of his proposal and backing that he may desire.

CITY PRINTING

RESOLUTION OF INTENTION NO. 1940

A RESOLUTION OF THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE DECLARING ITS INTENTION TO IMPROVE PORTIONS OF GLENWOOD ROAD, GRANDVIEW AVENUE, SONORA AVENUE, RUBERTA AVENUE, JUSTIN AVENUE, WINCHESTER AVENUE, WESTERN AVENUE, RAYMOND AVENUE, THOMPSON AVENUE, IRVING AVENUE, ALLEN AVENUE, LINDEN AVENUE, ELM AVENUE, SPAZIER AVENUE, ALAMEDA AVENUE, AND FOURTH STREET, AND OF CERTAIN STREETS AND ALLEYS INTERSECTING AND TERMINATING THEREWITH, IN THE CITY OF GLENDALE, AND DESCRIBING THE DISTRICT TO BE ASSESSED TO PAY THE COSTS AND EXPENSES OF SAID IMPROVEMENT, AND PROVIDING BONDS FOR THE PAYMENT OF SAME.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE:

SECTION 1. That the public interest and convenience require and it is the intention of the Council of the City of Glendale to order the following work and improvement to be done, to-wit:

First: (a) That Glenwood Road from a line drawn from a point in the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road fourteen (14) feet northwesterly from and measured along said northeasterly line from the northwesterly corner of Grandview Avenue and Glenwood Road to a point in the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road eight (8) feet northwesterly from and measured along said southwesterly line from the southwesterly corner of Grandview Avenue and Glenwood Road to a line drawn one hundred fifty (150) feet northwesterly from and parallel to the northwesterly line of Alameda Avenue and its extensions; (b) that Sonora Avenue from a line drawn fifteen (15) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (c) that Justin Avenue from a line drawn thirteen (13) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (d) that Winchester Avenue from a line drawn thirteen (13) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (e) that Raymond Avenue from the extensions of the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street to the extensions of the most southwesterly line of Glenwood Road; (f) that Thompson Avenue from the extensions of the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (g) that portion of Thompson Avenue between the northeasterly line of Thompson Avenue and its northeasterly extension and a line thirty (30) feet southeasterly from and parallel to said northwesterly line and its northeasterly extension from the southeasterly extension of the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road to the northeasterly line of that portion of Fourth Street lying southwesterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way; (h) that Irving Avenue from the extensions of the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (i) that Allen Avenue from the extensions of the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road to the extensions of the northeasterly line of that portion of Fourth Street lying southwesterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way, and from the extensions of the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (j) that Linden Avenue from the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street and its extensions to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (k) that Elm Avenue from a line drawn fifteen (15) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road; (l) that Spazier Avenue from a line drawn fifteen (15) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (m) that Alameda Avenue from a line drawn thirteen (13) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road; (n) that Fourth Street between the northeasterly line of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way and its extensions and the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street and its extensions, from the southwesterly extension of the northeasterly line of Western Avenue to a line drawn ten (10) feet southeasterly from and parallel to the southeasterly line of Elm Avenue and its southwesterly extension, except where curbs have already been constructed to the official line and grade. Said curbs shall be located and constructed in accordance with Plan No. 812, to the official line and grade heretofore established therefor, and in accordance with Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 36.

Second: (a) That six (6) inch single nozzle fire hydrants be installed in Glenwood Road and its intersections with Rosedale Court and Sonora Avenue, as shown on Plan No. 812; (b) that a four (4) inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid in Allen Avenue and across all intersecting and terminating streets and alleys along a line nineteen (19) feet southeasterly from and parallel to the northwesterly line of Allen Avenue and its extensions, said pipe to extend from the southeasterly extension of the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road to a line drawn ten (10) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line and its extensions of that portion of Fourth Street lying southwesterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way, together with all connections, valves and appurtenances, all as shown on Plan No. 812, said pipe and appurtenances to be used for fire protection and the distribution of the municipal water supply of the City of Glendale. Said pipe shall be laid in accordance with said plan and between the points and on the line designated thereon, and said pipe, connections, valves, fire hydrants, and appurtenances shall be constructed in accordance with the plans therefore designated as Plan No. 812, No. 439, No. 448, and in accordance with Specifications therefor adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and designated as Specifications No. 42 for furnishing and laying cast iron water pipe in the City of Glendale; the top of the barrel of the pipe line above described shall be uniformly three (3) feet below the top of the nearest curb shown on the aforementioned Plan No. 812.

Third: That a cement curb of the class designated as Class "B" in the hereinafter referred to Specifications, with curb returns of all intersecting or terminating streets and alleys, be constructed: (a) along lines eighteen (18) feet each side of the center line of Glenwood Road from a line drawn six (6) inches easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Grandview Avenue and its extensions to a line drawn one hundred fifty (150) feet northwesterly from and parallel to the northwesterly line of Alameda Avenue and its extensions; (b) along a line six (6) inches easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Grandview Avenue and its extensions from a line drawn at right angles to the westerly line of Grandview Avenue from a point therein nine (9) feet southerly from and measured along said westerly line from the intersection of said westerly line with the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road to the southeasterly extension of the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road; (c) along lines fifteen (15) feet each side of the center line of Sonora Avenue from a line drawn fifteen (15) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (d) along lines fifteen (15) feet each side of the center line of Justin Avenue from a line drawn thirteen (13) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to a line drawn thirteen (13) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (e) that Raymond Avenue from the extensions of the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street to the extensions of the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road; (f) that Thompson Avenue from the extensions of the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (g) that portion of Thompson Avenue between the northeasterly line of Thompson Avenue and its northeasterly extension and a line thirty (30) feet southeasterly from and parallel to said northwesterly line and its northeasterly extension from the southeasterly extension of the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road to the northeasterly line of that portion of Fourth Street lying southwesterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way; (h) that Irving Avenue from the extensions of the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (i) that Allen Avenue from the extensions of the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road to the extensions of the northeasterly line of that portion of Fourth Street lying southwesterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way, and from the extensions of the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (j) that Linden Avenue from the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street and its extensions to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (k) that Elm Avenue from a line drawn fifteen (15) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road; (l) that Spazier Avenue from a line drawn fifteen (15) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (m) that Alameda Avenue from a line drawn thirteen (13) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road; (n) that Fourth Street between the northeasterly line of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way and its extensions and the most northeasterly line of Fourth Street and its extensions, from the southwesterly extension of the northeasterly line of Western Avenue to a line drawn ten (10) feet southeasterly from and parallel to the southeasterly line of Elm Avenue and its southwesterly extension, except where curbs have already been constructed to the official line and grade. Said curbs shall be located and constructed in accordance with Plan No. 812, to the official line and grade heretofore established therefor, and in accordance with Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 31.

Fourth: (a) That a cement gutter be constructed along the northwesterly line, and its northeasterly extension, of the roadway of Thompson Avenue from the southeasterly extension of the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road to the northeasterly line of that portion of Fourth Street lying southwesterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way, and along each line of the roadway of Thompson Avenue and their extension, from the southwesterly line of that portion of Fourth Street lying northeasterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions. Said gutters shall be three (3) feet in width and five (5) inches thick, except that a gutter six (6) feet wide and five (5) inches thick be constructed along each side of Thompson Avenue across the intersection of Thompson Avenue with Glenwood Road, also with that portion of Fourth Street lying northeasterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way, and along the northwesterly line of Thompson Avenue across that portion of Fourth Street lying southwesterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way, and across the First Alley northeasterly of San Fernando Road, as shown on Plan No. 812; (b) that a cement gutter be constructed along each line of the roadway of Allen Avenue and its extensions, from the extensions of the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road to the extensions of the northeasterly line of that portion of Fourth Street lying southwesterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way, and from the extensions of the southwesterly line of that portion of Fourth Street lying northeasterly of the Pacific Electric Railway Right of Way to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions. Said gutters shall be two (2) feet in width and five (5) inches in thickness, except that a gutter four (4) feet wide and five (5) inches thick be constructed along each side of Allen Avenue across the intersections of Allen Avenue with Glenwood Road with Fourth Street, and with the First Alley northeasterly of San Fernando Road, as shown on Plan No. 812; (c) that a cement gutter four (4) feet in width and five (5) inches thick be constructed along each line of the roadway of Elm Avenue from a line drawn fifteen (15) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions, to a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions; (d) that a cement gutter four (4) feet in width and five (5) inches thick be constructed along each side of the roadway of Alameda Avenue from a line drawn thirteen (13) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions to a line drawn thirteen (13) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of Glenwood Road and its extensions. Said gutters shall be constructed in accordance with Plan No. 812, and Specifications for said work adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale and known as Specifications No. 31.

SECTION 4. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved February 27, 1893, and the acts amendatory thereto, serial bonds bearing interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum shall be issued to represent assessments of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars or over for the costs of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January, every year after their date until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year, at the rate of 7 per cent per annum on all sums unpaid until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

SECTION 5. The City Engineer is directed to make a diagram of the property affected or benefited by the proposed work or improvement as described herein, and to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof. Such diagram shall show each separate lot, piece or parcel of land, the area in square feet of each of such lots, pieces or parcels of land, and the relative location of the same to the work proposed to be done, all within the limits of the assessment district.

SECTION 6. All Maps, Cross-sections, Plans and Plats referred to herein are on file in the office of the City Engineer of said City. All Specifications referred to herein are on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City. Said Maps, Plans, Cross-sections, Plats and Specifications are hereby referred to for a more particular description of said work and made a part hereof.

SECTION 7. The Glendale Daily Press, a daily newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in said City of Glendale, is hereby designated as the newspaper in which this Resolution of Intention shall be published in the manner and by the persons required by law, and in which the Street Superintendent shall publish notice of the passage of this Resolution of Intention.

SECTION 8. The Street Superintendent of said City of Glendale is hereby directed to post notices of the passage of this Resolution of Intention in the manner and in the form required by law, and to cause a similar notice to be published by two insertions in said newspaper in the manner required by law.

SECTION 9. The City Clerk of said City of Glendale is hereby directed to post this Resolution of Intention conspicuously for two days on or near the chamber door of the said Council and to cause the same to be published by two insertions in the manner required by law, in said newspaper, and also to mail, postage prepaid, to each property owner whose property is to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses of said improvement, a postal card containing notice of the passage of this Resolution of Intention, and calling attention to the fact that said property is to be assessed for said improvement, as required by law.

Adopted and approved this 17th day of May, 1923.

C. E. KIMLIN,
Mayor, pro. tem., of the City of Glendale.

REAL ESTATE IS MOVING FASTER HERE

That California is enjoying the greatest real estate activity in the world is shown by the steady increase in realty licenses issued by the state real estate department at its three central offices, Sacramento, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

This statement was made to the California Real Estate association news department yesterday by Edwin T. Keiser, state real estate commissioner.

More than 30,000 brokers and salesmen were licensed to sell real estate in California during the four months ending April 30, 1923, according to Keiser, and the receipts for the same period were about $185,000.

This is a larger total of receipts in proportion to number of licenses than a year ago, and indicates a larger number of persons going into business as brokers than as salesmen. A year ago this situation was reversed. More people are now going into the realty business for themselves.

Approximately 12,000 broker licenses and 13,000 salesmen licenses have been issued this year.

Showing the steady demand in Southern California for realty licenses, Commissioner Keiser said that on May 1, 1922, receipts of the Los Angeles office from the sale of licenses were $63, and on May 1, this year, the receipts were $213.

The revenue from realty licenses is coming in at an average rate of $4000 a week, or over $650 a day, and department officials believe that the total number of licenses to be issued this year will be greatly in excess of 40,000. The total for all last year was 37,394.

DON'T TALK TO ME ABOUT MAKING BREAKS -- OH - I SUPPOSE YOU'VE FORGOTTEN THAT EVENING OVER AT FOSTER'S -

I AIN'T SAYING I DON'T MAKE A BREAK ONCE IN A WHILE - EVERYBODY DOES - THAT'S ONLY HUMAN - BUT I DON'T MAKEM ALL THE TIME

I CALLED HER ON THE PHONE - TODAY BUT SHE DOESN'T KNOW I'M COMING OUT TO DINNER

IT'LL BE A BIG SURPRISE TO VI WHEN SHE SEES YOU HOWARD - SHE'LL BE GLAD TO SEE YOU TOO

NOW LET'S GO IN QUIET AND SURPRISE HER

I HOPE SHE WON'T BE SORE ABOUT ME COMING TO DINNER

SHH-H - SNEAK UPSTAIRS

NOW YOU SIT HERE HOWARD AND I'LL CALL TO HER TO COME DOWN

I HOPE SHE TAKES IT O.K.

IT DOESN'T SEEM RIGHT

OH VI - OO-HOO! COME ON DOWN SOON'S YOU CAN WILL YOU ?

I DON'T TAKE ANY STOCK IN THESE SURPRISES

NEVER MIND NEV-ER MIND COME ON DOWN FIRST

ALL RIGHT! WHO DO YOU THINK CALLED UP TODAY!? HAHAHA-HA

NEVER MIND- NEV-ER MIND! VI !! HEY! SHUT IT OFF

I KNEW IT WAS WRONG

THAT NINNY HOWARD DUMM CALLED UP -- I HOPE YOU'LL NOT ASK HIM OUT TO DINNER

VI ! FOR THE LOVE OF-

WHAT DO YOU S'POSE BRINGS THAT SIMP INTO TOWN ? HE SOUNDED AS SILLY AS EVER.

GREAT SCOTT! HE'S SITTING DOWN THERE NOW --- HE MUST HAVE HEARD EVERY WORD YOU SAID

NO!

YES! I DON'T KNOW HOW I'M EVER GOING TO FACE HIM

OH I'M SO SORRY! WHY DIDN'T YOU WARN ME !?

THERE HE GOES! I DON'T BLAME HIM! THAT WAS A FINE BABAK VI

OH I'M SO SORRY-

I KEPT HOLLERING AT YOU TO SHUT YOU UP BUT NO YOU WOULD KEEP ON TALKING -- I NEVER HEARD ANYONE SO ANXIOUS TO MAKE A BULL IN MY LIFE AS YOU WERE-

OH I SUPPOSE I'LL NEVER HEAR THE LAST OF THIS -- I'VE HEARD YOU MAKE BREAKS TOO

-AND SO, FAR INTO THE NIGHT!

A Smile Is a Rainbow With a Pot of Gold In Each Ear.

ONE BORN EVERY MINUTE
FOOL'S GOLD IS GOOD TO BUY CHICKEN TEETH WITH SHES TOUCHIN' RIGHT UNDER THE OLD WALNUT TREE— WE'LL GET YOUR SPADE AND DIG THERE—
I THINK SHE'S BEYOND THE WALNUT TREE, TOM

SHE HIT THE GROUND RIGHT SMACK UNDER THAT BIG LIMB— HERE'S WHERE THE POT O' GOLD IS I'M DEAD SURE IT WAS FURTHER OVER THAT A WAY, TOM—

WELL, IT WAS MY RAINBOW, HUCK FINN! I SAW IT FIRST, AND IF YOU WANT TO SHARE THE GOLD YOU DIG RIGHT HERE!
ALL RIGHT— ALL RIGHT, TOM— DON'T GIT HUFFY. I DON'T CARE WHERE I DIG-

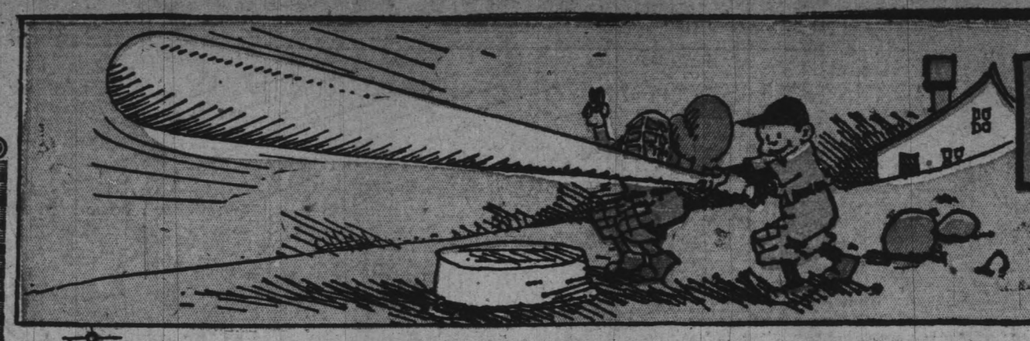
IT'S MIGHTY FUNNY — THE RAINBOW ENDED RIGHT HERE IN THIS VERY SPOT.
YES. AND RIGHT HERE IN THIS VERY SPOT IS WHERE MY DIGGIN' IS GONNA END!

I DON'T BLEIVE MUCH IN IT NOHOW— I'VE DUG AND DUG AND DUG AND NEVER EVEN FOUND ONE POT O' GOLD!
THAT'S THE TROUBLE, HUCK. YOU'VE GOT TO BELIEVE. IT'S THERE— IT'S SORT O' MAGIC —
I JUST SCARED A BEAR OUT OF A LOG.

GREAT SCOTT! THEM FISH! I'LL GIVE YOU FOR THEM FISH:
LOOK AT SAY, BOYS, A DOLLAR
A DOLLAR? YOU BETCHA!
AND IF THIS AIN'T ENOUGH WE'LL KETCH YOU SOME MORE!

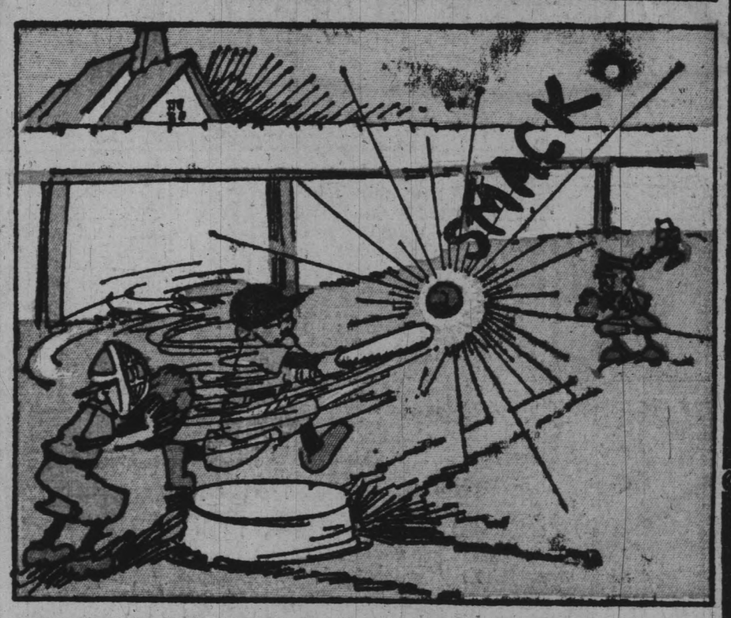
REG'LAR FELLERS

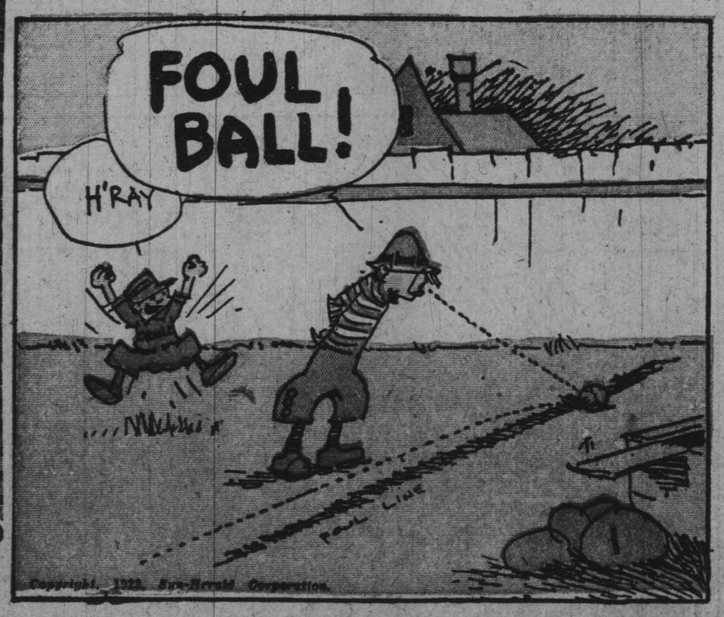
By Gene Byrne's



THE ORIOLES HAVE A PRETTY GOOD TEAM BUT WHEN WE GET FINISHED WITH 'EM THEY'LL THINK THEY WERE PLAYIN THE GIANTS!
I BET A PENNY WE'D BEAT THEM AN' I HAVE TWO CENTS MORE TO BET EITHER IN ONE BIG LUMP OR TWO SEPERIT BETS
ALL THE FELLERS BET SUMPTHIN! THERE'S A WHOLE RAFT OF MONEY BET ON THIS GAME! FOURTEEN CENTS EVEN!
WE FORGOT TO GET AN EMPIRE! GEE WINNIKERS IF WE DON'T BRING OUR OWN EMPIRE THEY MIGHT BEAT US!
HEY NUTSEY! WILL YOU EMPIRE?
SURE

AW MOM CAN'T I PLEASE GO NOW? I'VE BEEN MINDIN' THE BABY ALL AFTERNOON
GEE WHIZ MOM! I WOULDN' CARE ONEY IT'S GONNA BE THE BEST GAME ALL SEASON!!
ALRIGHT GO AHEAD!





H'RAY!
GO IT JIMMIE! IT'S GOOD FOR A HOMER!
GO IT JIMMIE
GO IT! GO IT!
THAT MAKES THE SCORE FIVE TO FOUR FAVOR US!
AN' I CLEAN UP THREE CENTS
THAT'S THE LONGEST HIT THAT WAS EVER MADE IN THE LOT!
